200 DEAD, GALE HEADS FOR HAITI

COOLIDGE RAIL GROUP ROSTER IS ANNOUNCED

Baruch, Howell, Legge and Smith to Be Aids in Survey.

ANALYSIS SPONSORED BY 31 ORGANIZATIONS

Nonpartisan Body to Study Every Phase of Problems Affecting Carriers.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The formation of a nonpartisan committee headed by former President Calvin Coolidge to survey the financial situation of the railroads and recommend remedies was announced tonight on behalf of 31 organizations sponsoring the survey.

Associated with Mr. Coolidge on the commission will be Bernard M. Baruch, a director of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and well-known banker, as vice chairman; former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Clark Howell, Atlanta newspaper publisher, and Alexander Legge, of Chicago, head of the International Harvester Co., and former chairman of the Federal Farm Board.

In addition to conducting the survey of the railroads' problems and drafting a solution, the committee is charged with mobilizing public sentiment on behalf of a remedial legislative program and laying the program before Congress.

"Present Deplorable Condition."

In announcing the formation of the committee and the acceptance of its members tonight, Walter Bennett, president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, made no forecast as to what lines the survey and its resulting proposals might take.

However, a letter by which the committee members were formally invited to serve read in part:

"The present deplorable condition of the railroads is not due wholly to the stagnation of traffic resulting from the long-continued depression. Many of the present ills are due to governmental, financial, labor and management policies, some wrong in conception, some wrong in application and others rendered obsolete by radically changed conditions.

An Integral Part.

"No solution will be effective unless the problem of the railroads is considered as an integral part of the entire transportation problem of the United States, whether by rail, highway, waterway, pipeline or air.

"Every industry in the country is entitled to fair treatment—the railroads no less than the others. The public interest must certainly be protected, but regulation should not place the railroads at a hopeless disadvantage with competing agencies and destroy flexibility of operation and management initiative."

A principal undertaking of the commission probably will be to investigate the application of the 1920 railroad act, particularly the recapture provision, under conditions of today. It also is expected to inquire into the practicality of other existing railway legislation.

It may recommend readjustments of the Federal regulative machinery and investigate whether statutes governing railroad operations have become obsolete.

In making formal announcement tonight of the survey, which had been

Dead in European Quake Number 127

At Least 3,000 Dwellings Destroyed; Balkans Spur Relief Measures.

Athens, Greece, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Additional reports today brought the death toll in the earthquake which last night rocked Macedonia, Chalcidice and parts of Jugoslavia to more than 100 persons.

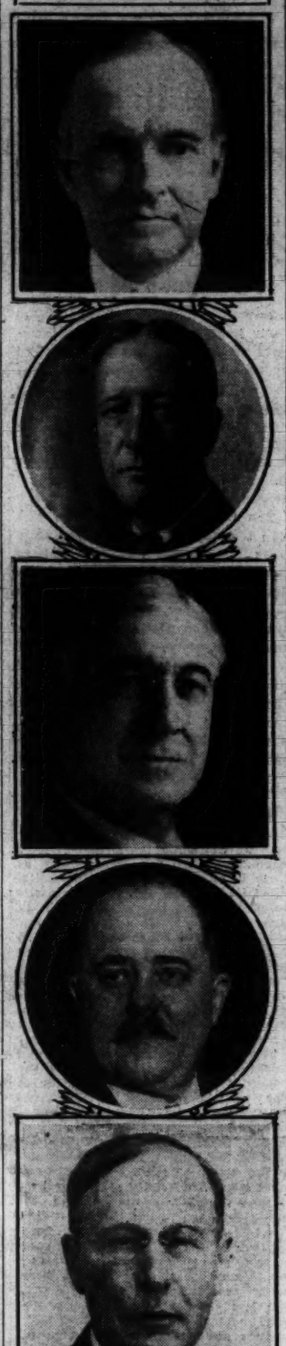
Reports were received that 127 were killed and more than 250 injured and the final casualty list was expected to be even higher. It was estimated that at least 3,000 dwellings were destroyed.

The village of Stratoniklon was reduced to ruins and the casualties there were placed at 50 dead and 100 injured. Fifty more were reported killed in Ierissos, where many houses were wrecked.

First aid and relief supplies were being rushed to the district.

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Great property damage but no loss of life was reported resulting from the earthquake which struck in south Serbia last night.

ON NEW BOARD



Top to bottom: Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith, Bernard M. Baruch, Clark Howell, and Alexander Legge, who compose the nonpartisan railroad commission.

Other Homes Guarded After That of Jurist in Sacco Case Is Attacked.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The Sacco-Vanzetti case crashed back into prominence today as a bomb partially wrecked the home of Judge Webster Thayer, who presided at the trial of the two radicals.

Mrs. Thayer and her maid, Miss Joan Ashe, were slightly injured by falling debris while the judge was trapped in his bedroom by smashed furniture and woodwork.

Six houses in the immediate vicinity of the Thayer residence were dam-

SOLDIERS GUARD HAVANA AFTER 4 ASSASSINATIONS

Action Taken to Guard Against Further Reprisals.

SENATE PRESIDENT IS ONE OF VICTIMS

3 Members of Opposition to Machado Others Dead in Political Flare-Up.

Havana, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Havana was placed under military rule tonight after an outburst of political violence had resulted in the assassination of Clemente Vazquez Bello, president of the Cuban Senate, and of three prominent members of the opposition to the administration of President Machado.

In a message to Congress the president explained that military rule had been invoked "as a preventive measure against reprisals by friends" of the slain men. He urged that associates of the victims remain calm.

The killings were described by oppositionist investigators as an act of retaliation for the slaying of Dr. Vazquez Bello, a strong Machado supporter who, had he lived, probably would have been the next President of Cuba. A fourth member of the opposition was gravely wounded.

The oppositionists slain were three brothers—Representative Gonzalo Freyre de Andrade, Guillermo Freyre de Andrade, an attorney, and Leopoldo Freyre de Andrade, an engineer.

Revolt Backer Wounded.

Representative Miguel Angel Aguiar, who participated in the unsuccessful revolt against the Machado government in August, 1931, was shot four times.

Dr. Vazquez Bello was shot as he was driving away from his estate, El Bohio, which adjoins the Country Club. There were ten bullets in his body. He died before his chauffeur, Julio Suarez, who had been wounded, could drive him to Camp Columbia Military Hospital.

The Freyre de Andrade brothers were attacked in the Vedado suburb. They died atmost instantly.

Assailants Not Captured.

None of the assailants were captured.

When police examined the automobile in which the Senate president was riding, they found 67 bullet marks. Jose Inerare, an assistant to Dr. Vazquez Bello, who was riding with him, said he would be able to recognize the assassins.

Dr. Vazquez Bello belonged to a family which has long been politically powerful in Cuba. He was elected senator from Santa Clara Province in 1925. He and President Machado were close friends, and the National Lexington, Va., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Continued improvement is being shown in the condition of Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, superintendent of Virginia Military Institute, Col. William Couper, business executive of the institution, said today.

"The general is showing continued improvement," Col. Couper said. "He is conscious at times. He has not been able to talk, but he can understand what others say to him, and occasionally mumbles a few words." Gen. Lejeune suffered a fracture of the skull and a broken arm in a fall.

NEW WJSV SUBJECT OF NAVY COMPLAINT

Radio Board Is Told High Power Will Interfere With Research.

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

Complaint was made yesterday to the Federal Radio Commission by the Navy Department that the new Columbia radio station WJSV, which is being built on the Mount Vernon Memorial highway between Washington and Alexandria may seriously interfere with the Naval Research Laboratory transmitters in Anacostia. The Naval Research Laboratory, which is doing some of the Government's most important work in short wave and other phases of wireless communication, is located just across the Potomac River and only about 1 mile from the new site of WJSV.

The Columbia station is so nearly completed that testing will begin October 10 and regular broadcasts are scheduled to start Thursday, October 20, at which time it will take over the programs now carried by Station WMAL. If the complaint of the Navy Department should cause the Radio Commission to order Columbia to move the station to another site it would entail a loss of upwards of $50,000 which, it is said, the company has already spent on building a transmitter house, antenna towers and ground system. This does not take into consideration the fifteen-year lease on the land.

Although the Federal Radio Commission was reported to have approved the site it was said that the Navy radio people at Anacostia

SERIES TO OPEN TODAY AS ODDS FAVOR YANKEES

ThoseWho Like Cubs Can Get 9 to 5; New York Is Apathetic.

RUFFING AND BUSH TO BE RIVALS ON MOUND

Mayor McKee Will Throw First Ball at 1:30, Starting Classic.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post.)

New York, Sept. 27.—The world series moves in on New York and the Nation's headline proceedings tomorrow, with Yankee Stadium the battleground of New York's American League pennant winners and the Chicago Cubs, carrying the banner of the National League into the postseason, playing off for major league supremacy.

Workaday New York gives evidences of absorbing its twelfth world series since 1900 like Washington absorbs the annual pilgrimage from Pokomoke High School. In striking contrast to Chicago, where the series is already a sell-out for every game to be played on the shores of Lake Michigan, New Yorkers have displayed no eagerness to buy up the reserved seats, and the past week has witnessed the unprecedented presence of paid ads in the newspapers, advertising choice grandstand seats for sale.

But to the genus "fan," with the price to pay, the series is still transcendent in sports interest with the two cities renewing an ancient baseball feud of the days of Mathewson and McGraw, Plank and Chance. It is the bid of the Cubs, fresh from a sensational drive for the National League flag, to topple the mighty Yankee machine, unbeaten in its last eight games of world series play.

Ruffing and Bush to Pitch.

For several days it has been apparent that Manager Joe McCarthy and Manager Charley Grimm will hew to their early intentions of starting veteran right-handers, Big Red Ruffing for the Yankees and Guy Bush for the Cubs, and the definite announcements today have settled that issue, thus eliminating the usual mystery cloaking the identities of the first-game choices.

The 1932 series provides a fresh test for Manager Grimm of the Cubs, who stepped out of the ranks in early August to replace Rogers Hornsby in the management of the team and led the Cubs to a successful dash for the National League pennant. Tomorrow he sends his club into the opening battle against the most notorious sluggers in baseball, the Cubs on the short end of the 9-to-5 odds.

Opposing him on the bench, Grimm will find in Joe McCarthy a managerial celebrity in his own right, the only man in baseball ever to lead pennant-winning clubs in both leagues, for it was this same McCarthy, now at the helm of the Yankees, who won the National

AGENT'S ADMISSION STIRS MOONEY CASE

Mountaineer Tells of Taking Bag to San Francisco on Preparedness Day.

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The Oregonian tomorrow will carry a signed statement by Paul M. Callicotte, well-known Portland mountaineer, in which he declares his belief that he is the man who placed the suitcase bomb in the San Francisco preparedness day parade July 22, 1916, which cost ten lives and sent Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life.

The Oregonian will quote Callicotte as saying he acted as unwitting agent in the case, his statement affirming that he was promised and paid $5 to carry a suitcase from Oakland to San Francisco on the day of the preparedness parade.

It was this suitcase, according to Callicotte's belief as expressed in the Oregonian's story, which exploded at 2:06 p. m. that day, killing ten persons and injuring 42 others, an act of which Mooney and Billings were convicted of having perpetrated.

The suitcase was placed in the exact spot where the explosion occurred at Steuart and Market streets, the Oregonian quotes Callicotte as stating, and was placed only a few minutes before the explosion took place.

Callicotte was 16 years old at the time, and had no idea of the contents of the suitcase, the Oregonian summarizes his statement. He was interested solely in making the $5.

The Oregonian says he went voluntarily to police headquarters tonight and laid his story before Chief of Police Leon V. Jenkins and Chief of Detectives Harvey G. Thatcher. They said his statement would be investigated and the information will be placed in the hands of California authorities.

POLICEMAN IS HELD IN PISTOL OUTBREAK

Alleged to Have Fired at Bystanders in Effort to Seize Bus.

A Ninth Precinct policeman was under guard at Gallinger Hospital this morning after he is said to have attempted to commandeer a Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus at gun point and to have fired six shots at bystanders.

The policeman, Private William Atkinson, was said by Dr. John A. Reed, police surgeon, summoned after Atkinson's capture, to be suffering from an acute mental disturbance. He is believed to have suffered a nerve collapse as the result of 18 months' World War service with the Air Corps in France.

Atkinson, in full uniform, boarded the bus at Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest and directed the driver, Russell Inley, 27, of Edmonston avenue, Bladensburg, Md., to "drive to Georgetown," Inley told police. Inley responded that the bus was going to Woodridge. He said Atkinson then whipped out the pistol and ordered him to go to Georgetown. Inley said he then told Atkinson:

"You'll have to arrest me, I'm not going to do what you say."

Then Atkinson forced Inley at gunpoint, the bus driver related, to enter the back seat of a taxicab parked nearby. The taxi driver, Lewis Martel, who had been in a lunchroom, then appeared and was also forced to enter the cab. Next three passers-by were forced at the point of the

SANTO DOMINGO DUE TO ESCAPE 120-MILE WIND

Thousands Left Injured and Homeless in Puerto Rico.

MILLIONS IN DAMAGE; RELIEF IS SPEEDED

Port au Prince Is in Path of Hurricane; Shipping Is Warned.

(Associated Press.)

A hurricane yesterday dealt swift death to several hundred persons and inflicted millions in property damage as it swept across the Island of Puerto Rico.

Early last night the huge "doughnut of wind" carrying velocities up to 2 miles a minute along its outer edges and an absolute calm in the center, was pursuing a relentless north-northwestward course toward the Island of Haiti.

The 8:30 p. m. advisory of the United States Weather Bureau at Washington said the center of the disturbance likely would pass near Port au Prince this morning. Father Gutierrez Lanza, of Belen Observatory, Havana, at 8:30 o'clock last night said the center was over Samana Bay, in northeast Santo Domingo.

May Miss Santo Domingo.

Father Lanza's advice would indicate that Santo Domingo, the capital of the Dominican Republic, would escape the brunt of the winds.

Santo Domingo dispatches at 8:30 p. m. said high winds and heavy rains had swept the city, but no material damage was done.

At San Pedro de Macoris, 70 kilometers east of Santo Domingo City, 70 houses were destroyed in the late afternoon.

If the disturbance follows the "hurricane rule," it should either blow itself out over the Dominican mountains (they can't last long on land) or head for the Caribbean Sea, where its course would be problematical.

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sept. 27.—A hurricane swirled through Puerto Rico today and lumbered on, leaving a death toll that probably will mount into hundreds and property damage that will finally be calculated in the many millions of dollars.

Gov. James R. Beverley tonight estimated the dead at more than 200 and the injured at 1,000.

It was the "storm of San Eusebio," named on the feast day of that saint last Monday, when the dread winds first started their relentless northwestward course out of the equatorial Atlantic.

Tonight all was over, and much of the island was devastated just as it

Shouse's Wet Organization Will Back Foe of McAdoo

Association Will Support Tubbs in California Senate Race; Sabin Group Also to Fight Democratic Candidate; Declare Position Not Clear.

(Associated Press.)

Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, announced yesterday his organization will support Tallant Tubbs, California's youthful Republican nominee for the Senate, against William G. McAdoo, the Democratic candidate.

Simultaneously, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, made known in New York that the California division of her association would not support McAdoo.

Shouse said his organization's decision to support Tubbs, out-and-out opponent of prohibition, was reached by unanimous vote of the executive committee. The announcement aligned Shouse, who until this summer figured in the Democratic party's high councils, against the man for whom he sought the presidential nomination in 1924. He was floor leader for McAdoo at the Madison Square Garden convention.

Shouse became president of the Antiprohibition Association this year soon after ending his service as chairman of the Democratic national executive committee. This post he had held under Chairman John J. Raskob, of the national committee, waging an

ROOSEVELT GREETS CUTTING CORDIALLY

New Mexico Crowd Cheers as Independent Senator Mounts Platform.

Aboard Roosevelt Special, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, and Bronson Cutting, New Mexico's independent Republican senator, clasped hands in friendly fashion today while several hundred New Mexicans cheered.

During a stop of the New York Governor's train at Lamy Junction, N. Mex., where he spoke to delegates of the State Democratic convention who had come from Santa Fe to meet him, Mr. Roosevelt hailed Cutting in the crowd. The senator only a few days ago rebelled against the State Republican organization and proposed to set up his own group.

"I believe there is here in the crowd a man whom I have known since he was in short pants," Mr. Roosevelt said. "He is an old friend of my family. I am referring to your very distinguished senator, Bronson Cutting. Come up and say howdy."

Old Friend of Family.

A moment later Cutting passed through the private car of the candidate and entered the specially constructed speakers' stand that had been reared alongside the track.

While the assembled group of Democratic leaders looked on, Cutting smiled broadly and walked across the platform to grasp the hand of the nominee. Through the remainder of the stop, he remained on the car and chatted briefly with members of the candidate's party before the train left. He declined to comment on the significance of his appearance there.

"Does this mean you will support Roosevelt?" he was asked.

He said he would leave the interpretation to the political writers.

State Democratic leaders freely predicted, however, that he would support the New York Governor for President.

Brief Stops.

As Cutting strode across the platform, a man nearby shouted, "Make him support you, Frank."

The stop at Lamy was the longest made by the nominee on his journey from Williams, Ariz., across the broad, pueblo-dotted highlands of New Mexico to Colorado Springs, where he will spend tonight.

Earlier he had halted for 10 minutes at Albuquerque, and similar stops came at Las Vegas, La Junta and Pueblo.

In his talk at Lamy, made to a crowd in which there were numerous bronze-skinned, dark-eyed men and women of Latin-American and Indian descent, Mr. Roosevelt said the Democratic party was the party of liberalism.

Resume of Problems.

"I am becoming convinced," he said, "that there is not room in this country for two parties—both conservative."

He related the plans he has outlined in previous speeches for dealing with the agricultural and railroad problems and added "I believe in control by the people of their own sources of water power." As he concluded some one shouted "we want to see Mrs. Roosevelt." A little later the wife of the nominee was introduced to the crowd as was their son, James Roosevelt.

At Las Vegas Mr. Roosevelt chatted informally with the crowd, answering various questions shouted up to him.

"I had a nice talk down at Lamy with Senator Cutting," he said.

"How does it look to you, Governor?" he was asked.

"It looks like we've got every State west of the Mississippi?" he replied.

"Have you seen any Republicans?"

"Not so you would notice it. I have seen a lot of Republicans who have decided to vote the Democratic ticket."

New York "All Right."

"How's New York going?"

"New York's going to be all right."

Grouped about the governor on the platform as he spoke were Senators Walsh of Montana, Pittman of Nevada and Cohen of Georgia; Gov. Arthur Seligman, of New Mexico; Senator Bratton and Representative Chavez, of New Mexico. Former Representative John Morrow, of New Mexico, also was called to the platform to talk with the governor.

Senator Walsh spoke briefly of the silver problem after Mr. Roosevelt had finished. He, too, praised Senator Cutting. Senator Pittman also made a short talk. Cohen also became one of the group of back-platform speakers during the stop at Albuquerque.

En Route to Nebraska.

Lined up before the speaker's stand at Lamy was a Mexican string band, attired in costumes of their own country with the high-topped, broad-brimmed black hats, dark jackets and trousers and red scarves.

Pressing on up higher into the Rockies, the route of the candidate led him through the New Mexican Indian country, where scores of adobe huts, now and then clustered into villages, swept past his window.

After spending tonight at Colorado Springs, Mr. Roosevelt will leave there early tomorrow to journey through Denver to McCook, Nebr., where he will meet another Republican independent, the veteran Senator Norris, of Nebraska. Norris already is an avowed supporter of the New York Governor.

Roosevelt's Home Defended as Farm

Criticism by Henry Field, Iowa, Is Answered by Westmoreland Davis.

(Associated Press.)

Westmoreland Davis, former governor of Virginia, yesterday challenged a statement by Henry Field, Iowa Republican senatorial nominee, that Gov. Roosevelt's Hyde Park farm has "no hog lot, but there are a polo ground and tennis court."

Davis' comment in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, referred to a recent address by Field at Spencer, Iowa, and said: "There is no pseudo allo in the shape of a water tank and sunken gardens upon the place, as stated by Mr. Field. These are on an adjacent place owned by the family of the late J. R. Roosevelt, a kinsman."

Davis said he found at the Roosevelt home "a herd of Guernsey cattle, dairy and horse barns, poultry houses, a silo filled with corn ensilage, farm horses, hogs and over 600 laying hens."

SAN JUAN DEVASTATED BY TERRIFIC HURRICANE

PUERTO RICO HURRICANE'S DEATH TOLL REACHES 200

was by the storm of San Felipe in 1928, when hundreds lost their lives and many millions in property damage was wrought.

Gov. Beverley lost no time in starting relief machinery and late today had formed an emergency committee and given it instructions to find shelter and food for the many thousands of destitute and homeless.

He promised insular funds would be placed in the committee's hands tomorrow, pending a definite relief program.

The governor's couriers, sent out to gather information on the hurricane, brought him back information upon which he based his estimate of the dead and injured. He said this estimate undoubtedly would be revised upward.

Because of broken communication lines there was no way of telling how many dead there were.

Rafael Veve, jr., assistant general manager of the Fajardo Sugar Co., arrived in the capital late today after a fatiguing journey of eight hours from Fajardo, only 30 miles away.

"All the towns between Fajardo and Carolina, more than half the distance to the capital, were leveled," Veve said. "All the plantation houses were destroyed.

"There were 39 dead at Fajardo when I left at 8 a. m., and I saw about 100 dead between Fajardo and Carolina. I can well imagine thousands dead in the districts I traversed."

Starting suddenly shortly before last midnight, a 120-mile wind lashed San Juan and the hinterland, wrecking buildings, ripping the roofs from houses and blowing down their side walls, and ruining the valuable citrus fruit and coffee crops.

The loss in the fruit crop alone was estimated at $7,000,000 after a personal inspection of part of the area of devastation. Gov. Beverley said the damage to the coffee crop would be even greater.

When the storm left Puerto Rico and headed westward toward Santo Domingo communications in the island had not been restored. It appeared probable that when all outlying points had been heard from the death toll would be considerably higher.

Reports on Death Toll.

It was established that in Barrios 14 were dead, in Sabanallana 4, in Catano 2, and in Rio Piedras 10. Other reports said the death toll in Rio Piedras was as high as 40. A report from the little town of Carolina said ten persons had been killed, and at Caguas a native was electrocuted by a live wire.

Police officials detailed a squad of motorcycle men to the towns along the north coast with instructions to hasten back with a full report on the casualties.

The work of relief and repair got under way in such confusion that it was impossible to determine the extent of the casualty list, but it was apparent that hundreds had been hurt. Thousands of persons were left homeless.

The storm put San Juan's water and light facilities out of commission. The manager of the power company said it would be impossible to restore either service before Thursday. A new transmission line must be built before power can be furnished for pumping water 6 miles from the reservoir. Arrangements for a temporary water supply were being rushed.

San Juan was left a nightmare of wreckage by the storm.

The great steel towers of Radio Station WKAQ, which was broadcasting during the early part of the storm, lay bent and twisted in the streets.

A concrete wall of Tres Banderas, a popular movie theater, was blown in and rubble was strewn over the seats.

Numerous small craft along the waterfront were stove in and driven aground. Several of the piers, notably pier No. 5, were left roofless. Great damage was done to merchandise stored on the docks.

At least 800 of the 1,000 dwellings of the ocean front section of San Juan either were destroyed or damaged so greatly that it was impossible for their occupants to continue living in them. During the night hundreds of families found refuge in the ancient Spanish fort of San Cristobal.

The casualty list in San Juan itself was kept down because police, warned in advance of the imminence of the storm, rounded up hundreds of women and children and placed them in churches and school buildings which were much more substantially built than their homes. In the villages little protection of this sort was available.

Relief Work Speeded.

Gov. Beverley spent the entire morning inspecting the devastated area near San Juan. He went more than half way to Caguas, nearly 30 miles distant. On his return he called a meeting of citizens to prepare relief work.

The governor ordered Adj. Gen. John A. Wilson to call out 400 National Guardsmen to assist the police in San Juan and vicinity. Judge Pablo Bergs, chairman of the Puerto Rico Chapter of the American Red Cross, and Capt. Antonio J. Silva, executive secretary, also were participating in the work of caring for storm sufferers.

Gov. Beverley said the heaviest agricultural loss would be the destruction of the coffee crop just coming into harvest. This was the first crop since the coffee plantations were ruined by the storm of 1928.

No heavier economic blow could hit the island than the devastation in the coffee producing region, Gov. Beverley said. As soon as possible he will make an airplane survey of the area affected.

A preliminary check indicated that none of the Americans living here was killed or injured. But no American resident escaped without property loss.

The mayors of the towns which were stricken called on the governor and were instructed to supply emergency relief for 48 hours.

Some of the mayors asked for caskets with which to bury the dead, but the governor denied their requests, asserting that burial was a problem for the municipalities.

"The insular government's duty is to help care for the living," the chief executive said.

Trees Blown Down On Virgin Islands

Craft Are Driven Aground in Hurricane; Some Men May Have Drowned.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Trees were uprooted, buildings were damaged and the electric light and telephone services were disorganized during the night by a hurricane which swept this island before reaching Puerto Rico, where its heaviest blow was delivered.

Property damage was not extensive, but a large number of houses were made temporarily uninhabitable. There was no loss of life so far as could be determined immediately.

A number of small craft were driven aground in the harbor and it was believed that a few boats from the island had been caught at sea and that possibly some of the men aboard were drowned. The lowest barometer reading was 29.5 and the wind rose no higher than 80 miles an hour. There was no report this morning from smaller neighboring islands.

Movie Group Will Fly To Photograph Storm

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Looking for a hurricane, Josef Von Sternberg, film director, accompanied by a cameraman, two assistants and Jules Furthman, a writer, will leave here tomorrow by airplane for the West Indies.

The party will fly to Mexico City and thence to Cuba and Haiti. If they are successful the scenes will be used for a new picture starring Marlene Dietrich, blonde German star.

Mission Property Damaged in Storm

Lutheran and Presbyterian Buildings Hit in San Juan Hurricane.

New York, Sept. 27 (U.P.).—Offices of the National Lutheran Council announced today that Lutheran mission property in the neighborhood of San Juan, Puerto Rico, had suffered "very heavy damages" in the hurricane there. Out of a staff of 47 Lutheran mission workers in the West Indies, 23 are in Puerto Rico. No loss of life was reported.

The Rev. Edward F. Garesche, Jesuit order president of the Catholic medical mission board, announced supplies of bandages and medical supplies would be sent to the islands. The board maintains an organization in the West Indies.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (U.P.).—The Presbyterian headquarters announced tonight that all are safe at the Presbyterian Hospital, San Juan, Puerto Rico, following the hurricane which struck the island. Property of the hospital was damaged to the extent of $7,000.

Hurricane Named For Ancient Pope

Will Be Known as San Eusebio After Date on Which It Came.

(Associated Press.)

The hurricane that ravished Puerto Rico Monday night and yesterday will be chronicled in island school histories as the San Eusebio, named after the Pope whose reign began at 310 A. D., and whose feast day was September 26.

Each storm is remembered by a calendar saint on whose day it occurs. Word that San Eusebio had been chosen came yesterday from the stricken island.

A Red Cross pamphlet on the last great Puerto Rican storm describes this island custom, perhaps arising from the importance in the lives of the people of these recurring disasters, dreaded since the days of Columbus.

The 1899 storm which ravaged the island the year after it changed sovereignty from Spain to the United States was the San Ciriaco. The 1928 storm was the San Felipe.

The Red Cross noted, however, that "of the 450 hurricanes reported in the West Indies in the last four centuries, relatively few have scourged Puerto Rico."

NEW PLAN OFFERED IN HOME LOAN STOCK

Institutions Whose Laws Bar Action May Subscribe Conditionally.

(Associated Press.)

Home financing institutions in States where laws prohibit membership in the Home Loan Bank system will be given the opportunity of subscribing conditionally for stock. When the State Legislatures enact proper legislation the subscriptions will become effective.

The Home Loan Bank board said yesterday this action was being taken so that the number of prospective members and the amount of stock they will purchase can be determined more accurately. Further, it will press upon the legislatures the necessity for passing the needed legislation, the board said.

Law Varies in States.

In many States building and loan associations may participate, but savings banks and insurance companies are barred. In other States the reverse is true. In eleven States—Connecticut, Idaho, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Tennessee—no home financing institution is eligible. Enabling legislation is being prepared in Missouri and Ohio.

Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the home loan system, said yesterday he had reported to President Hoover that all twelve of the branch banks would be opened for business by October 15.

Fort said directorates had been almost completed for all except one or two districts, and that these choices probably would be made within the next day or two. The President was informed, Fort said, that his appeal for a 60-day moratorium on foreclosures had resulted in "a very satisfactory response." He said the number of letters he was receiving from people with mortgaged homes was declining sharply and that "the urgency of the appeals" also appeared to be less marked.

Mrs. Borah Better; May Stop Serum

Talks With Senator First Time Since Parrot Fever Began.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The emergency which necessitated administration of serum to Mrs. William E. Borah, suffering from psittacosis or parrot fever, appeared today to have passed. A bulletin at 2 p. m. said:

"Mrs. Borah is gaining in strength today. If the improvement holds, additional serum will not be administered."

Mrs. Borah today carried on a brief conversation with her husband, the United States Senator. It was the first time she has spoken to him since her fever first raged. Although her condition was improved, it was not considered she was out of danger.

BAY STATE PRESSES HUNT FOR SACCO JUDGE BOMBERS

aged badly while windows in a score of homes in the exclusive West Side district were broken by the force of the blast.

Word of the bombing was the signal for police of Greater Boston communities to throw guards around the homes of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller and all witnesses, jurors and officials who participated in the famous trial of Sacco and Vanzetti.

Meanwhile State and Worcester police directed their efforts toward determining the kind of explosive used. State experts were hurried to Worcester from Boston to aid the local authorities. Capt. Charles J. Van Amburgh, State explosive expert, said he believed it probable that dynamite was used although he was unwilling as yet to make a definite statement on the cause.

The explosion happened shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Judge and Mrs. Thayer were sleeping on the second floor of the house, and Miss Ashe in a finished attic. Mrs. Thayer was sleeping in the last room, but one toward the rear of the house, while her husband was in a front room.

The force of the explosion ripped away the entire back of the house and caused the Thayer garage, once a barn, to collapse. Plaster and woodwork plunged down on the sleeping Mrs. Thayer, and a door from the back room was hurled on top of her. Judge Thayer was literally blown from his bed. Amid falling wood and tumbling furniture he tried to reach the door to go to his wife's aid but his room was such a wreck that he could not force his way out. Miss Ashe was trapped in her attic room as the stairway leading up to it was blown away.

A police cruising car was the first to reach the scene and the officers, after sounding an alarm of fire, searched the house and found Mrs. Thayer, her head cut, trying to struggle out from beneath the wreckage. They removed her and then went to the judge's aid. They had to force open the door against the weight of wreckage to reach him.

Mrs. Thayer was sent to a hospital, and, upon the arrival of firemen, a ladder was placed against the house and Miss Ashe taken to safety. The fire department officials pointed out that the Thayers and Miss Ashe all undoubtedly owed their lives to the fact there was no fire, as gas poured from pipes which were torn apart.

While the State, city and county authorities marshaled their forces, Gov. Joseph B. Ely hurried to Worcester from his home in Westfield to learn at first hand of the explosion and to offer his sympathy to Judge Thayer. The governor assured the jurist that every resource of the State was being thrown into the work of running down the culprits, and said he would suggest to the executive council at its meeting Friday that a substantial reward be offered for information leading to the arrest of the criminals.

Judge Thayer was remarkably calm despite his experience. He said to friends, "I hate to think that because a man does his duty to God and country, he gets this." Asked if he attributed the bombing to his part in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial, the justice answered, "You can't get me to say that. That is for the police to determine."

Army Post Inspection Starts.

Chairman McSwain and others of the House military committee left Washington Monday night on a flying tour of inspection of various Army posts throughout the South. Lieut Col. Jacob E. Pickel, in charge of air corps housing activities, accompanied the party, which is traveling in a tri-motored transport airplane piloted by Lieut. Harry A. Halverson.

SENATE TO RECEIVE INSULL QUIZ REPORT

Norbeck Will Present Data; Bankruptcy Hearings Open Today.

Chicago, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Reverberations from the exploded Insull investment enterprises, which cost security holders an estimated $3,000,000,000, resounded from political arenas, the State Legislature and civic meeting places today as Federal and State investigators pored over the voluminous records of the defunct concerns.

United States Senator Peter Norbeck, of South Dakota, said he would present to the Senate banking committee "startling information" regarding juggled earnings reports uncovered by committee investigators.

"Reports," he said, "that led tens of thousands of people to pay high prices for stocks that today are almost without value."

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, in addressing the Chicago Bar Association, said: "The Insull debacle illustrates the racketeering stage which capital has reached and the necessity for public ownership of utilities.

"The story of Insull is paralleled by the story of the South American loans and of Krueger & Toll."

At Springfield, Ill., where the State Legislature is in session, Representative J. W. Harris announced he would ask on investigation by the Assembly of the Illinois Commerce Commission, which he claimed had jurisdiction over the securities.

James S. Egan, chief accountant of the United States Bureau of Investigation and veteran of many important and sensational Federal inquiries, arrived from the National Capital to assume command of the Federal inquiry.

He spent the day conferring with United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green and other officials, and announced he and the staff of auditors he brought with him would handle the work of untangling the affairs of the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the Corporation Securities Co.

Bankruptcy hearings into the two defunct concerns are scheduled to start tomorrow before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. Egan has assigned an auditor to attend the court hearings and postal inspectors and attaches of the Internal Revenue department also are expected to be present.

Motorist Appeals To Supreme Court

Calls Day Jail Sentence for Overtime Parking Unconstitutional.

(Associated Press.)

A man who lacked $2 to pay a fine for violating a traffic ordinance at Los Angeles, Calif., and was sentenced to a day in jail, yesterday asked the Supreme Court to decide whether the practice of imposing a jail sentence in such a case is discrimination against the poor and a violation of the Federal Constitution.

Bruce B. Johnson was given a ticket for overtime parking of an automobile and was fined $2 or a day in jail. Johnson told the judge he did not have the $2 and was therefore ordered committed to jail.

Johnson would have the highest court rule that any statute which permits a fine in lieu of a jail sentence is a discrimination in favor of the rich and therefore invalid. Not having money he asked the Supreme Court to permit him to file his case and prosecute without cost to him.

Virginia-Carolina Plant Branch on Island Razed

Richmond, Va., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A cablegram received by officials of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation today revealed the destruction of the Puerto Rico Fertilizer Co. at San Juan, a subsidiary of the V.-C. Co., in the hurricane which swept the island last night.

Officials said the San Juan plant was valued at $70,000. Whether it will be rebuilt at San Juan or at some other point will be decided following the annual meeting of the chemical corporation here October 12. Although the plant was insured, officials said they did not know whether the entire loss was covered.

TARIFF COMMISSION POST IS GIVEN CRISP

To Fill Vacancy Created by Death of Dixon; Will Leave House Soon.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, the Democrat who last session led the unsuccessful battle for a manufacturers' sales tax, yesterday was appointed to the tariff commission by President Hoover.

He will fill the Democratic vacancy created by the recent death of Lincoln Dixon, of Indiana, who once was a member of the powerful ways and means committee of the House. Crisp was its ranking Democratic member last session, but abandoned his chances for reelection to the House to seek, unsuccessfully, a Senate seat.

Crisp gained prominence several years ago as a member of the war debt refunding commission, but became conspicuous during the last session of Congress when as acting chairman of the ways and means committee during the formulation of the new $1,000,000,000 tax law, he battled in vain for the sales tax against an overwhelming coalition of Republican independents and Democratic liberals. Although the House defeated his original proposal, it charged him with the responsibility of bringing out another bill, which it adopted.

In addition, the Georgian piloted the Democratic tariff bill, calling for an international economic conference, to passage through the House. The Senate also approved the measure, but it was vetoed by President Hoover.

Two weeks ago Crisp was defeated for the Democratic nomination for the Senate by Gov. Richard B. Russell, jr., of Georgia. He sought the seat vacated by the late Senator Harris of that State. His new post will be for four years and carries a salary of $10,000 annually.

"I plan to resign my seat in the House from the Third Georgia District, and take up my new work within about fifteen days," Crisp said after the White House announcement of his appointment. His term in the House would have expired next March 4. The nomination to the new post will have to be confirmed by the Senate during the coming short session of Congress.

The White House statement noted that the Tariff Commission was a "bipartisan body of six members, not more than three of which can be a member of the same political party" and that the appointment was to fill a Democratic vacancy, thereby "preserving the bipartisan character of the commission."

1-Cent Stamps Barred From Mailed Envelopes

(Associated Press.)

The Postoffice Department yesterday went on record as opposed to economy where the substitution of envelopes for post cards is involved.

F. A. Tilton, Third Assistant Postmaster General, said it had been noticed that envelopes without contents, bearing written messages on the outside were being accepted as post cards at the one-cent rate. He advised postmasters that only an unfolded piece of card board was acceptable at that rate and envelopes, either sealed or unsealed, are subject to the letter rate.

Power Accounts Review Opposed

Brief Is Filed in District Court of Appeals by Justice Department.

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice yesterday filed a brief in District of Columbia Court of Appeals opposing the granting of a review of a decision upholding the Federal Power Commission's right to call upon the Clarion River Power Co. of Pennsylvania, to adjust its accounts on a project on the Clarion River.

The commission ordered the power company to show why it should not be required to lower its cost statement on the project, licensed by the commission, from $11,082,816 to $4,845,065. The company then filed a bill in District of Columbia Supreme Court contending the commission had no jurisdiction or authority to make any order, requiring the company to adjust its accounts. The District Supreme Court dismissed the bill and the Court of Appeals upheld the action. Now the Clarion Co. is seeking a review.

In its brief opposing a review, the Department of Justice maintains that "none of the questions concerning the powers of the Federal Power Commission is properly presented because there is no basis for the equitable relief sought or any other relief."

Trade Board Files Suspension Appeal

Authority of Hyde to Rule on Case of Grain Sales Firm Questioned.

Chicago, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The Chicago Board of Trade filed today a brief setting forth in emphatic terms its appeal from a Federal commission's ruling which ordered the board either to admit the Farmers National Grain Corporation to full trading privileges or close for 60 days.

The appeal, filed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, is scheduled for oral arguments before the Apelate Court on October 21. The suspension order against the board is not effective so long as the case is in the courts.

The order in favor of the Farmers National Grain Corporation—a cooperative grain trading organization sponsored by the Federal Farm Board—was issued two months ago by a commission composed of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Attorney General of the United States.

Denying that the commission had jurisdiction in the case, the board's appeal brief called the attention of the Appelate Court to what it called "the anomalous position" of Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde in the case.

It declared that such litigation—involving a dispute between the Secretary of Agriculture and the board of trade—should be handled by a "court of competent jurisdiction" instead of the Secretary, who is a party to the suit.

PRECEDENT MADE ON LATIN AMERICA

U. S. Surprised at Recognition of Martinez by Great Britain.

An important precedent in international relations has been created by the action of the British government in extending recognition to the government of Gen. Maximilian Martines in El Salvador. The Salvadorean government has thus been recognized by the following powers: Great Britain, France, Spain, Poland Belgium, Mexico and Ecuador.

The intention of the British foreign secretary to recognize the Martinez government was conveyed to Gen. Martinez September 6. Since that time the British charge d'affaires at San Salvador, Robert G. Goldie, has been instructed to resume diplomatic relations. The British government maintains one minister for all the Central American republics at Guatemala City, but a charge d'affaires is kept in all the other countries. Minister Herbert Adolphus Grant Watson is the minister for all the republics.

State Department Surprised.

The action of the British authorities was received with some surprise here by the State Department. Ever since last May the Department of State has indicated to the foreign office its position with regard to the recognition of the government of Gen. Martinez. This position was outlined by the State Department in accordance with the general treaty of peace and amity by which the various Central American governments bound themselves not to recognize any government made as a result of a coup d'etat whose leader would have been a member of the former government.

The State Department has withheld recognition of Gen. Martinez on the ground that he was the minister of war in the cabinet of President Araujo, the deposed president. However, the Salvadoreans contend that as Gen. Martinez was also vice president at the same time he was minister of war he was logically succeeding himself, especially since the Salvadorean constitution provides for the succession when the president has left the country. Former President Araujo fled the country soon after the coup d'etat of last December. Since that time he has been living peacefully in Guatemala City and has since that time frequently announced that he had retired from politics and would abstain from all further political activity.

Martinez Position Bettered.

The recognition by Great Britain and France has immeasurably strengthened the position of Gen. Martinez in the present situation. Mexico maintains a special formula for the formality of recognition on account of her observance of the Estrada doctrine. By this means relations between Mexico and El Salvador have been consistently maintained ever since the overthrow of President Araujo.

The United States has usually withheld recognition of those countries within the sphere of influence of Great Britain where Great Britain has refused to recognize them. This was usually based on a reciprocal arrangement by which Great Britain tacitly agreed to withhold recognition of those countries within the sphere of influence of the United States. For this reason the recognition of El Salvador by the British government in the face of American nonrecognition has caused considerable commentaries.

The British and French governments recognized the Martinez rule on September 19 and Ecuador recognized on September 21.

Marlin, Tex., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A preliminary senatorial committee investigation of charges of irregularities in the Louisiana primary to begin October 5 at New Orleans, was announced today by Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat. The hearing, to be conducted by Connally and Senator S. G. Bratton, Democrat, of New Mexico, will be held at the request of Senator Broussard, defeated for the Democratic Senatorial nomination by Representative J. H. Overton.

Utility Companies 'Write-Up' Charged

Pennsylvania Electric Book Value Declared Lower Than Appraised.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission was told yesterday by Examiner O. C. Van Zandt that the Pennsylvania Electric Coroporation, a subholding company of the Associated Gas and Electric system, has made a "write-up" totaling $15,074,391 in the value of physical properties based on the appraisal of properties of 31 utility companies operating in Pennsylvania, eastern West Virginia and Maryland.

The testimony was placed before the commission at hearings in the investigation into public utilities ordered by the Senate in 1928.

Van Zandt presented to the commission a report listing the total appraised value of the holdings of the Pennsylvania Electric Corporation at $79,677,948, while listing the book value at $64,603,557.

NAVY ORDERS THREE DESTROYERS BUILT

$4,000,000 in Construction Designed to Increase Employment.

(Associated Press.)

Three new destroyers, estimated to cost $4,000,000 each, will be placed under construction immediately at the Boston, Philadelphia and New York navy yards, in an effort to improve the employment situation.

This was announced yesterday by Secretary Adams, who said that the Navy was "in great need of destroyers to take the place of overage ships."

No destroyers have been completed since 1920, although five now are under construction to be finished in 1934. The three now ordered built are to be completed in 1935. Three more have been authorized by Congress, but no plans have been made for their construction.

The United States, under the Washington and London treaties, is authorized to have 150,000 tons of destroyers. The replacements necessary to bring this country up to treaty strength require the construction of 115,750 tons. The eleven authorized total 16,500 tons.

It was explained unofficially at the Navy Department that all the destroyers now possessed by the United States will be obsolete by 1934, making new construction imperative.

The five now being built are at Squantum, Mass; Boston, New York, Bath, Me., and Puget Sound.

In his announcement, Secretary Adams said:

"The Navy is in great need of destroyers to take the place of overage ships. The Navy proposes to build three more destroyers already authorized but held up for financial reasons.

"Of the destroyers, one will be built at the Philadelphia navy yard, one at New York and one at Boston.

"As this is due, in part, to give steady employment to our faithful employes, and in part to relieve unemployment, we have to place these ships where we are sure the greatest good will be done."

While no reference was made to other navy yards in the announcement of plans to build the destroyers, it was said at the department that the Norfolk yard was not selected for one of the projects because of the good level of employment there.

The battleships Idaho and Mississippi, two of the Navy's largest present construction projects, are being modernized at the Norfolk yard.

Illegal Asbestos Sales Are Charged

Tariff Board Told Methods for Soviet Product Violate 1930 Law.

(Associated Press.)

The Tariff Commission yesterday listened to charges that methods used in selling Russian asbestos in this country violated the unfair trade practices section of the 1930 tariff law.

The complaint, pending since 1930, is the first brought under regulations of the Hawley-Smoot tariff law which declare unlawful unfair competition through the sale of imported goods in such a way as to injure established business in this country.

Basil W. Delgass, former vice president of the Amtorg Trading Co., Soviet business organization, testified yesterday that other officials of the Amtorg had told him prior to 1930 that asbestos was to be sold in the American market at whatever price could be obtained.

After filing of the complaint by the Bear Canyon Asbestos Co., of Ambler, Pa., the Regal Asbestos Mines, Inc., of New York, and the Vermont Asbestos Corporation, Eden, Vt., a temporary order was issued by the Tariff Commission which required that Russian shipments of asbestos be brought into this country under bond.

This, officials of Amtorg assert, has resulted in a virtual embargo on Russian asbestos.

SHAKE-UP DUE TODAY IN BRITISH CABINET

MacDonald Is Likely to Remain, but Philip Snowden and Others May Go.

London, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Great Britain's year-old national government faces a fateful session at No. 10 Downing street tomorrow, with a major reshuffling of the cabinet considered a foregone result, but with every indication that Ramsay MacDonald will remain as prime minister.

It was the political consensus tonight that the present administration line-up could be saved only if Mr. MacDonald postponed the tariff proposals growing out of the Ottawa imperial conference until after the world economic conference early in 1933. This administration line-up includes Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party; Home Secretary Sir Herbert Samuel, Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Philip Snowden, Viscount of Ickornshaw, in the key positions.

Because of Conservative opposition, it was believed unlikely that the prime minister could delay in presenting the Ottawa tariff proposals. Therefore his task seemingly resolved itself into replacing Mr. Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and a half dozen Liberal ministers who have refused to swallow their free trade principles.

Any such program of replacement would mean acceptance of the new empire protection as a basic fiscal policy of the national government.

All today conferences were held at the prime minister's Downing street residence. Cabinet members and party leaders arrived and departed, some of them through the big, black door of No. 10 and others by the labyrinth of passages which makes the prime minister's study accessible to other Whitehall buildings.

Far in the background of all this activity was the figure of King George, who is due in London Friday from his annual holiday in Scotland.

Officially it was declared there was no foundation for reports that the monarch was returning because of the cabinet crisis. Nevertheless, it was recalled that a year ago, when Mr. MacDonald's Labor government was faced with a similar crisis, he played a major role.

pistol to occupy the taxi. They are Frank Murphy, 1638 Columbia road northwest; Frederick J. McElween, 1314 Fourteenth street northwest, and Benny Lutz, 30, of 1923 Belmont street northwest.

Atkinson, witnesses said, then ordered Martel to give him the keys to the taxicab. Martel refused and, the witnesses related, the policeman then fired point blank through the rear window of the machine. No one was hit and everybody except Murphy scuttled from the cab and sought cover.

The witnesses said that Atkinson then fired three shots at Martel who was running west on Pennsylvania avenue and, turning, fired two more at the others, who fled north up Nineteenth street. The policeman then is alleged to have struck at Murphy, lying in the front part of the cab, with the butt of the gun. Murphy displayed a lacerated hand at the Third Precinct Station.

At this point help arrived from the Third Precinct, summoned by excited calls for assistance, and Atkinson was overpowered.

Questioned by Inspector Bean and Dr. Reed, Atkinson said he "did not remember anything" and denied knowledge of the whole affair. He could give no explanation of his being in uniform although he had been off duty at the Ninth Precinct, in the northeast section of the city, since 4 o'clock.

Atkinson lives at Falls Church, Va.

Widow and Daughter in U. S.

The widow of the Senate president and his daughter, Magda, now are in the United States. One of his brothers, Jose Manuel Vazquez Bello, is Cuban consul general in New York City. A son and another daughter also are among the survivors.

The body was taken tonight to the national capital to lie in state until the funeral tomorrow, which will be attended by virtually all high government officials.

Firearms experts expressed the opinion that submachine guns had been used in the assassination.

A chocolate colored automobile which had been used by the assassins of the Senate president was recovered by the police late this afternoon. It had been abandoned by the assailants, apparently because of a tire puncture.

Six rifles, four pistols, a revolver and considerable ammunition were found in the car, which had been rented by an agency which caters to tourists.

Oil Well Running Wild As Troops Fight Flow

Oklahoma City, Sept. 27 (A.P.). National Guardsmen went into action today when their officers learned an oil well near here was running oil apparently in violation of corporation commission orders which had shut it down. Soon they reported the well had "gone wild" and its mastergates would not close.

Workers said the flow, estimated at about 400 barrels an hour, would overflow available storage facilities in a matter of hours and spread over the lease.

The well is described as the Marshall Oil No. 1 Bucher and is in the northwest part of the Oklahoma City field.

A military patrol was being maintained, but the guardsmen on duty apparently knew little about how to control oil wells. Oil field workers, forbidden on the lease under Gov. Murray's shutdown and military-control orders, appeared indifferent, with many saying it was the worry of the military, "not ours."

SHORT WORK WEEK FAVORED BY CURTIS

Vice President Opens New Government Lock Near Charleston, W. Va.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 27 (A.P.). Vice President Curtis expressed approval of a shorter working week for laboring men today as he formally opened a new Government lock in the Kanawha River, at Marmet, near here.

He termed the new lock as only a step in a river improvement program under which preference will be given to local labor with a limitation of 30 hours on the working week.

"The limitation of hours," he said, "might be the beginning of a movement for a shorter day and shorter week for labor which I hope will come because I believe that will solve the great problem of labor." Later he told newspapermen he approved a 40-hour five-day working week.

A colorful river parade in which a dozen steamboats and a score or more private crafts and speedboats participated, moved upstream from Charleston to the Marmet Dam to take part in the lock dedication ceremonies.

The Vice President boarded the flagship and as the river parade passed the State capitol he heard the booming of a salute of nineteen rounds from a National Guard battery.

Aboard the boat, Curtis, speaking through an amplifying system that carried his voice to crowds on the river banks, accepted the lock on behalf of the United States Government and returned it to public use.

Many working men who labored on the dam, smeared with the mud of the river bank, were in the crowds that cheered as the vessel pushed into the lock and became the first commercial craft to use the new chamber.

Earlier, at Parkersburg, W. Va., where the vice presidential party made a brief stop en route to Charleston, the nominee said that since 1921 the Republican administration has passed 26 measures directly to aid the farmers and the farming industry.

The Republican tariff, he said, materially reduced farm imports after the close of the war.

Mexico Returns Railway Taken Over After Strike

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The Southern Pacific of Mexico Railroad, which has been under operation supervision of the Mexican government since last July 22, has been returned to the control of its owners, it was announced here today by H. B. Titcomb, of Guadalajara, president of the line.

The Mexican government assumed operation of the railroad after a general strike. A committee has been named by the railroad and labor unions to settle the disputed wage and personnel reduction points by conference under way in Mexico City.

SHOUSE TO SUPPORT M'ADOO'S OPPONENT

aggressive between-elections campaign for the party.

In making public the decision to support Tubbs, Shouse issued a statement which said McAdoo's position on prohibition "has not been made clear."

"So far as is known," continued the statement, "he (McAdoo) has refused to commit himself in favor of repeal in response to questionnaires sent him. In a publication by the California division of our association issued before the primary, he was listed as having been 'aligned with the Antisaloon League.'

"Our association believes that the cause of repeal will be distinctly advanced by the election of Mr. Tubbs; that it might be retarded or embarrassed by the election of Mr. McAdoo; and, therefore, it urges those who believe that the eighteenth amendment should be eliminated from the Constitution to vote for Mr. Tubbs in November."

Mrs. Sabin made public two telegrams from California officials of her organization which she said were sent to deny a statement published in Baltimore to the effect that McAdoo would be indorsed. Both telegrams mentioned that McAdoo had not answered questionnaires sent him. "We are indorsing only Tubbs," said Mrs. C. S. Littleton, chairman of the southern California division.

The action of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment Shouse said, was taken on recommendation of its California division, "based on the fact that the issue of unequivocal repeal is apparently clear-cut in the California senatorial race."

Of the third candidate in the race, the Rev. Robert P. Shuler, Shouse said: "He was rejected by the Democratic and Republican parties and received the nomination of the Prohibition party. He stands for retention of the eighteenth amendment without variation or change."

The antiprohibition leader recalled that McAdoo "as a member of the resolutions committee at the Democratic national convention * * * opposed both in committee and on the floor the repeal plank which was finally adopted."

ABELLI'S WORK HERE LAUDED BY STIMSON

Bolivian Minister Honored at Pan-American Luncheon Upon Retirement.

Honored upon his retirement as Minister of Bolivia, Senor Don Luis Abelli was entertained at a luncheon in the Pan-American Union yesterday, where he was lauded by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and numerous colleagues of the Diplomatic Corps.

Speaking in behalf of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, Secretary Stimson paid tribute to the work of Senor Abelli during his service in Washington.

"Your work here does honor to you as well as to your country," the Secretary said, "and we all feel that you have every reason to be proud of this service."

Secretary Stimson pointed out that as a representative of Bolivia, Senor Abelli had won the confidence and respect of his colleagues, and expressed appreciation for his services rendered to the Pan-American Union.

In replying to the Secretary's remarks, Senor Abelli declared that any success that he may have had during his period of service in Washington was due to the understanding and helpfulness of the chairman and members of the governing board of the Pan-American Union.

"I appreciate more deeply than I can well express the generous sentiments with which you have honored me," Senor Abelli said. "I sincerely feel that the close personal ties which I have formed here will in no way be weakened by my departure from Washington."

Jewelry Firm's Head Seizes Alleged Thief

Arthur J. Sundlun, president of the A. Kahn, Inc., Jewelry Co., at 935 F street northwest, yesterday apprehended an alleged jewel thief, who was said to have attempted to steal a $350 ring from the F street store.

Questioned at Police Headquarters, the man held by Sundlun is said by police to have admitted to the theft of jewelry from another store.

Held for investigation, the arrested man gave his name as William A. Van Doren, 63, of Cherrydale, Va., a clerk in one of the Government departments.

2 WASHINGTON MEN HELD IN HIJACKING

Lieut. George M. Little, head of the liquor squad, after three of the kidnaped agents had come to Washington. Monday the Federal agents visited police headquarters and looked through files of suspects in similar cases.

While the Washington investigation was progressing, other Federal officials were checking activities of Charles County's local talent. One man, alleged head of the liquor traffic in the county, was the particular focus of the agents' attention. Suspicion fell on residents of the county when one of the kidnaped agents remarked that his captors did not have the manner of professional gunmen.

Henry G. Carter, also of Washington, was arrested shortly after the hijacking and charged with it. He is held for bond of $30,000. Two men have also been arrested and charged with possession of the load of expensive liquor before its first seizure.

Mumper was formerly attached to the Fourth Precinct. He was ousted from the force after he was charged with illegal possession of liquor when his car overturned in a lane off Columbia pike, near Ellicott City, Md., in July, 1931.

The pair was questioned by Lieut. Little and W. R. Blanford, in charge of prohibition activities in the Washington area. Mumper and Boland were booked for investigation afterward.

The dry officials in Maryland spent yesterday in learning where the well-known liquor dealer spent the hours just before the hijacking. He has not been formally questioned, but the agents have been finding out who he talked to Saturday night and where he went. The man was not present at the hijacking, according to the agents, who would have noticed his distinctive appearance. He is the only large-scale operator in the territory, however, and the only one who could have mobilized as many men as took part in the hijacking, according to the agents.

RITCHIE IS PLANNING TO GIVE 20 PAROLES

Cases Investigated by State Commissioner; Action Is Set Next Tuesday.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 27.—Gov. Ritchie indicated today that he will grant paroles to twenty prisoners now serving terms in State penal institutions unless cause to the contrary is shown. The cases have been investigated by the State parole commissioner and final action will be taken next Tuesday.

Included in the group recommended for clemency are the following:

William F. Lake, sentenced by the circuit court of Montgomery County to four years in the house of correction for robbery. Lake was 17 years old at the time the crime was committed, two and a half years ago. He and a companion participated in a holdup which netted $30. A number of citizens have urged his parole.

Charles F. Crock, convicted and sentenced by a Montgomery County police magistrate for driving an automobile while intoxicated and sentenced to eight months. He is now at the State penal farm and has served all but two months of his term. Crock collided with a street car and afterward another automobile, but nobody was hurt. His license was revoked.

Thomas Shade, Negro, convicted by a police magistrate of Charles County of assault and sentenced two years. Six and a half months of his term remain. Shade, who is now 20 years old, assaulted a truck driver during an argument over parking space.

Vice Admiral Pringle's Body Sent to Annapolis

San Diego, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The body of Vice Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle, who died here last Sunday, was today sent to Annapolis, where funeral services will be conducted at the Naval Academy Sunday. Mrs. Pringle, shortly before leaving with her daughter and son-in-law, Lieut. Comdr. John Kane, for Annapolis, received from President Hoover the following message:

"I have learned with sorrow of the death of my friend, your distinguished husband, Admiral Pringle. The memory of his honorable and most useful life of service to country will be a solace to you in your bereavement. Mrs. Hoover and I join in deepest sympathy."

Two School Contracts Let by Commissioners

Two school contracts were awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners. The job of constructing the Kenilworth School on the west side of Forty-fourth street, between Nash and Gay streets northeast, was given to the Industrial Engineering & Construction Co., of Washington, on its low bid of $54,698.

Arthur L. Smith & Co., of Washington, was awarded a contract for building a two-room addition, including a heating plant, at Alexander Crummell School, Gallaudet street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northeast, on a bid of $25,365.

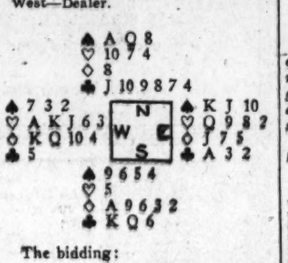
DEFENSIVE BIDDING.

DEFENSIVE bidding plays a very important part in the repertoire of most good Bridge players, and when the opportunity comes for them to make some small sacrifice in order to prevent the opponent from making a game, they are never loath to do so. This does not mean, however, that they may not find themselves on occasion being set slightly more than they had intended.

The basis for most sound sacrifices is largely distributional, and this fact can generally be read by good opponents. In the hand given below, which was played recently in a Rubber game, East and West soundly punished their rash North-South opponents for attempting to prevent them from making the game contract.

West—Dealer.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
	1♡	2♣	2♡
3♣	3♡	Pass	4♡
Pass	Pass	5♣	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was quite normal up to the point of North's five-club bid and East's Double. North's bid was not made with any expectation of making the contract, but in the belief that with his partner short in hearts and holding trump support, a large penalty did not seem likely. He anticipated a penalty of 200 or possibly 400—even the latter being a good save.

East was tempted to bid five hearts, but feared that the distribution of the hand would work against him. He therefore doubled, and chose the Opening which was responsible for the downfall of North. This Opening was the club deuce. North won the trick in the Dummy with the Queen and immediately led the singleton heart. West cooperated with his partner by playing low, and when East won the trick with the Queen he immediately took all the clubs out of the Dummy by playing the Ace and then a small one. The Declarer was now helpless and could not avoid losing two more heart tricks and two spades. He was set 600, which was certainly too large a price to pay, particularly as East and West proceeded to win the rubber on the next hand.

As a matter of fact, his bid was not so bad, and against less expert defense he would probably have gone down only 2, or, at the most, 3. The trump Opening, however, was definitely marked as the proper Opening, since East knew that his opponents—both good players—could not be bidding on anything but distribution.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

An afternoon gown which well expresses the new trend toward more formality in this type of gown. Made of violet colored wool crepe, with pressed pleats in the skirts. (Courtesy of Heim, Paris.)

THE French woman just simply will not wear a cheaper dress or hat! The American buyers who were still fortunate enough to go to Paris for the fall showing of the Haute Couture all expressed astonishment at this fact, and audibly compared the difference between the European woman under reverses and the American woman in the same circumstances.

For the American woman has fallen below her elegance standard, the very standard she and the world have set for her due to her efforts at economy and the uncertainty of her good taste. Not that she remains where she has fallen—indeed, she has already staged such a quick comeback that her lapse has been scarcely noticed or noted. But slip and certainly fall—in the direction of "unbelievable bargains, my dear," she surely did.

The French woman is less credulous—for her, unbelievable bargains being just that—unbelievable—she pays no attention to them whatsoever. In her clothes, I mean. This is what astonished the visitors—that the French woman looked as smart and as elegant as ever, wearing the same expensive hat, the distinguished gowns, the subtle and expensive accessories she had always worn. While the American woman had tried to accept cheaper and, consequently, less distinguished things in a misguided sportsmanship—greatly at the expense of her good taste.

Things are evening up rapidly, though. The cheap frocks and hats we bought last season have gone the way of all flimsy things, and we realize that they were actually no economy at all. I think this spoon through which we have just passed will do wonders for the American woman's good taste. Because it will prove to her, once and finally, that there is no economy in poor style and materials—and teach her what her French sister found out long ago—that 'tis better to have one complete and expensive ensemble a season in which one feels and looks distinguished and elegant, than innumerable mediocre ones in which one never feels nor looks anything but just that.

No wonder millyuns of fans phoned and asked for a dragon design! Now that I have discovered how extremely difficult, if not impossible, it is to get a good dragon, I see that there was simply nothing I could do but make a large one for you, and have it printed in a leaflet! So I did, and you can have a large dragon to trace onto something to embroider or paint or whatever you wish, by just sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, for this week's leaflet.

And better send for it, too, because from now on there are going to be Christmas gifts to make—and we have a whole family of new ones for you to make, up our sleeves. Put your dragon away until you need him.

Miladi liked her feathers, so she bon and matching feather hat appear in all—almost all—of the collections of the Parisian modistes this fall. I sketched a set in the corner—and have my eye on certain trunks in the attic . . .!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MALARIA TREATMENT.

THESE are the methods of treating cases of malaria used in many hospitals and with the nearly 50,000 people who work for the United Fruit Co. To break the chills and rid the patient of his infection they give quinine in large doses and for a considerable time. To prevent the infected person from infecting others they give plasmochin compound.

For acute attacks of acute malaria one dose of three grains of calomel is given; two hours later, 20 grains of quinine; four hours later, 1 to 2 ounces of salts (sulphate of magnesium). Twelve hours after the first dose of quinine a second dose is given. After that 30 grains daily is given in two doses until the temperature remains normal all day. Then a second dose of salts is given.

After this the treatment is ten grains of quinine twice daily for six days. At the same time two tablets of plasmochin compound—one morning and one evening—are given for six days. This is followed by ten grains of quinine taken each night at bedtime for two weeks.

For chronic malaria the above treatment is first given; then a course of plasmochin compound; one-sixth to one-half grain of plasmochin daily for six days as above; then the plasmochin compound is suspended for three days. During six of the days when ten grains of quinine is the daily dose a second course of plasmochin compound tablets is prescribed.

After these courses of plasmochin compound have been finished an iron tonic is given and it is kept up for six months. The one used is their pink tablet, and it contains iron, quinine, arsenic and strychnine. Good diet is essential for the cure of chronic malaria—good meat, eggs, milk, vegetables and fruit.

For malaria carriers and ague-cake people, but without chills and fever, ten grains of quinine and one plasmochin compound tablet twice a day for six days are prescribed. This is suspended for three days. The course of quinine and plasmochin compound tablets is repeated.

These cases are always anemic. Therefore they should be given the pink pills or other iron tonic for several months; and they must be well fed, else they will remain malaria carriers.

During 1931 Dr. R. C. Connor and his staff experimented with a drug which is claimed to be a substitute for both quinine and plasmochin. During the cases and carriers of the disease is a part of a plan of malaria control used on the United Fruit Co. plantations. In 1931 the malaria rate on these plantations was one-fourth of what it was in 1925 and the malaria death rate was only one-half that of the year in which the plan was first operated in its entirety. If it were not that their labor force is constantly changing they consider that malaria would be of small importance with them now, in spite of the fact that all their operations are in lowlands in the tropics.

Other methods of control employed by them are major drainage, minor drainage, use of larvacides, oil and minnows for mosquito control, screening, killing mosquitoes in houses, surveys of malaria prevalence and mass treatment.

IODINE IN FOODS.

R. L. writes:

1. Will you list all foods that contain iodine?

2. What cure is there for atrophy of the thyroid gland and what harm will it do to a person 19 years of age?

REPLY.

1. The amount of iodine in foods depends on their source, more than anything else. Seaweed, oysters and sea fish are rich sources. The vegetables grown in certain regions contain more iodine; those in other regions less. The drinking water in some sections contains considerable; that in others none.

2. A thyroid deficiency in a child or adolescent means cretinism. When it begins in a person 19 years old and over it may mean myxedema. There is no cure for a well developed case of myxedema. However, most cases of this disease are relieved by taking thyroid preparations. Some take iodine in addition. As long as the remedy is continued the person is comfortable and efficient.

PAIN IN NERVE ENDS.

Doubtful writes: Have calluses roots? If not, why do stinging pains like needles under the ball of the foot persist in spite of treatment?

REPLY.

They do not. The pains are in nerve ends. They have been pressed on and they are complaining. Maybe they have acquired the habit.

SUN BATHING.

Miss M. M. writes: I have been taking sun baths on my roof, when it is sufficiently warm, for the past three years. I have slowly acquired a uniform tan all over my body, and can spend many hours in the sun without looking or feeling any different. Lately I have been told that sun baths are apt to be injurious. I know of one case where tuberculosis was the result of the bathing.

Would you explain to me how this can be, and also tell me if I am in any danger of contracting such a disease?

REPLY.

There is not one chance in a thousand that sun bathing will harm you, and not one in ten million that it will give you consumption. Some people can not stand sunlight because their skins are sensitized. Tanning harms the texture of some skins. There may be some skin cancers due to exposure to sunlight. Excessive exposure in the elderly may promote senility.

But none of this applies to you.

BOY HAS GRAY HAIR.

S. S. C. W. writes: I am a boy of 15 and am troubled with a peculiar handful of gray hair. What can I do to cure it? What is the cause?

REPLY.

Presumably you mean you have a gray patch—perhaps a gray cowlick. These patches are inherited. Beyond that no one knows the cause. There is no cure. In fact, cures are not desired. On the other hand a gray lick is regarded as an adornment and the person having one is a source of envy. In addition to increasing one's attractiveness it is a pedigree certificate.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Beauty Goes to High School.

WELL, mother, she is in high school. How time flies! Not long ago, it seems, you registered her in kindergarten or the first grade. And now! People who haven't seen her for a time say "How beautifully she has grown. I wouldn't have recognized her."

Difficult Age.

Yesterday we outlined the health habits for the very young child. Those health habits should be so deeply rooted by the time your daughter is of high school age that they should be a matter of routine. Honest-to-goodness beauty problems will soon present themselves, if they haven't already. It is a difficult age. Your daughter may be doing a great deal of thinking for herself. Let her form her own ideas on world progress or problems, but continue to guide her in her hygienic routine. She needs you, mother.

Water without and without is a particularly important matter for her. See to it that she drinks plenty of water and that she does not slip up on her warm, cleansing bath at night, even if she happens to have a very late appointment; whether for pleasure or study. And, by the way, these late appointments should be very few and far between. For the young girl in her teens needs sleep, sound, restful sleep and plenty of it. The seeds for "nerves" and similar ills that are the complaint of middle age are very often sown in childhood. See to it that daughter has plenty of fresh vegetables and fruits as well as milk and nourishing food. She need not get too friendly with sweets and starches, but it is a mistake for the young miss to eat too sparingly for fear of getting fat. It is especially important that she have a full, leisurely breakfast.

As I said before, this is the difficult age. Blackheads, eruptions, acne are the bane and humiliation of the "teens." True, physical changes are taking place, the oil glands become more active and more than usual care is necessary to keep the skin clean. But scrupulous cleanliness will go a long way in keep the complexion clear and free from flaws. A good brand soap, a complexion brush, and after the soaping very, very thorough rinsing. Emphasize that, mother. For the dry, delicate type of skin a soothing, cleansing cream, followed by a skin tonic, is recommended; otherwise, the soap will do the work. For the winter months, a hand lotion for the hands and a lubricating cream for face and neck.

Her Hair and Hands.

Present her with an emory board, cuticle cream, orange stick. Present her with a good hair brush and teach her how to brush her hair and massage scalp to keep it clear of dandruff, for this often is linked with skin eruptions. She probably exercises in school, but this is not enough. Outdoor exercise and plenty of fresh air are important. Then she will preserve the natural beauty that is so fresh, so alluring an attribute of youth. She may use a little powder to keep her nose from shining, and a colorless lip pomade, but beyond that I think nail polishes and rouge and eye make-up should be saved for a later day.

My bulletin, "Young Girl's Beauty Rites," may be had for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Spread of Relief Cash Is Pledged by Pollard

Richmond, Va., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Asserting that Virginia has an emergency to meet, Gov. Pollard today gave assurance that the State highway commission will take into consideration those sections of the State which are not now benefiting directly by special road allotments designed to give relief for the unemployed.

He said that while there has been no disposition on the part of communities which have not applied for relief to protest the distribution of money in destitute localities, "in fairness the commission doubtless will consider such special allotments in its future plans, spreading the funds gradually so there will be no hardship, and eventually balance the benefits throughout all of the construction districts as provided by law."

$750 Clothing Stolen From Store.

Ralph A. Harris, proprietor of a clothing store at 1145 Seventh street northwest, yesterday reported to police that his establishment had been entered and wearing apparel valued at $750 was missing. A skylight was used to gain entrance, he said.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF September 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m. The danger hours are from noon to 2 p. m. and from 6:20 p. m. to 8:05 p. m.

The stellar configurations of September 28 denote a day of restlessness, uncertainty and indecision. It will be quite difficult, under the influences that prevail, to concentrate or to settle down, and nothing that involves serio is consequence should be essayed. Keep to the highway and avoid all detours.

A child born on this September 28 will, from a physical standpoint, require more than usual care during infancy. Its disposition will be amenable and lovable. Its leanings toward art will be pronounced, and these should be fostered and encouraged. The results may be gratifyingly surprising.

You, if born on September 28, possess great self-assurance, and this exaggerated confidence in your ability often leads you to commit errors that prove most costly as well as disastrous. Backed up by an idea that you know more than others, you attempt tasks without proper preparation and preliminary study. You often step in with both feet, where others—wiser and more careful—fear to tread. You are always seeking short cuts to success, and owing to unexpected and unthought of obstacles, your arrival at the goal is considerably delayed, or does not materialize.

Your knowledge, although varied, is superficial. You never take the time to study thoroughly any problem or subject. You are always in too much of a hurry to get into action. You want to shoot at the enemy right away, and are never content to hold your fire until you can see the "whites of their eyes."

Your disposition is, like your actions, erratic. Your moods are variable; at times you are gay and carefree, while at other times, you are morose and depressed. Your horoscope indicates much, and finds many things attempted, but with little real achievements. It also indicates innumerable changes, marked "ups and downs" with happiness and discontent in about equal proportions.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SANDWICH FILLINGS.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

The dainty small sandwiches without crusts, cut in fancy shapes, that are served with fruit juice or iced tea for afternoon social gatherings, can be made from a number of different chopped raw vegetables. Among the nicest are watercress and parsley, because of the definite, peppery taste of the former, and the distinctive flavor of the latter.

To make the sandwiches, choose bread that is a day old, and trim off the crusts. Cut the bread very thin with a sharp bread knife. The following ingredients are suggested by the Bureau of Home Economics.

Watercress or Parsley Butter.

½ cup butter
¼ cup finely ground watercress or parsley
¼ teaspoon salt
Few drops tabasco sauce
½ tablespoon lemon juice, if desired

Cream the butter, add the finely ground watercress or parsley, salt, tabasco sauce and lemon juice, and stir until well blended. Use as a sandwich spread. If making fancy rolled sandwiches, place a sprig of watercress in each end.

Fight FAT In This Right Way

Times have changed. Starvation is no longer the remedy for excess fat. Modern science has discovered that a great cause lies in lack of a certain factor, essential in nutrition. And doctors, the world over, now supply that factor to the over-fat.

This discovery has largely changed conditions, as everyone can see. Abnormal figures have, in late years, been disappearing fast.

Marmola prescription tablets contain that lacking factor. A famous medical laboratory prepares them for that purpose. People have used them for 25 years—millions of boxes of them. So people in almost every circle now show the remarkable results.

Go try Marmola—the right way to reduce. A book in each box states the formula, and tells you how and why it acts. Let the results decide between this right way and the wrong. Ask your druggist for Marmola now.

BROENING TESTIFIES FOR JAMES J. DAVIS

Says, at Lottery Trial, Senator Told Him of Giving Up Moose Contract.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Former Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore stepped briskly to the witness stand in the Davis Federal Court lottery trial today and related how Senator James J. Davis told him he had relinquished his contract as organizer for the Loyal Order of Moose.

"Bill, old boy," Broening said Davis told him, "the work is too much for me."

Broening, who has been a member of the Moose since 1910, was hailed by the defense as important proof of their contention the Pennsylvania senator, indicted as a leader in alleged gigantic fraternal lotteries, had given up active work in the Moose order before the lotteries were held.

Announced at Sharon.

The former mayor said at a council meeting of the Moose in Sharon, Pa., Davis announced he was going to give up his work in the Moose organization department because of his many duties, and was turning it over to Fred W. Jones and Joseph Jenkins.

"Did he say work or contract?" interposed Judge Frank Coleman.

"It was contract," said the mayor promptly.

It has been shown Davis, who the Government contends was himself the "organization department," had a contract with the Moose to organize new lodges and get initiation fees for his pay.

The former mayor's few minutes of testimony came at the close of all-day questioning of Fred Jones, first witness for the defense, who insisted he and Jenkins had an oral agreement with Davis to buy his contract for $600,000.

Money Held Owed to Davis.

Yesterday and this morning Jones explained on the stand that the $175,000 the Pennsylvania senator is accused of having pocketed, as profits from two alleged lotteries conducted in conjunction with charity balls of the Loyal Order of Moose, was in reality money owed him for complicated business deals among the many branches of the fraternal order he headed.

Though Davis was indicted only for the lottery "conspiracy" and for aiding transportation of tickets across State line the prosecution has pushed this phase of its allegations, to support its claim the senator knew all about the lottery.

The jury was admonished by District Judge Frank J. Coleman at the opening of the trial's seventh day today that it must disregard newspaper accounts of a ruling he made yesterday out of their hearing denying a motion for directed verdict of acquittal.

Foreign Students Denied Jobs in U.S.

Labor Department Prohibits Them From Assuming "Regular Work."

Foreigners who have been given special admission to the United States in order to attend school will be barred from "regular employment," it was announced yesterday by the Labor Department.

W. W. Husband, Assistant Secretary of Labor, explained that although foreign nonquota students now in this country would not be prohibited from working for their landlord in payment for board or from taking small jobs around their colleges in payment of tuition, they would be prohibited from finding "regular employment."

The ruling was made after an investigation motivated by general unemployment conditions, Husband said. The students affected, he declared, are those allowed to enter the country for study without regard to quota restrictions affecting immigration from their native country.

In a readjustment of the attache's work, the duties of military attache to Roumania has been transferred to Maj. Charles B. Haseltine, now attache to Jugoslavia at Belgrade. Maj. Yeager has been assigned to the Fifth Field anticipated for some time, Bennett said it was designed to safeguard the interests of the savings banks, insurance companies, foundations and other fiduciary institutions who are the principal holders of railroad bonds. The National Association of Mutual Savings Banks heads the list of the 31 sponsors.

COOLIDGE RAIL GROUP FORMALLY ANNOUNCED

Announcement as to the committee's organization and plan of operation, Bennett said, will come from Mr. Coolidge shortly. The commission members will serve gratuitously, but an expense account may be provided by the institutions sponsoring their work.

The organizations listed as inviting the commission to serve, principally insurance companies, include Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Chicago Universities, the Railway Business Association and the Investment Bankers Association of America.

(Associated Press.)

Sources close to President Hoover last night said he was pleased at the formation of the nonpartisan railroad commission headed by former President Coolidge and regarded the creation of the committee as a "highly constructive step."

Harrison Charges Hoover Subterfuge

Says 500 U. S. Employes, Without Test, Get Civil Service Status.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee yesterday said that President Hoover had transferred more than 500 Government employes who were appointed without examination to the "protection of the civil service."

"This is a precaution," he said, "which it was not thought necessary to take at the time of their employment by the Government, but which the administration apparently considered vital when it became evident that after March 4 next the affairs of the Government will be in Democratic hands."

Harrison said the President in executive orders last February and March transferred about 550 persons in the Commerce and Justice Departments to civil service status.

CANDIDATES TO SEE PICKETING FARMERS

Parades Before Roosevelt and Hoover Planned in Iowa Strike.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—After a few days' lull, Farmers Holiday Association members today again resorted to highway picketing in an effort to keep farm products from markets.

In Pipestone County and near Willmar and Montevideo, small groups patrolled roads. Walter Groth, chairman of the Big Stone County Holiday Association, said picketing would soon start in Big Stone and Traverse counties, also in Minnesota.

Near Sioux City, Iowa, where the strike for higher farm prices first broke out August 8, 200 holiday workers Monday night stopped Lew Smith's truck, carrying hogs, and unloaded the animals. This morning the trucker loaded the swine into his machine again and returned to the owner in Rodney. There was no general picketing, however, in the Sioux City area.

Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, today asked holiday leaders in western Iowa, southern Minnesota, Nebraska and South Dakota to urge their followers to convene Thursday for a parade in Sioux City at the time of Gov. Roosevelt's visit.

The purpose of the demonstration, Reno said, will be to direct the attention of the Democratic presidential nominee to the farmers' condition. A similar parade is being planned in Des Moines for October 4, when President Hoover will open his campaign.

Atlanta, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A truck driver reported he was beaten by a group of men near Barnesville, Ga., today in the latest outbreak of violence in Georgia's milk price war.

The driver, P. A. Edwards, an employe of a motor freight line, said he told the men he was carrying interstate commerce between Jacksonville, Fla., and Atlanta, and his truck carried no milk, but that some one in the crowd shouted:

"That doesn't make any difference. You didn't stop quick enough."

He said he was kicked and beaten with a chair. He displayed various cuts and bruises when he reported to authorities at Griffin.

Meanwhile, Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, entered the milk war with a suggestion that representatives of Atlanta distributors and the Georgia Milk Producers Confederation, Inc., meet with him tomorrow in an effort to settle their differences.

Officials of the confederation immediately accepted, but spokesmen for the distributors made no announcement as to whether they would attend.

VICE ADMIRALSHIP GIVEN TO SELLERS

Gets Command Left by Late Admiral Pringle; Brumby Also Promoted.

The appointment of Rear Admiral David E. Sellers, U. S. N., as commander of the Battleship Divisions, battle force, with the rank of vice admiral to succeed the late Vice Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle, U. S. N., was announced yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Adams.

Vice Admiral Sellers has been in command of Battleship Division One, of the Battle Force. Admiral Pringle died at the Naval Hospital, San Diego, last Sunday.

The Secretary also announced that Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, U. S. N., commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard, Portsmouth, Va., will relieve Admiral Sellers, of command of Battleship Division One. Vice Admiral Sellers will have the U. S. S. West Virginia as his flagship. Rear Admiral Brumby will use the U. S. S. Texas.

Vice Admiral Sellers, a resident of Washington, served as judge advocate general of the Navy from June 14, 1929, until September 15, 1931, when he was ordered to command Battleship Division 1.

Born in Texas.

He was born in Austin, Tex., and appointed to the Naval Academy from New Mexico in 1890. He has been in command of the U. S. S. Wisconsin, the U. S. S. Agamemnon and the U. S. S. Maryland.

Between September, 1921, and February, 1922, he served as aid to the Secretary of the Navy. He holds the Navy Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal and has been decorated with high orders by the governments of Ecuador and Nicaragua.

Admiral Brumby is a native of Athens, Ga. He was appointed to the Naval Academy from Georgia in 1891. He served with Admiral Sampson during the Spanish-American War. He has been in command of the U. S. S. Cincinnati and the U. S. S. Kansas. In 1921 he came to Washington as captain of the navy yard. He later served as a member of the Board of Inspection and Survey of the Navy Department here. The successor to Admiral Brumby as commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard has not been named.

Bates, Attorney, Defends Tariff

Declares Democratic View of Hawley-Smoot Law Is Sectional.

A spirited defense of the Hawley-Smoot tariff was voiced last night by Charles W. Bates, attorney, in an address before a joint meeting of the membership committee of the District Hoover-Curtis Club and the Lawyers Hoover-Curtis Club.

Bates declared that the Republican tariff law was aimed at cutting off the products of cheap foreign labor even as the immigration laws aimed at the entrance into this country of aliens who would cause a reduction in labor wages. He said the Democratic view on tariff was entirely sectional and consisted of a desire to market cotton and receive in exchange cheap foreign goods.

Other speakers were Samuel J. Prescott, chairman of the Republican State committee; Charles J. Waters, chairman of the membership committee of the Hoover-Curtis Club here; Henry P. Woodard, president of the Lawyers Hoover-Curtis Club; John W. Fihelly, chairman of the membership committee of the Lawyers Hoover-Curtis Club, and Preston Ord, treasurer.

The Business Upturn

Several Railroads See Increased Carloadings as Sign of Economic Improvement; Number of Workers Called Back to Jobs in Varied Lines.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Chicago—Executives of half a dozen railroads issued statements recording increased carloadings and interpreting it to portend economic improvement. Carloadings for the week ended September 17 gained 17 per cent over the preceding Labor Day week, the sharpest advance in four years. The Burlington road reported that for the first time since 1928 September carloadings on the line were higher than the total for August.

Massilon, Ohio—The Republic Steel Co. open hearth plant here has increased ingot production to 28 per cent of capacity, the highest level of operations in several months.

Chicago—International Harvester Co. officials announced they have contracted for 1,000,000 yards of heavy grade cotton duck fabric—enough to supply all the binders and combines the firm could manufacture in a year. George A. Ranney, vice president, said he believed cotton has reached its lowest point and that good business principles compel purchases now.

New York—Dow Jones & Co. predicted General Motors would finish 1932 with its position backed by working capital in an amount close to that held at the start of the slump. Improvement in retail sales was given as the reason.

Chicago—Officials of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., wholesalers of clothing and dry goods, reported last Monday was the largest business day in three years. Ninety employes have been called back to work, it was announced, and the entire staff worked hours overtime.

Chicago—The seventh Federal Reserve District Bank reported wholesale grocery sales increased 9 per cent in the district during August. The report said hardware sales gained 4 per cent, dry goods, 26; drugs, 14, and shoes, 58 per cent.

St. Louis—Orders received by the International Shoe Co. since August 15 have shown a 35 per cent increase over orders for the corresponding period last year, Frank C. Rand, president, announced.

Salt Lake City—Railroad officials here announced approximately 285 train and engine men will be recalled to work in Utah and southern Idaho within the next few weeks, to move sugar beet crop. The roads include the Oregon Shortline, the Los Angeles & Salt Lake, the Denver & Rio Grande Western and the Salt Lake & Utah railroads. The work is expected to last for two months.

Democrats Select New Mexico Ticket

State Convention Closes After Renominating Gov. Seligman.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Delegates to the Democratic State convention made a trek today to Lamy, N. Mex., where they greeted Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, presidential nominee, and then returned here to complete the selection of candidates on their State ticket.

Before a late adjournment last night the convention renominated both Representative Dennis Chavez and Gov. Arthur Seligman. Then the delegates quit deliberations until after they cheered the Roosevelt special campaign train at Lamy.

Headed by Gov. Seligman, who led the ticket two years ago when it was swept into power in a Democratic landslide, the candidates include virtually all of the State officers who were reelected in November, 1930. The convention completed its work shortly after 5 p. m. and adjourned sine die.

WOMEN AT CENTER OF G.O.P. ACTIVITIES

Two "Flying Grandmothers" to Make Air Tour to Aid Hoover Race.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Women campaigners held the spotlight at Republican Eastern headquarters today.

Two flying grandmothers outlined their plan to make a complete tour of New York State on behalf of President Hoover in a plane to be called "The American Engineer."

Another plane, it was announced, has been put at the disposal of a woman campaigner in Connecticut.

The first assemblywoman ever elected in New Jersey, who was a Republican campaigner before women were given the right to vote, was added to the list of Republican orators.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, was signed up to address a mass meeting of women in Brooklyn October 7, and plans for a luncheon in her honor were made.

Miss Edna R. Caroll, secretary of the Women's Republican Clubs of Pennsylvania, brought word to the headquarters that "women in my State are seeing a new light on the horizon and we will stick by President Hoover."

The only man who figured in the day's Republican news was Everett Sanders, national chairman, who, it was announced, will arrive here tomorrow from Chicago for a series of conferences over the campaign in the Eastern States.

The flying grandmothers are Mrs. Samuel H. Dolbear, chairman of the New York women's division of the engineers' national Hoover committee, and Mrs. H. Foster Bain, the original "flying grandmother," who will be the pilot.

"Mrs. Bain was the first grandmother in the United States to be licensed as an air pilot," Mrs. Dolbear explained.

"I am a grandmother, too, not very experienced in flying, but ready to risk a campaign by air as a swift way to cover as much ground as possible to carry the message to women of New York State that we must keep President Hoover in office in this critical period of our Nation's history."

The new woman speaker is Mrs. James C. Van Ness, who started campaigning against the late Woodrow Wilson.

A. F. of L. Issues Advice on Election

Pamphlet Compares Both Party Platforms and Candidates' Records.

(Associated Press.)

A pamphlet comparing the party platforms and the records of the Republican and Democratic candidates for President and Vice President was issued yesterday by the American Federation of Labor. Compiled by the national nonpartisan political campaign committee of the federation, the pamphlet made no specific recommendations, but urged friends of organized labor to—

"Stand faithfully by our friends and elect them. Oppose our enemies and defeat them; whether they be candidates for President, for Congress or other offices; whether executive, legislative or judicial."

The pamphlet reviewed the record of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate, as a member of the New York Senate, as Governor of New York, listing the labor measures on which he acted. Similar reviews of President Hoover's record in the White House, Vice President Curtis' career in Congress, and Speaker Garner's legislative record were included.

GARNER CONTINUES SILENCE ON BONUS

Vice Presidential Candidate Confers With Leaders In New York.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Speaker Garner, in a press conference discussion of possible legislation before the next Congress, said tonight he had made no statement on the bonus question and did not intend to make any. He declined to discuss the subject further.

Meanwhile, one of Gov. Roosevelt's campaign aids said he expected the presidential nominee would make known his stand on the payment of the bonus not long after his return from the West.

It already had been announced at Democratic national headquarters that Mr. Roosevelt probably would confer on the subject with Ralph T. O'Neil, former American Legion commander, saand now head of the campaign veterans' bureau, upon his return.

"With the possibility that the two houses will be in control of the Democrats at the December session," Mr. Garner was asked, "will you seek modification of the Volstead act at that time?"

"We'll come to that when we meet it," he replied with a chuckle. "I'm standing on the party platform."

The day was filled with another round of political conferences for the vice presidential nominee.

As he packed his bags preparatory to departing for Washington, he said:

"I've talked to so many party leaders today I can't even remember all their names. I've been rushing from one floor to another of headquarters until I'm dizzy."

One of his conferences was with John H. McCooey, New York national committeeman and political ally of Tammany.

They were asked later if they had discussed what part former Gov. Alfred E. Smith might take in the last weeks of the campaign, but both declined to answer.

"He (Smith) is over 21 and can speak for himself," said Mr. McCooey.

Manchester Sold At Public Auction

Apartment Building, Bid In for $136,000, Was Built in 1916.

The Manchester, seven-story apartment building at 1426 M street northwest, was bid in at public auction yesterday by Leon Tobriner, representing the purchasers, Glen W. McCambridge, and L. Harry Rider, for $136,000, the purchase price including a first deed of trust securing a balance of $105,000. Several competitors sent the bidding from $133,000 to $136,000. The sale was advertised by Wilmer J. Waller and William M. Seay, trustees. Adam A. Weschler was the auctioneer.

The building, erected in 1916 at an original estimated cost of $150,000, contains 63 apartments and is built of brick and concrete. Harry Wardman was the builder and original owner and A. M. Schneider & Co., the architect. Current assessed valuation of the property is $189,944, of which $134,000 is for building and $55,944 for land.

Subsequent owners have been Harry Wardman and Thomas P. Bones, Clarence F. Norment, Randolph T. Warwick, Sophia C. Windeck and Anna W. Manville.

Postoffice Branch Aim Of Park View Area Body

The Postoffice Department was petitioned in a measure passed by the Georgia Avenue Business Men's Association last night to provide a branch postoffice to care for the postal business of the Park View area. The Georgia avenue group also decided to inform the Treasury Department that it desired establishment of a bank in the vicinity and would support such a financial establishment.

Indorsement was also given of the position of Representative Shannon (Democrat), Missouri, in seeking an investigation of reported governmental competition with private restaurant concerns here. It was also decided to hold the annual meeting of the association and election of officers late in October, with a dance and banquet to mark the event.

Democrats Favor Repeal in Michigan

Also Call for Payment of Bonus, but Fail to Set Time.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Michigan Democrats in their State convention today indorsed the national prohibition repeal plank and also went on record as supporting the right to remove prohibition from the State constitution at the November election.

The platform adopted by the convention favored payment of the veterans' bonus "in full, in cash," but set no time for such payment. Other platform declarations favored the six-hour working day and five-day week, the "curbing of chain stores to aid independent merchants," and the abolishing of the State property tax "by curtailment of expenditures and by shifting tax burdens."

The Democrats today nominated for minor State offices a slate favored by William A. Comstock, their candidate for governor, which met little opposition after the first test of strength. The candidates are: Burnett J. Abbott, Saginaw, for secretary of State; Patrick H. O'Brien, Detroit, for attorney general; John J. Stack, Escanaba, for auditor general, and T. I. Fry, Fremont, for State treasurer.

Directors of Traction Firm to Scan Fare Plan

The directors of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. today will decide whether to participate in a conference with the Public Utilities Commission regarding the proposal of People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech that the street railways try a two-zone fare system of 5 and 10 cents.

Both the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Rapid Transit Co. have agreed to take part in the parley, and John H. Hanna, president of the former, has expressed considerable interest in the plan. Since making the proposal, Mr. Keech has received letters of inquiry as to the plan from all sections of the United States.

NEW WJSV SUBJECT OF NAVY COMPLAINT

didn't know anything about it until one day they happened to look over and saw the towers of the new station.

"It will play the devil with us," a Navy official said yesterday. "The new station so close at hand broadcasting with 10,000-watts power will cover our entire spectrum. It would cost an immense sum of money to shield ourselves from this, if it can be done at all. It would seriously interfere with the radio work the laboratory is doing no matter how shielding were done."

"While it is true that the Naval Research Laboratory will probably receive a strong signal from WJSV on our broadcasting frequency of 1,460 kilocycles, I believe, because of the precautions we are taking that otherwise there will not be serious difficulty," said Harry Butcher, Washington representative of Columbia.

"We are shielding the transmitter in an effort to prevent the research laboratory from receiving our harmonics which is the thing they are afraid of. Also we are shielding the leads down from the antenna. In fact we are doing everything scientifically possible to suppress these harmonics. The laboratory claimed that WJSV at the old location at Mount Vernon Hills, south of Alexandria, bothered them at times, but it was not adequately shielded as the new station will be.

"If any harmonics are emitted by WJSV from the new location they will be of less than one watt power, which will not be enough to cause any trouble. I do not believe the Radio Commission will cause us to move our transmitter since it has already approved the site and we have spent such a large amount of money."

Before the new WJSV site was chosen engineers tested for many months in order to determine upon the best location, which required that the station be near enough to adequately cover the National Capital, but yet remain in Virginia in which State it is licensed and for which reason it is allowed to use 10,000 watts power. WRC and WMAL in Washington only broadcast with 500 watts. WBAL, Baltimore, and WJSV with 10,000 watts are two of the highest powered stations in this part of the country.

VON PAPEN CHARGES FRENCH MILITARISM

Replies to Herriot Speech Accusing Germany of Seeking to Rearm.

Berlin, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A charge of militarism was leveled against France today by Chancellor Franz von Papen in a reply to Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, who declared in a speech Sunday that Germany was planning to rearm.

"When M. Herriot complains that we are teaching our children the art of killing, he seems to overlook entirely that the military training of youth has been carried on systematically by France for years, constituting one of the most essential points of her army reform," the chancellor said.

"On the other hand our gymnastic movement has no military character, but is solely for gymnastic education and to teach youth the spirit of companionship."

The chancellor made these statements in the course of an interview in which he denied the accusations made by M. Herriot at Gramat, France, on Sunday and reiterated Germany's demand for equal treatment in arms.

Pleading for world disarmament, Herr von Papen admonished France that peace never can be realized in Europe so long as a single state is degraded to the status of a second-class nation.

"Only when the peoples have recognized the real core of the problem," he continued, "will they try further for the understanding which at present is threatened by the unwillingness of statesmen to negotiate."

Leaders of Women's Group at Convention

The Helen Spencer Mussy Tent of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, was represented at the national convention in Springfield, Ill., this week by five officers.

They were: Mrs. Nan Thurber, president of the tent and a member of the national council; Mrs. Hermoine A. Sutton, a member of the national legislative committee; Mrs. Cathryn C. Rahn, a member of the national study committee; Mrs. Anna Hage McElroy, tent secretary and past national press correspondent, and Miss Katie A. Guiton, a member of the national council.

NOT A BUSINESS PROBLEM.

A committee has been organized in New York to study the debts owed to the United States by foreign governments. When the study is finished conclusions will be drawn as to what is the best course for the Government to take, and the committee will then attempt to influence public opinion in that direction.

The value of this undertaking will depend entirely upon the viewpoint from which it is made. The presence of such men as Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler on the roster of vice presidents suggests that the committee starts out with a bias in favor of cancellation. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., who has been chosen permanent chairman of the committee, also has business interests in debt reduction that would seem to disqualify him for that position. On the other hand, the committee has a number of distinguished men who are opposed to cancellation. It may be that the convictions of one will offset the convictions of another, and that something like an unbiased study of the situation may be made.

There is no indication, however, that the findings of the committee will have the finality anticipated by its sponsors. The study is to be made strictly from the business point of view. "The problem of intergovernmental debts," says Mr. Sloan, "is a problem of dollars and cents. It can be solved only by hard straightforward business calculations." Of course, the conclusions of business are important, but any proposed solution that ignores the intricate political problems involved in the war debts will not be considered seriously.

The war debts did not originate from a business deal. If the business viewpoint had prevailed, they would not have been incurred. It can not be supposed that the Government will adopt a strictly commercial point of view in settling this question. Disarmament and international peace hinge on to the war debts issue. Even if the committee of business men, farmers and laborites should decide that the economic welfare of the American people could best be served by cancellation of the debts, that decision would not justify the Government in setting such a precedent. Europe ought not to be encouraged in the belief that it can engage in war and escape the costs by borrowing from the United States. Nor should the debtor governments be allowed to evade their just debts on the ground of inability to pay while they maintain powerful war machines.

Presumably these factors will not enter into the study being made by the committee in New York. Yet they are even more vital to the welfare of the American people than is the question of dollars and cents. The United States has a moral responsibility to leave the burdens of war in Europe where they belong. The economic factors might turn a committee of business leaders in favor of cancellation, but that probably would not influence the Government to set a precedent of paying Europe's war debts.

GANDHI WINS.

Mahatma Gandhi emerges as the hero of his fast. He was unable to move the British government, but he broke a deadlock existing for many years between the high and low caste Hindus, and thus accomplished the result he aimed at. Rather than let Gandhi die the high caste Hindu leaders made extravagant promises to the untouchables, and the resulting agreement met with "great satisfaction" in London.

The British government has no enmity for Gandhi. Officials in London realize that he is a great moderating force in the Indian nationalist movement. They are well pleased to see the deadlock between the Hindu castes broken, yet the government probably would have allowed Gandhi to starve himself if his followers had not yielded.

The result of the fast puts a somewhat different light upon it. Gandhi was not threatening his life to force Great Britain to withdraw its electoral plan, but to force the hostile Indian factions into agreement. Against the emotional Hindus his threat succeeded, and the promise of the British government to withdraw its plan, if the Hindus could agree upon a plan of their own, came immediately into operation.

It is easy, however, to overestimate the results of Gandhi's fast. Obviously the high caste Hindus surrendered their former position to save the life of India's greatest leader. But thus far they have made promises only. They have pledged themselves to work for fair representation of the untouchables in India's public service and for adequate funds to improve the living conditions and educate the depressed classes. When the crisis is over and the time comes to make these promises good, the Hindu leaders probably will not be so conciliatory. Agreements made under pressure such as Gandhi applied to this controversy are not often satisfactory.

Nevertheless, Gandhi has once more asserted his power over India. The high caste Hindu leaders have bowed to the wretched untouchables, not out of sympathy or from a love of country, but to save Gandhi's life. This evidence of his power to sway Indian public opinion may convince the mystic mahatma that his life is of too much value to stake upon the settlement of future factional disputes. Next time the outcome might not be so propitious.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

The appointment of Representative Charles R. Crisp to the Tariff Commission is fortunate. Mr. Crisp is exceptionally well qualified for public service, after long experience in the House, and Georgia did not increase its influence in national councils when it failed to nominate him for the United States Senate.

Mr. Crisp is an orthodox Democrat, holding tariff views in harmony with those of his party. The Tariff Commission is as far removed from politics as it is possible to make it, and its recommendations have been based upon economic grounds and not upon political theory. The commission is making important studies which probably will result in modifications of rates to safeguard American industries. Competition from Japan has become a dangerous element in commerce, which the present tariff does not check. The rubber goods industry of the United States is threatened with extinction by Japanese competition. Pottery, rag rugs, some textiles, toys, earthenware and other important products from Japan easily overcome the tariff wall and undersell American goods. The Tariff Commission can perform good service for the country by studying this situation and suggesting a remedy.

SHARING AVAILABLE WORK.

Belief that the United States is approaching a basis of real stability is expressed by Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. As the great problem which remains is unemployment, he has left his private office for the present to take part in the campaign inaugurated by the White House conference to put more men back to work.

Mr. Teagle's optimism is not based so much upon the stock market rise as upon the fact that July and August retail sales increased to a remarkable degree. Confidence began to return, and the price trend in commodities and securities started up. "The reason was," he says, "that we had apparently reached a state of reasonable equilibrium and men instinctively felt that we could safely expect to go ahead."

The point is stressed by Mr. Teagle that the rate of advance out of the depression is dependent upon employment, and that the employer and employe, not Government agencies, must solve the problem; the real job being to convince employers that they have a definite responsibility in adjusting working crews and schedules to employ more people, by dividing the present volume among more workers. As chairman of the coordination committee of the "Share-the-Work" movement, Mr. Teagle and his associates are preparing for a campaign through New England. They are not urging adoption of any one of the various plans for shortening days or hours of work, but rather the adoption of any effective application of flexibility to the working period and the working force.

EUROPE'S GROWING BUDGETS.

The former prime minister of Italy, Francesco Nitti, in a critical survey of European countries concludes that public extravagance there and throughout the world is the most deeply rooted cause of the depression. Signor Nitti also finds that the countries of Europe have raised their tariffs from 100 to 700 per cent, largely because of the universal necessity of raising government incomes to match expenditures.

Before the war there were twenty-five European nations. Now there are ten more, with an immense extension of national boundaries and manifest additional cost of government. But that by no means explains the vast increase of governmental expenditure which has taken place. Nations apparently have acted on the assumption that the world war actually created wealth instead of destroying values of more than $200,000,000,000, to say nothing of the post-war dislocations in finance.

It is well known that despite these staggering losses government costs have greatly expanded in the last twenty years. Signor Nitti is more specific. He says that in France public expenditures have doubled since 1913, while in various other nations they have increased three and four times. Notwithstanding the disarmament of the vanquished nation, military appropriations are larger than they were before the war. While trade and values have shrunk, the nations carry heavier burdens of taxation than during the height of prosperity.

The rapidity with which national administrative costs have multiplied in recent years is startling. It is pointed out that England's public expenditures at the close of the eighteenth century amounted to about £60,000,000, and as in other countries, probably rose no faster than the general growth of production and wealth, only doubling in a century. In the last thirty years they have multiplied six times. France's national budget did not reach 1,000,000,000 francs until 1810. It required fifty years for it to double, and another fifty to double again. By 1914 the French budget exceeded 5,000,000,000 francs. It has now reached ten times that figure.

The inordinate growth of expenditures has not been limited to the countries directly engaged in the war. Switzerland's budget at the beginning of the century was about 400,000,000 francs, and is now four times that amount. Sweden's budget has grown from 130,000,000 crowns to 760,000,000 crowns. Even Germany, notwithstanding all her losses of territory and income and the payment of indemnities, is found to be spending for various forms of government four times as much as before the war.

Signor Nitti is convinced that "what has induced the various countries to adopt such absurd tariffs or, at least, what has made them possible, has been the increase of public expenditures; thus both economic solidarity and safety have disappeared entirely." The Nitti remedies include as a first necessity balanced budgets, but accomplished through economies, painful though they may be, rather than increased taxes; reduction of armaments for European nations, and elimination of protection absurdities. The protective tariff principle, which operates successfully for a large and self-contained nation like the United States is foolish when applied to a small country which has no raw materials upon which to build up home industries.

SOUTH AMERICAN PEACE.

It is gratifying to hear that peace negotiations have at last succeeded in bringing about agreements with Bolivia and Paraguay to cease hostilities in the Gran Chaco and submit the dispute regarding property rights and boundaries once more to a commission of neutral states. This result is a testimonial to the ceaseless efforts and tireless patience of the representatives of the five nations which have brought hostilities to an end after weeks of negotiation. A less determined and resourceful committee might well have abandoned hope of securing an agreement.

The arrangement as outlined provides for the immediate withdrawal of the armies of both Paraguay and Bolivia from the disputed area and complete demilitarization of the Chaco within the next three weeks, military effectives to be reduced by both nations to the minimum requirements for internal security. The neutral nations will send a commission to the Chaco to supervise compliance with evacuation agreements. Thus, it is to be hoped, ends what has appeared to outsiders to have been a senseless and useless sacrifice of more than a thousand lives in the Chaco fighting. The disputants must now take up the arbitration of their disputed claims just where they left off. The expenditure of life has been in vain.

It is too late for Bolivia and Paraguay to profit from this experience so far as past losses are concerned, but it should make them both more amenable to reason and compromise in the negotiations that are to follow. And the case of the Gran Chaco may well hold a lesson for several neighbors, including Peru and Colombia. Disturbances in Brazil, also, could be settled by peaceful negotiation. Both sides have lost heavily and are wasting not only lives but much treasure, and demoralizing business in a way the country can ill afford.

BOOTLEGGERS 200 YEARS AGO

By JACK BRYAN, in the Memphis Press-Scimitar.

"It being the nature of mankind to love everything that is prohibited * * *." Those familiar words were written more than 200 years ago by Joseph Addison in his now famous newspaper, the Tatler. And they were written apropos of poisonous bootleg liquor which two centuries back plagued the stomachs of merry England.

In his essay, "Trial of the Wine Brewers," Addison might have been writing of the United States today instead of England, which, at odds with France in the War of the Spanish Succession, had forbidden the importation of French wines. The result, Addison records, was "a certain fraternity of chymical operators, who work under ground in holes, caverns and dark retirements, to conceal their mysteries from the eyes and observations of mankind" and who could "squeeze Bordeaux out of a sloe, and draw champagne from an apple."

Through the testimony of a legitimate wine merchant, the Tatler discovers that these underworld gentlemen "do great injury, not only to her majesty's customs, but to the bodies of many of her good subjects."

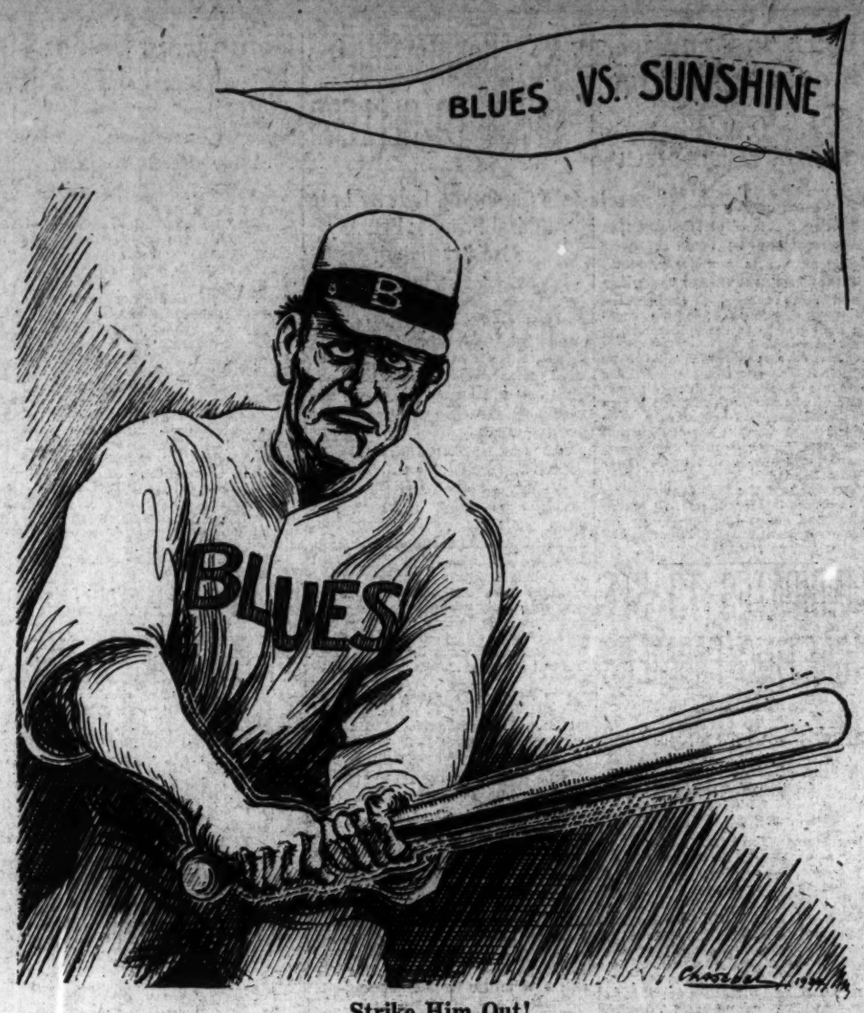
Before the Tatler's court, the masters of this bootleg art freely exhibited their talents, whereby one, Tom Tintoret, "took a glass of fair water; and by the infusion of three drops out of one of his phials, converted it into a most beautiful pale Burgundy." Thence he proceeded to transform it into the colors of the most luscious French wines.

Then another, "the famous Harry Sippet, stept out, and asked me what I would be pleased to drink? At the same time, he filled out three or four white liquors in a glass, and told me, 'That it should be what I pleased to call for,' adding very learnedly, 'That the liquor before him was as the naked substance or first matter of his compound, to which he and his friend, who stood over against him, could give what accidents or form they pleased.'"

Thereupon, at the Tatler's request, he conveyed the "naked substance" straight into Bordeaux by a magic infusion. But the Tatler, somewhat skeptical of the "sooty drug," decided first to try it on his cat, with the result that the liquor "had like to have cost her her life; for notwithstanding it flung her at first into freakish tricks, quite contrary to her usual gravity, in less than a quarter of an hour she fell into convulsions * * *."

More impressed by their frankness than by their liquors, which made them "a kind of assassins or murderers," the Tatler finally dismissed the defendants for the time "with a particular request, that they would not poison any of my friends and acquaintances * * *."

And for his own part, the judge resolved "to be very careful in my liquors, and have agreed with a friend of mine in the army, upon their next march, to secure me two hogsheads of the best stomach-wine in the cellars of Versailles, for the good of my lucubrations, and the comfort of my old age."



Strike Him Out!

POST HASTE.

Walter Walker has been appointed senator and Mickey Walker can now go into politics, but who was that other Walker who used to frequent the first page?

After Uncle Josephus Daniels' display of judgment at the legion convention his political prognostications must not be taken too seriously.

As we understand it Gov. Roosevelt will ban foreign competition in wheat and beef, limiting Argentina to sending us her automobiles and perfumery in exchange for our bananas and coffee.

If Norman Thomas isn't careful the country will get the impression that he is opposed to some of the principles of both the old parties.

So Wildman, alias Republican, Brookhart has decided to vent his spleen by trying to help elect a Democratic senator in Iowa.

When Al Smith gets ready to tell how he feels about the Democratic ticket we wager he will at least ask a trade last from the Governor on his bonus stand.

President de Valera summoned the league to the bar of public opinion, which was thoughtful, after his arraignment, as it probably wanted to call for a stiff bracer.

Between now and Congress the legion will meet some worthy foemen. In addition to the campaign of the National Economy League, the National Committee Against the Prepayment of the Bonus has also been organized.

Equilibrium puzzle: Pick six men who have been elevated to Democratic prominence in this campaign and try to balance them against Charles R. Crisp, ignominiously sidetracked in Georgia.

Our patriarchal visitor from Bombay says he is here to "inspire the people of America to lend support to India." Sorry, but he'll have to report to Gandhi that we have no interest in or from foreign loans at present.

Iowa produce farmers, Georgia milk farmers and Illinois coal miners all encounter the same American spirit opposing them when they not only refuse to sell their wares or labor, but tell others they shall not.

Gov. Roosevelt refers to Teddy's "square deal" and continually injects his own "new deal," but its angles are as yet obtuse.

After a three-day conference in New York the steering committee agreed to let Speaker Garner attend the world series after promising he would let off no cowboy yells.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

HIGH FORTUNE.

The man was pale of face and clad
In raiment worn and old
And it was plain to see he had
No great amount of gold,
And it was plain to see that he
Long since had ceased to strive
Or cherish dreams that he might be
The greatest man alive.

Beside the road beneath a tree
He sat as I came by,
He pointed out a flower to me
Which seemed to catch his eye!
"'Tis very beautiful," he said,
"Gaze on it while you may.
No matter what may lie ahead,
This joy is yours today."

He guessed at once my great surprise
So strange a speech to hear
And added: "No man knows what lies
Beyond to start the tear,
And who beholds a lovely thing
Along life's winding way
Or stops to hear a song-bird sing
Has had a lucky day."

Why Blame Colts for Enjoying a Run If You Took Their Bridles Off?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

It isn't possible to understand America unless you are aware of the change a half-century has made in the relation of the sexes.

In the time of our fathers, the husband was general manager, provider and protector. He paid the fiddler and exercised the immemorial right of calling the tune.

Perhaps that wasn't natural. The Brisbanal contention is that women are superior by nature because the male of a certain spider family is a mere parasite that is carried about by the giant female. Of course the obvious answer is that people aren't spiders. And however little man now deserves to rule, any arrangement that is universal and unchanging through the ages is apt to have the approval of nature.

Woman's rule developed quickly. Tardy justice and chivalry gave a little and vanity and cupidity took much. Given an inch the ladies took a mile—as all people do when they can.

Now the gentler sex is in the saddle. Married or single, women demand economic independence.

The husband's business is to earn money for his wife to spend. He still pays the fiddler, but he no longer calls the tune.

His wife is an "equal," and whether she spends his salary or earns a greater one for herself, she preserves her independence and he is the one who submits to authority.

Of course you can tell of many exceptions, but these don't count. The only class that reveals the effect of a new liberty is the one that is free to do as it pleases.

How has this class shown the effect of "sex equality" and "emancipation?"

Observe the changes in America's way of life and find some other explanation if you can.

Free women demanded a "single standard of sex morality," which meant the right to be as naughty as men. Soon they began to ridicule chastity. Any inclination to practice self-restraint was called a stupid inhibition.

Now there is a tendency to scorn the old-fashioned ceremony of marriage. Want of a kick is sufficient pretext for divorce. Having babies is a nuisance carefully avoided. Home is merely a place to sleep. Feminine fingers are stained with nicotine and women speak frankly of getting "high."

Maybe these things are evidence of progress. Maybe free women, by copying the ancient example of men, are lifting themselves to a higher plane. Opinions differ.

But this much is certain. The only way to judge a tree is by the fruit it produces. And if you rejoice in the present state of affairs, you must give full credit to the new birth of feminine freedom that made it possible.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Nero Out-Neroed.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The ridiculous artifices which are being used by campaigners here and there constitute one of the sorriest comments on present-day political methods. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate, is the latest to take literally to tub-thumping. Not to be outdone by Huey Long, who won Arkansas for Mrs. Caraway with phonograph records and amplifiers, Senator Robinson is touring his State with a set of comic characters he calls the "Arkansas Hillbillies." Equipped with saws, brooms, washtubs, fishpoles, suitcases and whatnot, they whang and beat away for the political edification of those who turn out for the Robinson meetings. Out in Kansas, Dr. J. R. Brinkley is campaigning for governor with a brightly painted truck and a "singing cowboy." Over in Illinois the people have just witnessed an amazing grotesquery, the Len Small-Big Bill Thompson showboat, with its attached Government barge for dancing, its kitchen band and its hoarse-voiced song leaders. Assuredly, we have come a long way from the time when Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas, as rival candidates, could go about together, debating issues before interested crowds that came from miles around. Nero, likewise, is left far behind. He used only one fiddle.

Political Strategy.
Detroit Free Press.

Will Hays, stopping off in Chicago, prophesied that President Hoover will be reelected; but added: "I'd have Mr. Hoover make a cross-country trip just as Mr. Roosevelt is doing. That is what I would do if I were managing the campaign. There is always the benefit from an intimate touch between the candidate and the voter." And they don't grow campaign managers who are any shrewder than Mr. Hays showed himself when he was in the game.

Not Too Grateful.
New York Times.

The Progressive Republicans in the Senate have been, as a rule, a nuisance and a curse to the regular Republicans. It would not be the worst of misfortunes if the Republican party could get rid of this excrescence and recover unity. Democrats will be grateful, but not too grateful, for Progressive aid. They might prefer that it should not be needed; that the prophets of a "landslide" should prove good guessers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Republicans Must Work Like Demons if They Are to Overcome Dissatisfaction and Desire for a Change.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If anybody with a knowledge of passing events can figure out how President Hoover is going to be reelected this year he is certainly a good one. There are 10,000,000 people out of work, 10,000,000 underpaid farmers and 3,000,000 dissatisfied Bonus veterans, to say nothing of hundreds of thousands of small merchants who have lost their trade and plenty of other dissatisfied groups. Where are the Hoover votes coming from?

Human nature is so constituted that the political party in power is usually blamed for whatever happens, be it good or bad. People who think are not swayed by these emotions, of course, but the people who think are in a vast minority, judging from past and present events. Therefore, my friends, prepare for the election of Franklin Roosevelt to succeed President Hoover, and don't be fooled by silly criticisms and "amused" jibes at Frank. Roosevelt has been Governor of New York State twice, and his activities in national affairs entitle him to the respect and serious consideration of every man, woman and child in the United States. Don't be misled by the grouchy attitude of sulking Al Smith or Mr. Roosevelt's Bostonese accent. I shall vote for Mr. Hoover, but fully expect Roosevelt to sweep the country. People have reached the state of mind where they want a change on the grounds that things could not be much worse. It is pitiful, but true, and reaches into every hamlet in the land.

There is still time for the Hoover managers to turn the tide of public thought, but it is going to take thousands of workers and a mighty effort. It can not be accomplished by the shallow methods now being pursued by the campaign directors. President Hoover's campaign needs life, snap and pep. At present it is suffering from weak knees, fallen arches and mental stuttering.

Relief Program Hampered by Progressives in Congress—Wreck of Tariff Would Wreck Industry, Too.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I hope the defeat of Gov. La Follette and Senator Blaine in Wisconsin will have a sobering effect on the Progressives left in Congress. Gov. La Follette's and Blaine's defeat has demonstrated that the people are beginning to realize that the Progressives in and out of Congress have intensified and prolonged the depression by taking every opportunity to make political capital out of the distress of the farmer and millions of unemployed.

I am one of the "forgotten men" over whom the Progressives and Democratic politicians shed crocodile tears, but I have intelligence enough to know that if President Hoover had supported their demagogic and pork-barrel measures the number now unemployed would have been trebled. I also know that if the Democratic presidential nominee is elected and is able to put his tariff policies in effect it will result in several million more American workers joining the ranks of the unemployed; a lower standard of living for all classes of people, and virtual bankruptcy for industries and agriculture.

If the Democratic party is victorious, I wonder how it will take care of the millions of people that will be destitute as a result of its tariff policy.

The history of past Democratic administrations has demonstrated that nothing sensible was ever done to relieve the jobless when they were in power. Blaming Mr. Hoover for this depression is unadulterated stupidity. His constructive program was hampered by the actions of those great friends (?) of the poor in Congress.

AMERICAN VOTER.

Many Horses Left in Spite of Motor Age, but Not Much Horse Sense in Traffic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That we still have 13,000,000 horses left is a statement by the American Horseshoers Association. It will stir tender memories of delightful buggy rides, jingling sleigh bells, the aristocratic coach with its spotted dog and restive span of high-steppers, the serviceable cab and the high-hatted cabby, the toppling hay wagon and the big brewery truck.

Perhaps there is an occasional gray-head who looks with excessive regret on the change the years have brought about. But if the picturesque equine aspect of street traffic is gone, we are almost repaid for the loss by a hundred times more horsepower than before. The account will be squared in full when we have acquired enough horse sense to exploit our horsepower so that it does not kill people by the thousands.

JIP GODDARD.

Depreciation Allowances Should Be Used to Replace Old Equipment and Buildings.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In view of the various proposals advanced to provide an increase in employment, the thought occurs to me of considering the plan of replacing obsolete or antiquated equipment and buildings for which allowances for depreciation are annually made in nearly every business.

By replacing equipment and buildings almost continuous employment would prevail.

In many instances amounts for depreciation have been transferred to surplus accounts, but if they were used for replacement of obsolete or dilapidated equipment and buildings the plan would provide employment of a distributed nature and in part create continuous employment.

STIMSON EXPLAINS LIBERIAN PROBLEM

Say U. S. Is Ready to Aid, but Sees Small Hope for World Action.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson yesterday telegraphed the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that the United States is ready to approve any practicable plan for dealing with the Liberian situation, "but in the absence of an adequate grant of authority by Liberia, feels that international cooperation would be futile."

Stimson said the League of Nations had suggested "supervision of Liberian administration by nonpartisan officials representing the enlightened nations of the world" after an international commission had reported conditions of forced slavery existed there.

"We have urged only that these officials be promised in advance sufficient authority to make them useful," he said. "* * * We have not proposed dictatorial powers, but we have been reluctant to see an assumption of responsibility by an international commission which has not been granted power to meet that responsibility."

Stimson's telegram was addressed to Walter White, secretary of the association, and W. E. B. DuBois, editor of The Crisis, both of New York City.

His message was in reply to a telegram from White and DuBois saying that if the State Department persisted in its present Liberian attitude "we should not be able to avoid attributing its position to the hostility of the Hoover administration to the Negro race," they charged the department with blocking the league plan and added:

"The same logic * * * would lead the present administration to embark upon a unilateral intervention in Liberia's affairs for the protection of the Firestone interests."

Stimson said, "The Firestone interests have no immediate connection with the present problem."

R.F.C. Loan Asked For Water Project

Suburban Sanitary Board Seeks $250,000 for Pumping Station.

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission has applied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of $250,000 to provide funds for construction of a 10,000,000-gallon pumping station at Burnt Mills and a 2-mile pipe line from Patuxent River to the headwaters of the Northwest Branch. The commission asks that the money be loaned for a period of twenty years at 4½ per cent interest.

The increased facilities would nearly triple the present 4,000,000-gallon capacity of the station and would provide ample water for suburban Montgomery and Prince Georges counties under all normal conditions, according to T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the commission.

The record consumption of the sanitary commission area was 7,000,000 gallons in the abnormally hot August weather of this year. The project had been studied and approved two years ago but was postponed because of the poor condition of the bond market. Robert B. Morse, chief engineer, is compiling engineering data requested by the finance corporation.

Clark Gable and Norma Shearer, as they appear in the roles of Ned Darrell and Nina Leeds, respectively, in M-G-M's picturization of "Strange Interlude," at the National Theater.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ALTHOUGH getting under way a full fortnight later than originally scheduled, the local theatrical season may be said to approach an auspicious inaugural at the National Theater next Monday night, when Eva Le Gallienne brings the Civic Repertory Theater Company of New York, one of the most notable engagements of the year, here in two of the most successful plays in the entire repertoire of the organization —"Liliom," by Molnar, and "Camille," by Dumas.

Neither play, to the best of my recollection, has been presented here in recent seasons. Washington's most vivid memory of "Liliom," with which the engagement will be begun Monday night, will hark back no further than the screen production in which Charles Farrell appeared in the title role, Rose Hobart, as Julie; Estelle Taylor, as Madam Muskat and Lee Tracy, as the Buzzard. That was two years ago.

The affiliation of Joseph Schildkraut with the Civic Repertory Company this season is especially noteworthy, since it makes possible the reunion of the artists who first appeared in the Molnar play in the Garrick Theater, New York, in 1921.

To refresh the memories of those who may not retain a vivid mental picture of the developments disclosed in the fanciful story, it may not be amiss to recall that the scenes of the play are laid in a carousal in Budapest—representing a sort of noisy composite of a modern amusement park and a county fair—a photographer's studio, a railroad embankment, Heaven—or, as Molnar puts it, "In the Beyond"—and a small house in the country. A large cast is required to give the author adequate expression.

Mr. Schildkraut, appearing in the role of Armand for the first time, also will play opposite Miss Le Gallienne in "Camille."

Another distinguished offering is booked for the week of October 10, at the National, in the surprise visit of the Theater Guild's production of "The Good Earth," adapted by Owen Davis from Mrs. Pearl S. Buck's Pulitzer novel, "The Good Earth," in which Mme. Alla Nazimova appears in the role of O-Lan.

Although Mrs. Buck, from lifelong familiarity, chose to set her story in China and make it the first of a trilogy—of which the second, "Sons," already is published—tracing the rise and fall of the house of Wang Lung, "The Good Earth" is universal in content and scope and virtually encompasses the whole story of human existence as it may pertain to a single generation. Wang Lung and his woman, O-Lan, are subjected to the trying vicissitudes of famine, pestilence, drought, flood, lust, revolution, sickness—everything in fact, but the destructive ravages of fire.

Readers of the book will be eager to learn with what skill Playwright Davis has managed to apprehend the emotional content of the novel and circumscribe it within the three walls of a stage, and how Nazimova may contrive to resemble a character whose physical contours, as described by Mrs. Buck, she does not at all seem to possess.

It should not be construed as a confession of unpreparedness that Pittsburgh and Washington have been added to the pre-Broadway itinerary of "The Good Earth." Following its Philadelphia premiere, it was found to need polishing only in the matter of pace. The question of tempo already has been attended to and the Guild is merely making assurance doubly sure by depriving New York of its first glimpse of what is confidently expected will be a substantial hit for an added two weeks. Washington will view "The Good Earth" not in a process of being carpentered but as a finished work of the first rank, fortified by a thoughtful and impressive production.

In conjunction with the first Washington presentations today of "A Bill of Divorcement," starring John Barrymore, supported by Billie Burke, Katherine Hepburn and a notable cast, at RKO-Keith's, will be shown a special reel picturing the D. A. R. group journeying to France to dedicate a plaque in memory of the French soldiers who fell in the Battle of Yorktown in our War of the Revolution. The reel also will include specially selected footages depicting the costume reproduction of the Battle of Yorktown, celebrated a few months ago on the historic site of the original conflict that freed the colonies.

For those tenacious souls so intent upon determining when and in what Alison Skipworth may next be seen on the screen, it should be said that "He Learned About Women," produced under the tentative and now abandoned title of "The Bookworm Turns," is soon to be released by Paramount with Stuart Erwin and Miss Skipworth in the featured roles. And beyond that, Alison Skipworth, Richard Bennett, W. C. Fields and Cecil Cunningham have been decided upon for the principal roles in Paramount's "If I Had a Million."

Richard B. Harrison, "the Lawd" of "The Green Pastures," Marc Connelly's sensationally successful drama, will today observe his sixty-eighth birthday in Boston, where the play is now in the fourth week of its record-breaking engagement at the Colonial Theater. Mr. Harrison became the thrill of Broadway in February, 1930, when in his sixty-sixth year he made his stage debut in this remarkable play, incidentally fulfilling the ambition of a lifetime by playing a role in a Broadway success.

He was born in London, Ontario, the son of refugee slaves who fled North to seek freedom in Canada. Tonight's performance will mark Harrison's 1,055th appearance in the role of "the Lawd."

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lampkin tossed a small rout Monday night in belated observance of the first anniversary of their marriage. This, I believe, should have come off on September 15, but was deferred by press of Mr. Lampkin's official duties at Loew's Fox. The congratulations, however, were just as good, held over a week. And so were the anchovies and caviar!

Mrs. Lampkin, by the way, formerly half of the vaudeville team of Sinclair and La Marr—the La Marr half, if you have to know everything—is considering a part in a new Shubert production which it is planned to put in rehearsal next month. She admits that the part is attractive, but is not sure that the apartment in the Fairfax is not more so!

When the Harold Lloyds sail for a European vacation soon, there will be Harold and the Missus, Mildred Davis, the three children, Harold's mother, his brother Gaylord and two nurses.

TAXES OF FAIRFAX UTILITIES $57,545

Valuation in County Higher, but Returns Are Lower, Due to Byrd Law.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 186.

A total of $57,545.84 in taxes will be paid to Fairfax County this November by the public service corporations. This tax is based on a valuation of $3,204,805 according to the figures sent the county commissioner of revenue by the State Corporation Commission.

The valuation of the public utilities last year was $3,052,706 and yielded a tax to the county totaling $78,783.27. The valuation of last year was increased for this year with the Virginia Gas Transmission Co., being listed for the first time. The holdings of this company which owns pipe lines carrying gas from West Virginia north are valued at $154,546 in the county which yields $3,638.41 in additional county taxes. Of this amount $688.48 will go to Centerville District and $2,950.33 to Dranesville District. The abolition of the county road tax by the creation of the State secondary highway system results in the corporations paying smaller taxes than last year.

The valuation of corporation holdings in Centerville district totals $313,054 and yields a tax of $4,382.76, as compared to a valuation of $260,523 and a tax of $6,122.29 last year. In Dranesville district this year the valuation is $231,677, yielding a tax of $6,486.95, compared with $139,045, yielding a tax of $4,727.53, last year. The valuation in Falls Church district of $970,375 yields $20,377.87 in taxes, compared with $977,112, yielding $29,313.36 in taxes, last year.

The valuation in Lee district this year is $587,513 and the tax $8,225.18, as compared with $583,607 and a tax of $13,131.16 last year. The corporation's valuation in Mount Vernon district this year is $601,247, with a tax of $9,619.96, compared to $606,041 and a tax of $14,848. The valuation in Providence district is $290,076, with a tax of $4,496.18, as compared with $276,161, paying $6,627.86 last year.

Chamber Urges Sewarage Funds

Will Ask Why Arlington Has Not Entered Plea to R. F. C.

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, meeting last night at Clarendon, instructed Charles W. Smith, chairman of the sanitation committee, to ascertain why the county authorities have not made an effort to borrow funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to finance construction of an adequate county-wide sewerage system.

The board also will make an effort to learn from county officials why there has not been a reassessment as provided by law. It was pointed out that the last assessment was made in 1925 and the law provides that there shall be one every five years.

Chairman Monroe H. Stockett of the road committee was instructed to learn if any progress is being made by the county to provide an adequate approach to the Arlington Memorial Bridge. He was also instructed to submit at the next meeting his recommendation as to what route will be most feasible to the new bridge.

Smith to Speak in Clarendon.

Representative Howard W. Smith, of the Eighth Virginia District, and Robert Barton, of Winchester, former member of the Virginia General Assembly, will be the principal speakers tonight at the first of a series of Democratic mass meetings to be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

Arlington Group Off to Richmond

Ashton Jones Will Apply for Lee Boulevard Surfacing.

A delegation headed by Ashton C. Jones, former president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, will go to Richmond today to confer with Col. H. G. Shirley, State Highway Commissioner, in an effort to have the State start work on surfacing the Lee Boulevard. Others in the group are William P. Ames, Arthur C. McMillen, J. D. McDonnell and L. R. Eakin.

The State has graded a large portion of the Boulevard through Arlington County, and efforts will be made to obtain the needed rights of way.

The county board, more than two months ago, started a movement which promised the needed rights of way but the project thus far has failed.

$13,000,000 GRANTED 4 STATES BY R. F. C.

Largest Sum Goes to Louisiana for Bridge Over Mississippi River.

Loans totaling $13,506,253 were granted yesterday by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for emergency relief in four States.

The largest grant was $13,000,000 to Louisiana and the Belt Railroad Commission of New Orleans. The money will be used for the construction of a rail and vehicular bridge across the Mississippi River.

An issue of 5 per cent bonds, recently voted by Louisiana to build the bridge, was purchased by the corporation. Work for 4,000 men during a period of three years will be provided with the erection of the bridge, it was declared.

Current emergency relief needs in Fulton County, Ga., were met with an advance by the corporation of $315,039. The money involved was loaned with the understanding that Fulton County, Atlanta and the State "will continue to make every possible effort to develop and maintain local responsibility," the corporation said.

Revenue bonds amounting to $105,000, of Madison, S. Dak., were accepted by the corporation for money to be used to construct an addition to the municipal electric light and power plant.

For relief in Klamath County, Oreg., an amount of $86,160 was advanced. Klamath Falls, it was pointed out, faces a heavy transient problem, with no large cities within 200 miles.

Arlington Republicans Plan Meeting Tonight

Meeting tonight at Powhatan Springs, Wilson Boulevard near Ballston, the Young Republicans of Arlington County will perfect organization with the appointment of precinct committees.

Arrangements will also be made to see that all young Republicans of the county are registered on or before October 8, the last day prior to the closing of the registration books. The organization will have as one of its main objectives getting out the vote on election day.

ALEXANDRIANS FIGHT $20 SEWER CHARGE

Northwest Citizens Assert Hooff's Run Project Is General Sanitation.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A committee from the Northwest Citizens Association of Alexandria, headed by Harold Abbey, appeared before the city council last night to urge that a recent ordinance requiring property owners in the northwest section of the city pay a charge of $20 for tapping the Hooff's Run sewer. This committee claimed that since the construction of the sewer was accomplished as a matter of general sanitation, and as the majority of property owners using this sewer purchased their property with the agreement that city service would be furnished, the tapping charge is unjust. The matter was referred to a special committee composed of Councilmen Davison, Cooper and King, for investigation.

Councilman Davison presented an ordinance amending the recently adopted city planning ordinance in reference to the selection of members of the planning commission.

Irving Diener, of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, presented its request that a department of public welfare be established. This matter was taken under consideration.

The city manager presented an estimate of cost of $2,110 for a concrete culvert over Hooff's Run at Simms street, and the council laid the matter on the table.

The council received from Carroll Pierce, chairman of the board of trustees of the council, transmitting checks from the four banks of the city aggregating $9,000, to meet the October 1 maturities of the bond issue of 1921, this money being paid out of the proceeds from the sale of the city gas plant.

A communication was received from Clarence E. Ridley, executive director of the International City Managers Association, inviting the mayor and city manager to the annual session of the association in Cincinnati October 24 to 26. The city manager was authorized to attend.

A petition from George H. Hayden for improvement of Craik street was referred to the standing committee for consideration in connection with the next budget. A request of Samuel Arnett for rezoning of the south side of the 500 block Oronoco street was referred to the city manager.

W. Thayer; Glencarlyn, Mrs. Helen B. Haller; Ballston, Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers; Clarendon, No. 1, Mrs. Clara L. Nevin, and Clarendon, No. 2, Mrs. Joseph Haley.

Body of Missing Man Is Found in Potomac

The body of William R. Beeton, 74, was found floating in the Potomac River yesterday morning by Clarence D. Mason and Robert Posey, both Alexandrians, who were fishing off the wharf at the foot of Princess street, in Alexandria. They notified the police, who notified Acting Coroner Dr. C. A. Amos. A verdict of accidental drowning was given.

The police Monday received a request to search for Mr. Beeton, who had been missing from his home in Alexandria since Saturday. Mr. Beeton was a native of Lexington, Va. Besides his wife, Mrs. Mattie H. Beeton, he is survived by the following children: M. L. Beeton, Lexington; Robert D. Beeton and Guy Beeton, Washington; Frank E. Beeton, Lionel E. Miss Dunne is little short of perfect in the role of Ray Schmidt, the luckless girl who missed happiness and "respectability" by the narrowest of chances, and John Boles' future performances no doubt will be measured against the standard which he sets here. His ... is tremendous."

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 27.—What manner of man is this Max Schmeling, who can take a beating for seven rounds and whip his man into such a helpless state that there is no opponent to answer the bell for the ninth? And no lucky punches!

Just a fighting machine, that is Schmeling, hewing to well defined plans of battle until his moment arrives. Thus it was last night against Mickey Walker, who in one round was rendered hors de combat as completely as if he had been hit by all the gloves in Stillman's gymnasium.

Schmeling Headed Back To Championship.

Max Schmeling is headed back to the heavyweight championship as surely as the day will break tomorrow. There is nothing on the fistic horizon to impede his march to another match with Jack Sharkey and when that bout eventuates, this department expects to see the German become the only man in heavyweight history to reclaim a lost world title, the unsuccessful bids of Corbett, Jeffries, Johnson, Willard and Dempsey, notwithstanding.

Against Mickey Walker, Schmeling last night gave the most methodical and effective show of fighting that this column has ever been privileged to see. For eight rounds, he fought with Spartan restraint, even to the point of taking a beating on points, until he was ready to call on his talent to the fullest. Then the tide turned, swiftly, dramatically.

This guy Walker was the roughest, the toughest hombre that Schmeling had ever met. He mauled Max in the in-fighting and beat him to the punch. He brought those short, pudgy arms up and around in uppercuts and hooks and reached Max's face and body heavily from the outset. He made full use of the craft gleaned in fourteen years in the ring and he made Max cover in every round. Yet Schmeling continued to fight well within himself.

German Lets Walker Have Share of Glory.

Walker stung Schmeling in every round, defying the consequences on Max's right hand, yet the German was content to let Mickey have his half hour of glory until the moment to take the lead presented itself.

Schmeling's moment arrived in the eighth. His plan of attack took an abrupt change. He even affected ferocity in his looks as he left his corner at the bell and met Walker more than halfway for the first time during the fight. Max never ceased in his strife as he planted a stiffening left into Mickey's eye. He whipped a right to Mickey's chin and Mickey was down. Mickey was up at six and Max was now the killer. A storm of lefts and rights put Mickey down for nine.

With his face a gory mask, Walker was beaten ere a minute of the round had passed. His brave attempts to fling punches as he

20-Hole Upset In Women's Title Golf

Miss Wall Beats Mrs. Hill, Western Titleholder.

Mrs. Hurd and Miss Browne Surprise Golf Victims.

By BILL KING

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The younger generation in women's golf put on a wild surge today in the opening round of the national championship match play on the Salem course, where three of the game's outstanding veterans learned that even their great skill could not quench the fires of youthful ambition.

The gallery had hardly recovered from the shock of the extra-hole victory that young Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, scored over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who gained the first of her three national titles in 1909, when long-hitting Charlotte Glutting, of Short Hills, N. J., defeated Mary K. Browne, of golfing and tennis fame, by one up on the last green.

Mrs. Hill Beaten On Twentieth.

To complete the rout of the veterans, Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., a more seasoned performer than the other two conquerors, avenged herself for previous defeats by forcing Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, holder of the Western title, out of the tourney by beating her at the twentieth hole to gain the match by one up.

Three more of the other fifteen matches went into overtime play and two others were decided on the last green. The outstanding favorites, however, were not forced to such extremes. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, five times champion in the last ten years, had an easy day playing the par golf that defeated Mrs. Karl F. Scheidt, of Norristown, Pa., by a 7 and 5 margin.

Glenna holed a 25-foot putt for an eagle three on the 411-yard first and sent her second shot, with a No. 3 iron, dead to the pin to gain another eagle on the dogleg fourth, a 38-yarder.

Mrs. Meckley Bows to Miss Van Wie.

These two sensational bursts of skill enabled her to play the 1 t outward nine of the day, a par 38, and reach the turn four upon her rival. She then played the next four holes in the regulation fashion to wind up the match.

Enid Wilson, the British champion, the longest hitting and most feared player in the title quest, played without strain to advance in a 5 and 4 victory over Elizabeth Skinner, of Holyoke. She took 40 on the outward nine, two over par, but good enough to put her three up on Miss Skinner, who was able only to halve three of the last five holes of the match.

The comedalists in the qualifying play, which blew Helen Hicks, the defending champion, out of the match play, were equally impressive. Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., trounced Frances Snyder, of Rye, N. Y., 5 and 3, and Virginia Van Wie, the Chicago star, overwhelmed Mrs. Hartley B.

CANZONERI BOUT DELAYED.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The ten-round nontitle fight between Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, and Lew Kirsch, scheduled for tonight at the Queensboro Stadium, today was postponed to Thursday because of rain and cold weather.

D. C. Colleges Busy on Grid

G. W. to Play Friday Night, G. U. Opens Year Saturday.

Maryland, C. U. List Contests Away From Home.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THE District's long football fast will be smashed to smithereens over the week-end when Griffith Stadium echoes to the raucous sounds of two football games, and when many District fans follow the remaining D. C. grid squads to the scenes of their out-of-town games.

The busy week-end starts Friday night at 8 o'clock when the rampaging Colonials of George Washington University, imbued with new-found confidence as a result of trouncing Washington and Lee last week, will meet up with the heavy Westminster College eleven.

Saturday afternoon Georgetown University will unfurl its fifty-seventh football team since the game started at the Hilltop, meeting Mount St. Mary's, in a game which may be an eye-opener to hundreds of fans who have their doubts about the caliber of the Hoya squad this year.

Maryland Busy at Virginia.

Upon the same afternoon Maryland University engages its perennial rival, Virginia, at Charlottesville, in what promises to be a truly close and exciting game, with Virginia all too eager to atone for four straight defeats at the hands of the Old Liners, last year's by a cruel 7-6 margin.

Catholic University plays City College of New York Saturday in New York, and should bowl over the New Yorks in easy fashion, for the Cardinals this year have a team which does not play in the same league with the likes of C. C. N. Y.

The George Washington-Westminster game will be one of the four night games the Colonials will play this year, and one of the five to be played in Washington this season, the other college concerned being C. U., which meets Duquesne at night at Griffith Stadium later in the year.

Playing behind a canvas inclosure, Georgetown went at it heavily yesterday afternoon. Coach Tom Mills selected a mixed team of regulars and subs and pitted them against a similar squad, and the two clubs played as if the plight of the world depended on them.

Viskovitch Impresses At G. U.

Nick Viskovitch, of whom much probably will be written before the season is old, looked good on the offense yesterday. The burly half back, holding perhaps the most important position in the Hoya back field, left half, was all but unstoppable through the line yesterday, while Al Kelly skirted the ends for long, sweeping runs. On the defense John Shimmins, half back, was unmoving and Dick Danner and Fred Callaghan ably held up their reputations for defensive play.

Two more players have joined the Maryland squad and the roster is now complete at 38. They are John Scott, reserve center last year, and Bob Snyder, a junior back. Scott's arrival will permit Coach Curley Byrd to shift John Mitchell, who won his letter at center last year, to guard, where he seems to perform this year in better style. Snyder is a versatile athlete, being a star on the basket ball and lacrosse teams.

The opening line-up at Charlottesville Saturday will read Vincent and Wood, ends; Silber and Keenan, tackles; Farrell and McDonald, guards; Webb, center; Poppelman, Nelson, Kiernan and Woods, backs. Silber is taking Rouzer's place in one tackle, while the regular is at home because of sickness in his family.

Advance publicity from Virginia tells of Coach Dawson's labors to devise a means of stopping Earl Widmyer, speedy Maryland half back, but the speedy one is not among the first-string backs.

McVean, C. U. Star, Injured.

Coach Dutch Bergman, at Catholic University, had a chance to thank his lucky stars for his reserve material yesterday when Charlie McVean, regular quarter back, passer and kicker, went out of circulation with a badly twisted ankle, which probably will keep him out of Saturday's game.

Bergman tried two sophomores in McVean's place and both showed well. One was Gene Augusterfer, sturdy former St. John's player, who showed great aggressiveness, and Pat Montague, slim Minneapolis youth, whose kicking stood out well. Tom Whelan is likely to do the passing Saturday, and if Augusterfer beats out Montague for the job, Buster Sheary, full back, will do the kicking.

RAIN PREVENTS GOLF.

Rain yesterday forced postponement of play in two women's golf championships. The Congressional Country Club tournament, now in the semi-final stage, will be resumed today, weather permitting, while the qualifying round in the annual Manor championship, which Mrs. E. M. McLelland is defending, will commence this morning.

MARYLAND'S GOLF TITLE AT STAKE

Open Event Today at Columbia Draws Fine Field.

LEADING pros and amateurs from the Middle Atlantic section will battle for gold and glory today at the Columbia Country Club course in the annual Maryland State Golf Association open championship, which was won last year by Ralph Beach, of the Suburban, of Baltimore.

Thirty-six holes will be the test, with the first threesome to tee off at 9 o'clock this morning and returning for the second half at 1 o'clock. To Al Houghton, Kenwood pro; George Diffenbaugh and D. H. Boyden will go the honor of starting the fireworks.

Beach, With 148, Won Last Year.

Beach, whose 148 at Congressional in 1931 enabled him to nose out Archie Clark and Alex Taylor by one stroke for first prize money, is paired with B. Warren Corkran, State amateur champion, and T. F. Cole. They will leave the tee at 9:42.

The Maryland open is regarded next to the National Capital open scheduled at Kenwood November 10 and 11, as the richest purse in this section. More than $600 in cash prizes will be awarded pros today, with suitable trophies to go to amateurs. Post entries will be accepted at the first tee.

Ernie Caldwell, Middle Atlantic champion from Hillendale, is among the topnotch simon-pure golfers competing. J. W. Harvey, jr., elongated amateur ace from Indian Spring, entered his name yesterday to become the fifteenth District player to compete.

Beach Has Practice Rounds Of 70—73.

Ralph Beach pounded out a 70—73 during two rounds on Monday, while George Diffenbaugh, little Indian Spring tutor, reported a 71 and Al Houghton, a 72. Al Treador, of Manor, went around in 75. Cliff McKimmis, of Hagerstown, breezed home with 33—39—72.

Counting eleventh-hour entries, a field of close to 60 is expected to participate. Thus far only 43 are entered. Golf observers are of the opinion 146 will win first prize money. Columbia has a par of 70.

Vines Ranked No. 1 By British, French

Allison Rated Fourth and Sutter Fifth; Mrs. Moody Honored.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Europe has accepted Ellsworth Vines, jr., as the world's greatest tennis player on the strength of his successive victories over Henri Cochet, of France, former world champion, during the past season.

A. Wallis Myers, tennis expert for the London Daily Telegraph, has placed the lanky American champion at the top of his ranking list for 1932, and French fans and officials have, with deep regret, admitted the Pasadena pounder is the peer of their own Cochet.

Both Myers and L'Auto, largest Parisian sports publication, not only place Vines at No. 1, but accord the United States a total of three places in the world's first five by naming Wilmer Allison at No. 4 and Clifford Sutter at No. 5. Both rank Mrs. Helen Wills Moody No. 1 among the world's women stars and Helen Jacobs No. 2.

Managers of Rival Teams Say - - -

CHARLEY GRIMM, OF CUBS:

"It's going to be a great series, and, naturaly, I think we'll win. I won't attempt to say how many games it will go, but we're going to do our best to grab these first two games here and then finish it at Wrigley Field.

"My men aren't scared of the Yankee hitters. We have confidence in our pitchers. We don't expect them to stop a bunch of hitters like the Yanks. Not entirely. But we can go out and get a few runs ourselves. If we didn't feel we have the best team and will win, there wouldn't be any use playing the series.

"Guy Bush is my choice for tomorrow, with Lon Warneke likely to pitch the second game. If it stays cool like this, Bush should win.

JOE McCARTHY, OF YANKEES:

"It's a toss-up, to my mind, a great natural series between the two biggest cities in the country.

"There's no telling whether it will be a pitchers' or a hitters' series. We've got the hitting edge, but sometimes that doesn't mean much in a short series like this. The big hitters are liable to belt every ball right at a fielder at a critical moment.

"I think we'll win all right. There isn't a limp or a gimp on the club. We're in grand shape from top to bottom.

"I haven't the faintest idea what my pitchers will be after the first game. I've got to wait and see what happens. But you can safely say that Ruffing will start the opening game for us."

DONOVAN IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

May Lose Hand as Result; Two Others Are Injured.

RARITAN TOWNSHIP, N. J., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Three men, prominent in Washington, D. C., sports circles, were injured tonight when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck on the superhighway at Amboy avenue.

The fourth man in the Washington party, Charles E. Connell, of 109 B street southeast, driver of the car, escaped uninjured. The party was returning to Washington from New York, after seeing the Walker-Schmeling fight.

The men injured are:

E. J. McCarthy, 509 E street northeast, who is in the Perth Amboy City Hospital with severe lacerations. He will be held in the hospital for several days for observation, it was said.

Donovan May Lose Hand.

Patsy Donovan Koontz, known as Patsy Donovan, 704 Maryland avenue northeast, who was taken to the Middlesex General Hospital. He also sustained severe lacerations. Police said one of his hands might have to be amputated.

Benjamin Ladis, 3525 Davenport street, received first-aid treatment after the accident and was discharged. He suffered minor lacerations.

Police said the cause of the accident had not been ascertained. Both vehicles were traveling in the same direction when the collision occurred.

Connell, Donovan and McCarthy are promoters of the boxing shows which have been staged at the Twin City Arena, Laurel. Donovan long has been identified with the boxing game, having a stable of fighters among whom is Donald (Red) Barry, promising Washington heavyweight, who was beaten by Bob Godwin in one of the preliminaries on the Schmeling-Walker card in New York Monday night.

Rain, Cold Weather Predicted for Opener

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Showers and continued cool weather were predicted tonight for the opening day of the world series tomorrow.

The official prediction from the New York Weather Bureau was that today's damp, chilly weather would be followed by more intermittent rains and even cooler weather Wednesday night. The prediction for Thursday was "fair and somewhat cooler."

League flag with Grimm's Cubs in 1929, only to go down before the Athletics in five games in the ensuing world series.

Grimm minimizes the knowledge of the Cubs that McCarthy may have carried with him to the American League, for the Chicago line-up is vastly changed from the team that represented the city three years ago.

Bush Is Coolest Under Fire.

For his first-game choice, Grimm has selected in Guy Bush not his best pitcher but his most trustworthy one, for the slender Mississippian, the lone Chicago pitcher to beat back the Athletics in 1929, is the coolest article of the Cubs' pitching corps, a consistent winner this season and the least likely to be feazed by the ominous line-up that includes Combs, Ruth, Gehrig, Chapman and Lazzeri. Ice water seems to run in the veins of Bush out there on the pitching mound.

Grimm might have chosen Lon Warneke, his rookie sensation, who won 22 games and lost but 6, but he is holding Warneke for the second game, confident the lack of a southpaw to throw in against the five left-handed Yankee sluggers will not harm the Cubs' cause.

Neither has McCarthy turned to the pick of his pitching heroes, Lefty Vernon Gomez or Young Johnny Allen. But in Charley Ruffing he has nominated the craftiest and most experienced of his three top-liners, possessor of a burning fast ball that is rarely served in the National League, and, when right, as effective a pitcher as any in the majors. Ruffing, too, is a hitter of note, and his presence will not necessitate the use of a pinch hitter in his stead.

Offering in rebuttal to the Yankees' murderous cast of sluggers, the Cubs boast Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, Gabby Hartnett and Grimm himself, all able to pound the ball over the fences and break up a ball game. Cuyler has been the dynamite in the Cubs' whirlwind dash to the pennant with his extra-base hits winning the close games that gave the Cubs their margin.

Koenig, Former Yank, Now With Cubs.

Back in New York on the scene of his past heroics with the Yankees, will be Mark Koenig, now a member of the Cubs' cast at shortstop, brought back from the Pacific Coast League to bolster the Chicago inner defense, and whose play has served the Cubs well. His presence is calculated to steady the play of young Bill Herman, breaking into his first world series at second base.

Frank Crosetti at shortstop will be receiving his world series baptismal, flanked at third base by the veteran Joe Sewell and at second base by the irrepressible Tony Lazzeri, with Lou Gehrig at first, rounding out an infield rich in postseason experience with the exception of Crosetti.

Babe Ruth's complete recovery from his appendicitis attack has rounded out the Yankees' home-run forces, than which there are none greater in baseball. With Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Tony Lazzeri, Ben Chapman, along with Ruth, a potential home-run hitter on every appearance at the plate, and little Joe Sewell also finding a home-run role becoming this season, the Cubs must rely on pitching to win. They can hardly hope to outslug the Yankee array.

Mayor McKee will throw out the first ball at 1:30 o'clock.

Cold, Damp Weather Keeps Clubs Away From Practice.

Opener to Be Played If It Is Not Raining at 1:30 P.M.

By ALAN GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—In a setting that may lack its customary jam and jubilee, unless the weather and box-office conditions take a quick turn for the better, the battle for world series baseball "gold and glory" will start tomorrow for the purpose of determining whether the New York Yankees have the power to overthrow the hustling Chicago Cubs.

For reasons not quite clear to the innocent bystanders, the Yankee will go into their seventh world series at least 9-to-5 favorites to bring the big banner back to the American League, despite the well-known illness of their biggest batting threat, Babe Ruth, and the lately developed shakiness of their pitching staff. If it's power alone that establishes the New Yorkers so firmly as preseries favorites, the Cubs feel convinced they have the speed, pitching craft and fighting spirit to offset it.

Ruffing-Bush Mound Duel Promised.

Aside from all the inevitable arguments before the battle, however, the salient prospects are for a pitching duel between Guy Bush of the Cubs and Charley (Red) Ruffing of the Yankees for the opening games. Showery weather and a turnout of cash customers not likely to exceed 40,000, unless there is an unexpected last-minute "break" in the weather and a consequent rush for the turnstiles.

Box-office conditions were not improved by today's cold, dismal outlook. The rain and chilly weather kept the Cubs, who arrived at 10 a. m., as well as the Yankees, from risking their muscles in any workouts at the Yankee Stadium.

Unless there is something more than a shower, however, tomorrow's opener will go on at 1:30 p. m. with Mayor Joseph V. McKee tossing out the first ball and a notable crowd, including Speaker John N. Garner, assembled along the side-lines, even if the big American League park is away short of its capacity of 69,000 customers.

If a postponement is necessitated, the series getaway will be put back to Thursday, with the second game here Friday, and the opening of the three-game set in Chicago starting Sunday.

Despite the slump in the sale of 35,000 reserved grandstand and box seats, Baseball Commissioner Landis today rejected the suggestion of the Yankee officials that the club be permitted to sell single-game pasteboards instead of continuing to offer them on the customary three-game basis.

Landis Declines to O. K. Ticket Change.

The regulations call for a purchaser to put down $16.50 or $19.80, depending on whether he wants a reserved grandstand seat or a box chair, for the first, second and sixth games,

HER GRACE HANDY WINNER IN HAVRE DE GRAW FEATURE

Second in Row For Parr's Mare

Con Amore Is Second and Duchess of Marlboro Third.

Parry Sulks and Is Never a Factor in the Running.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 27.—Her Grace, handled by that Washington combination of Jockey Sonny Workman and Trainer Elmer Trueman, showed one of the smallest crowds of the meeting that her recent good form is of the holding kind. The daughter of Bright Knight slopped down the stretch under a fair hold by Workman to win by 3½ lengths over the three others which accepted the issue in the Martha Washington, today's feature race.

Her Grace went to the post the favorite and divided honors for easy victories with Hygro.

Parry, the red-hot second choice, was the chief offender in a delay of 8 minutes at the post. The Peter Pan filly broke out of the parade line and stood for a while scanning the odds board, which showed her 2 to 1.

Parry Never Factor In Race.

From that point, Parry was a very bad actor, ending up on the outside with a twitch in her nose. She broke slowly and was never a factor. Duchess of Marlborough surprised by leading the pack around the stretch turn but Her Grace soon swung to the front. Workman rated her along, looked back over his shoulder at the last quarter pole and then pulled in on the Parr mare. Con Amore caught the tiring Duchess for the place.

The rain during the night left the track a sea of slop, resulting in many scratches.

The secondary feature, The Montpelier, gave the favorite players a shock when Anubis, running for Tommy Rodrock, defeated Semaphore, the odds-on choice, to pay off with a $29.80 mutuel. Big Beau was third.

Coucci's claim that Todd, on the winner, cut him off at the clubhouse turn, was disallowed.

Keep Out Scores in Opener.

Keep Out brought the William Ziegler, jr., colors a victory in the opener as a field of a dozen 2-year-old maidens slopped their way 6 furlongs. Keep Out came from behind to take the race in the stretch. Parade Step tired after setting a fast early pace. Considerate, a long shot, was second, and Prince Abbott, another moon shot, third. Keep Out was the favorite.

The ancient Johnny McTaggart came back to ride Tinema to victory in the second race, leading from start to finish, to have a head advantage over Apprehensive, with Pilter, of the Vanderbilt-Sagamore entry, third. Pilter moved up steadily, but the colt lost his chance when Bejshak steered him along the rail in the deepest going. Sweet Chariot, Workman up, and the other half of the entry, finished far back after breaking with the leaders.

Hygro proved a worthy odds-on favorite, coasting home ahead of three others in The Virginian, the third race. The time of 1:12 1-5 was remarkable under the conditions. The others followed as they broke—Curacao, Polonaise and Some Knight.

Black Patricia made a show of the field in the sixth, while William T finished strong to win the final going away.

Practitioners' Golf Honors to Mac Myers

Mac Myers added a 140 to his 147 of the opening day to carry off the practitioners' trophy and top honors yesterday in the 72-hole handicap tournament sponsored by the In-Com Co Club at the Manor course.

Myers, who is a member at Manor, led H. D. Folson, who posted 149, 143—292. W. W. Seay, with 149, 148—297, was third.

Results of others who qualified the first day follow:

F. R. Finn, 144—156—300; S. N. Mills, 148—153—301; G. V. Lovering, 154—150—304; J. F. Sheehan, 149—155—304; N. C. Trowbridge, 151—155—306; S. A. Rosin, 158—149—307; S. T. Rohm, 151—157—308; C. L. Two-dollar mutuels paid—KEEP OUT, $5.80, $4.10, $3.90; CONSIDERATE, $18.80, $14.20; PRINCE ABBOT, $19.60.

KEEP OUT, assuming a forward position at once, moved to the pacemakers when ready, wore CONSIDERATE down when straightened into the home stretch and came away in the closing furlong. CONSIDERATE drew into a clear lead when midway of the turn, came out into the firmer footing and held on well when overtaken. PRINCE ABBOT, a slow breaker, reached contention rapidly, but weakened during the final drive after his early efforts. STANDOUT was unable to enter into a contending position. BODKIN closed a good gap. POSTPONEMENT tired after five furlongs. FETCH and PARADE REST stopped.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:54. Winner, Bany Vail Stable's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TINEMA, $11.00, $6.60, $3.80; APPREHENSIVE, $23.70, $6.50; PILTER, $2.30.

TINEMA sprinted into a commanding lead at once, showed good speed in the footing, came out into the middle of the track for the stretch run and, under strong urging, just managed long enough. APPREHENSIVE, away forwardly, came through a wide opening entering the home stretch and was wearing the winner down fast nearing the end. PILTER, vigorously ridden all the way, continued gamely in the final drive. BOBBING rushed hard to reach a forward position, but evenly after the initial furlong. GOLDEN SHIP, sluggish and badly outrun early, closed stoutly when in her best stride. DOUBTLESS closed an immense gap. SWEET CHARIOT did not appear to favor the footing. DUNAIR stopped.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Virginian. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:26. Winner, Nevada Stock Farm's ch. c. (3), by Espinard—Ruddy Light. Trained by R. F. Carman, jr. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 2-5, 0:46 1-5, 1:12 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HYGRO, $2.90, $2.30, out; CURACAO, $2.70, out; POLONAISE, out.

HYGRO, outclassing his field, went into an easy lead and drew out at will while in hand. CURACAO, always in nearest attendance of the winner, was forced to a stiff drive in the final furlong to withstand POLONAISE. Latter was racing gamely in the final stages. SOME KNIGHT was held safe.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500; allowances. The Martha Washington. For fillies, 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 4:03. Winner, R. Parr's ch. m. (5), by Bright Knight—Markiluna. Trained by E. Trueman. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:42, 1:46 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HER GRACE, $4.70, $3.00, out; CON AMORE, $2.80, out; DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH, out.

HER GRACE, in splendid condition, was taken in hand when reaching the first turn, shook off DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH without effort and held away thereafter to win under stiff restraint. CON AMORE, rated along for six furlongs, was held perfectly safe when put to a drive. DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH, rushed hard on the inside to take command in the first five furlongs, held on well when shaken up. PARRY, fractious and breaking slowly from the outside, was unable to menace the leaders.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; allowances. The Montpelier. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 4:35. Off at 4:37. Winner, T. Rodrock's ch. c. (3), by Ed Crump—Immortelle. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:46.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANUBIS, $29.80, $7.10, $3.70; SEMAPHORE, $3.00, $2.30; BIG BEAU, $2.60.

ANUBIS crossed over sharply impeding SEMAPHORE going to the first turn, went along steadily when in command and, responding willingly to punishment, withstood SEMAPHORE. Latter overcame interference at the first turn, went to the winner determinedly when entering the home stretch, but weakened approaching the finish. Coucci made a claim of foul which was not allowed. BIG BEAU came with belated speed after falling far out of contention. YANCEY showed a good effort. WELL PLAYED was never dangerous. POLO BAR did not figure in the final.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds foaled in Maryland. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:10. Winner, R. BLACK PATRICIA sprinted into an easy lead, stalled off HAGERSTOWN and drew out easily in the final quarter mile. BOKIE B. worked her way up stoutly when reaching the back stretch and closed gamely to be safely in front. COLOSSAL, slow to get started, finished strong in the final issue. BOSCOBEL was unable to improve her position. HAGERSTOWN was used up forcing the pace and weakened fast when reaching the home stretch. MAJOR GENERAL was done early.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place ridden out. Went to post at 5:40. Off at 5:41. Winner, W. E. WILLIAM T., taken to the outside at once, gained fast when midway of the back stretch, reached the leaders when straightened into the home stretch and drew out steadily. GENERAL LEJEUNE, keep close to KLIP DRIFT, wore the latter down when hard urged, but could not withstand the winner. KLIP DRIFT, punished to take command, had good speed, but tired in the final quarter mile. MONOCLE, slow to get going, made up ground stoutly. DON TASKER went forwardly and had no mishaps. SYRIAC could never reach contention.

Pennsylvania Lifts Mat Ban on Londos

Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission announced today that it had voted to recognize Jim Londos as wrestling champion of the world.

At the same time, Commissioner Robert Nelson announced the lifting of a ban on Londos which prevented him from wrestling in Pennsylvania.

The twin decisions favorable to Londos, commissioners said, resulted after Ed (Strangler) Lewis and his manager failed to attend a commission meeting and press a claim that Londos should be banned from the State and as a world title claimant until he met Lewis.

Lou Daro, Los Angeles, offered evidence which indicated, the boxing solons ruled, that Lewis was under contract to meet Londos on the Coast, but failed to appear for the match.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, SEPT. 27.

Things picked up a bit here today. Principally, because I had four winners and not a first choice out of the money. However, tomorrow's another day and a tougher card, but I'll be around battling for you.

What a field named for the $20,000 Eastern Shore tomorrow. The entries read like they have rounded up every juvenile that's broke its maiden. Twenty-eight are entered but a field of not more than 15 is expected to go to the post. AL.

FIRST RACE—METAURUS has had a lot of racing experience and has been close many times. An off track should not hinder his chances. STEALING AWAY may improve off that last to take the place. AL JOLSON showed a flash of speed last week and may be the dangerous one.

SECOND RACE—My old friend CHOSEN PAL has a very good chance in this with a soft track to ease her ailing dogs. That last is hardly true. MARPLOT and FORT DEARBORN are back after victories and will be the ones to beat.

THIRD RACE—MISS CORRINE drops down several pegs and should lead these home. BUBOLA seems to be in shape and should take the place money. MOCKER'S last was a beaut. BLACK PATRICIA and BOKIE B ran one, two today and if sent back are dangerous.

FOURTH RACE—MARGARET MC has shown she is a fit horse now and appears to be a good bet. STAR LASSIE showed speed in Chicago and likes the going. THOUGHTS had speedy trials and may upset the top pair.

FIFTH RACE—TECHNIQUE (I may have to eat this one after the race), has a good chance for the big money, I do believe. Qualified with a handy victory here and is on the improve, the clockers say. Set all the pace for LADYSMAN at Chicago and gets a fine shift in the weights. LADYSMAN for the place and CATERWAUL for third. KERRY PATCH takes on weight and will miss that straightaway course.

SIXTH RACE—JOLLY PILOT, in addition to that fine race the other day, moves up on an off track and will be mighty hard to beat here. DODGSON and UNENCUMBERED are the ones to fear.

SEVENTH RACE—RUANE likes the track distance and is fit as 'hat last victory indicates. POTENTATE and GARLIC for the rest. GENERAL LEJEUNE is a threat if sent back.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE FORGOTTEN MAN.

I AM the Forgotten Man.

* * * * *

I'VE BEEN forgotten so long I forgot the time when the forgetting began.

* * * * *

THE MAIN trouble is that my landlord remembers me.

* * * * *

AND I am never overlooked by the income tax collector.

* * * * *

THE MORTGAGE holder, the butcher and the gas meter reader never let me slip their minds.

* * * * *

THE COLLECTOR for the Time-Payment auto recalls me, and the song of the bill collectors is "I remember, I remember."

* * * * *

I AM the Man Nobody Knows, always excepting the writer of those "Please remit" letters.

* * * * *

I WORK hard for very little money and my wife forgets to run the house on a budget.

* * * * *

I GO to work with the birds and return when the cows come home, but the kiddies forget that I can't sleep while the radio is on.

* * * * *

I LIVE honestly, decently and honorably, but the neighbors forget me when they throw a swanky party, a wedding, a house-warming or a clambake.

* * * * *

I AM a commuter and have ridden on the same road for seventeen years, but the railroad forgets me when it comes to a matter of arranging a decent schedule and giving me a seat to and from town.

* * * * *

I HAVE managed to own my own home for a long time, never defaulting on a mortgage interest payment, but the banker seems to forget me when I come in for a temporary extension.

* * * * *

I HAVE been with the same company eleven years, but the other day when I spoke to the boss in the elevator he smiled blankly and said: "Hello, where are you working now?"

* * * * *

AT LUNCH only yesterday the waiter, after taking my order, came back twenty minutes later and asked "Have you ordered yet, sir?"

* * * * *

I HAVE had the same doctor for four years, but when I went to his office last week his secretary made me give my name and pedigree before she would let me see him.

I SERVED in the World War and got a medal for something or other but when I write Washington about a disability allowance I get a form letter saying there is no such person.

* * * * *

THE MAN next door remarked to me on the train four years ago, "We have some great poker parties. I must ask you over the next time," but that's the last I ever heard of it.

* * * * *

I JUST stepped into a telephone booth and asked the operator for a number. Nothing has come of it yet.

* * * * *

INCENTIVE.

PROBABLY one of the things that makes a man fight to be President of the United States is the prospect of having a flower named after him at the dahlia shows.

ECONOMY.

Mr. McKee, New York's new retrenching mayor, has been asked to throw out the first ball at the world series, it is reported, and has agreed with the understanding that it will be the only ball used during the series.

ONLY THIRTY MILLION?

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

PLAY-BY-PLAY descriptions of the world series opening game will be heard over both WMAL and WRC at 1 o'clock this afternoon when the New York American League champions meet the Chicago Cubs in the Yankee Stadium.

Ted Husing will draw the Columbia world series assignment, but will share the microphone with Pat Flanagan, of WBBM, and Bob Elson, of WGN, both of Chicago. Graham McNamee will lead off for N. B. C. and later give way to Tom Manning, of WTAM, Cleveland, and Hal Totten, of WMAQ, Chicago, who will do the play-by-play descriptions.

AIR-O-TORIALS, a new all-Washington feature presented by Alan Kaufman, will be heard for the first time this morning (WRC, 9:15 o'clock). Mr. Kaufman has apparently inherited some of the ability of Herbert Kaufman, noted author, his cousin, who, by the way, is also a Washingtonian.

Memories of old-time barn dances will be recalled by the Corn Cob Club of Virginia. (WRC, 10 p. m.)

Retired after twenty years' service in the United States Marine Band, Robert E. Clark, great trombonist, starts a radio series. (WMAL, 7:30 p. m.).

THE Fu Manchu radio presentation is a good production, but too much "allee same-ee" Sherlock Holmes, even to having one of the latter's principal actors. The Sax Rohmer offering would be more effective if more original. Also if Dr. Fu Manchu could be better presented as the sinister Chinese character he is supposed to be instead of the conventional, hoarse, hissing villain offerred to the radio audience.

HARRY S. NEW, former Postmaster General, will deliver a few appropriate remarks for the Republicans (WJZ, 10:30 p. m.). The last time Mr. New was on the radio he was accidentally picked up by his old hunting guide in the Northern wilds. "That's my old friend Harry," the guide, now dead, exclaimed in delight as he recognized the voice.

Virginia Rea will sing selections from "Sweethearts," Victor Herbert's operetta, tonight at 9 o'clock (WRC).

What happens when Aunt Julia learns of the substitution of a couple of stray cats for the lost Persians will be told in the "Maud and Cousin Bill" Booth Tarkington episode ("Our Daily Food," WJZ, 10:30 a. m.).

Tommy Stokes, of the United Press, will do a little election prognosticating this afternoon ("Going to Press," WMAL, 4:45 o'clock).

"PINAFORE" and "The Five o'Clock Girl" are to be heard in miniature (Jack Frost, WJZ, 8:30 p. m.). Josef Pasternack will be on the conductor's dais.

THE tentative schedule of N. B. C. football game broadcasts follows:

October 8 (WJZ), Minnesota-Purdue and (WEAF), Columbia-Princeton; October 15 (WEAF), Ohio State-Michigan and (WJZ), held open, and October 22 (WEAF), Dartmouth-Harvard and (WJZ), Yale-Army.

October 29 and November 5 and 12 have been held open on both WEAF and WJZ. November 19 (WEAF), Yale-Harvard and (WJZ), Notre Dame-Navy; November 24, Thanksgiving Day (WEAF), Cornell-Pennsylvania and (WJZ), held open; November 26 (WEAF), Notre Dame-Army and (WJZ), held open, and December 3 (WEAF-WJZ), Army-Navy.

Local Artists Are Invited.

Local artists have been invited by the Art League of Washington to submit one to three paintings each for the first quarterly Washington Art Show, which opens October 3. Paintings must be delivered at the league building by Friday.

Stocks Move Slightly Higher On Rail, Steel and Motor Aid

Small Gains and Losses Recorded as Sales Total 1,398,770 Shares.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Financial markets struggled through inconclusive trading today, and closing prices were irregular.

Stocks moved sluggishly higher, under leadership of rail, steel and motor issues, but professionals finally accepted profits with the result that final quotations showed a liberal mixture of small gains and losses, the balance slightly favoring the upside.

Extreme gains by shares in the three above-mentioned groups amounted to a point or two. The market got temporary assistance from declaration of regular dividends by American Can and Allied Chemical, although both actions had been expected.

Estimates of steel ingot production bore out earlier forecasts that some further improvement had appeared, and available car loadings reports for last week suggested a continuation of the recent favorable trend. Some carrier executives are noticeably more optimistic.

Shares of Drug, Inc., dropped six points in response, apparently, to word that L. K. Liggett, one of its leading subsidiaries, faced reorganization unless rental costs were reduced. Otherwise price movements were fairly narrow.

U. S. Steel common held a fraction of a 2-point rise and Bethlehem also retreated from a similar gain. Allied Chemical lost a point net, while American Telephone was slightly lower; so were Santa Fe and Union Pacific in the rail division, although New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific were slightly higher.

Du Pont, American Smelting, National Biscuit, General Motors, Chrysler, Mack Truck, North American and Montgomery-Ward also finished with some improvement. Oils were again quiet. Sales totaled 1,398,770 shares.

The abundance of money on tap for attractive investment media, especially those with shorter maturities, was strikingly reflected in the very favorable terms on which the United States Treasury was able to sell its latest bill offering. The rate, something less than a quarter of 1 per cent, was the lowest average since these bills began appearing nearly three years ago, and contrasted with the discount of slightly more than 3 per cent at which one issue was sold in 1930.

To what extent steel operations are likely to pick up this fall is somewhat more probematical now than when the forecasters were issuing their optimistic statements several weeks ago. There has, however, been an increase in tonnage, mostly in orders for miscellaneous products, although these in themselves are scarcely enough to make an appreciable impression on earnings and better orders from the larger consumers are being anxiously awaited. American Metal Markets calls the steel price situation "fairly satisfactory." As for actual production, it says demand for tubular goods and sheets has shown a "quite substantial" increase over last month.

BONDS SINK LOWER ON DULLER TRADING

Average Loss of Three-Tenths Made in Turnover of $8,337,000.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The bond market jogged about uneasily today and, after some feeble late rallies, ended on a slightly lower level.

It was an extremely dull session, sales totaling only $8,337,000, par value. The average for 60 corporate bonds lost three-tenths of a point.

An air of indifference generally marked the trading in most domestic issues and, while speculative loans moved uncertainly, high grade mortgages, as a whole, were fractionally firmer.

The Canadian government's $60,000,000 offering of 4 per cent one-year gold notes was oversubscribed.

Most of the low-priced railway liens rallied sufficiently to close with fractional plus signs.

New York Central and New Haven bonds were soft. Nickel Plate 6s recorded the largest turnover in the carrier group, 92 bonds changing hands at a gain of ¼ of a point.

Utilities and industrials exhibited little enthusiasm. Issues of International Telephone, American & Foreign Power, Postal Telegraph, Western Union and Consolidated Gas were up from fractions to a point. Heavy selling came into United Drug 5s, which lost 4½ points. Loans of Shell Union and Skelly Oil were weak. Texas Corporation 5s improved.

United States Government obligations were steady and dull. The Australians were the most active of the foreign department, reaching new 1932 peaks with gains of around a point.

Illinois Central Rail Head Reports Improved Trade

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, said today that he felt "a lot better" about the business outlook.

"Traffic on the Illinois Central," he asserted, "at present is running about 7 per cent below a year ago. Loadings have been improving week by week and the improvement is continuing. People in our territory are encouraged.

"Our previous estimates of earnings were too low. We will do better during the balance of the year than we expected at the time we borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. We will not make any more applications to the R. F. C. for loans this year."

When the road applied for aid it estimated a net loss of $6,939,798 for 1932. Mr. Downs would not attempt a forecast of earnings over the remainder of this year.

Retail Auto Sales Gain, Sloan Says

"First Real Rise" Staged, General Motors Head Tells Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, told newspapermen after a conference with President Hoover yesterday that he had reported retail sales in the automobile business during August had experienced their "first real rise since the depression began."

He was introduced by Secretary Chapin, who was a leader in the Hudson Motor Co., until his recent appointment as head of the Commerce Department. He said that "only the general business situation was discussed."

"During August," Sloan said he informed the President, "we experienced a nice uplift in our end of the automobile business. This rise was sustained during the first part of September and we feel that it reflects a general return of confidence in business and industry."

Nickel Plate Notes Placed on Deposit

35½ Per Cent of Total $20,000,000 Issue Back New Plans.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Holders of 35½ per cent of the $20,000,000 New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) Railroad Co. 6 per cent notes maturing next October 1 have deposited their securities under the refunding plan advanced by the railroad, it was stated today.

In addition, holders of an additional 10 per cent have indicated their willingness to deposit. Under the plan, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to advance 25 per cent cash against the maturity, provided the noteholders agree to extend the balance for three years.

The management of the road has stated that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation offer is conditional upon acceptance of the plan by a substantial majority of the noteholders.

CURB PRICE SHIFTS NARROW IN TRADING

Utility Isues Hold Firm in Lighter Sales Volume of 170,000 Shares.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Stocks moved narrowly today in a quiet Curb Market session, which was representative more of professional than public operations. Transfers totaled 170,000 shares against 210,000 yesterday. Prices were irregular at the close.

The standard issues were about steady, with Indiana dipping ⅜, but Gulf advanced more than a point and Imperial was up a fraction.

The metal stocks were somewhat mixed. A slight weakening of lead prices and apathy in the copper market were ignored by Newmont, which gained nearly a point. New Jersey Zinc was down slightly.

Utilities were steady. Electric Bond & Share and Cities Service were fractionally lower, while United Light & Power A gained a shade. Commonwealth Edison advanced 2 points in quiet trading.

Market thinness was illustrated in quiet dealings in Aluminum Co., Dow Chemical and Great Atlantic & Pacific, gains of 2 to 3 developing in the first two, while the chain store stock reacted 4 on an odd-lot transaction.

WHEAT VALUES FIRM ON EASTERN BUYING

Very Little Change in Prices as Earlier Weakness Yields to Gains.

Chicago, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A semblance of backbone developed in wheat values late today, contrasting with weakness earlier.

Late rallies scored by the wheat market were simultaneous with rumors that Government restrictions on grain trading would be modified. The rumors met with a denial at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, but the denial was not known of here until the day's trading had ended.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝ off to ⅜ up, compared with yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ½ down; oats, at ⅛ to ¼ decline, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to 5 cents advance.

Eastern Buying Repeated.

Buying on the part of Eastern interests that also yesterday were conspicuous in purchasing accompanied the late recoveries of wheat values. These recoveries were in spite of announcement that the world's available supply of wheat showed 32,004,000 bushels increase this week, chiefly attributable to the heavy rural marketing movement in Canada of late. On the other hand, domestic receipts of wheat continue light, especially Northwest.

Export business in North American wheat was disappointing, totaling only 500,000 bushels. This circumstance, together with the fact that Winnipeg October wheat contracts were hovering close to the 50-cent level, and at a new low-price record for the season, had much to do with weakness that ruled the market at times. Argentine reports indicated a less favorable crop outlook in northern provinces owing to drought and locust depredations. Otherwise, crop prospects both for Argentina and Australia were reported suspicious.

Demand was slow for corn and oats, with nearby deliveries of corn touching a new low-price record for the season.

STOCK POOL VALUES UPHELD BY WHITNEY

New York Exchange Head Defends Legitimate Units; Condemns Others.

St. Louis, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—A defense of legitimate "pools" and "specialists" and the general conduct of the New York Stock Exchange was made here tonight by Richard Whitney, president of the world's largest security market.

Mr. Whitney spoke before the Industrial Club and the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis and his address was broadcast over a Nation-wide radio hook-up.

"There has been a great deal of criticism in recent years," he said, "about pool operations on the exchange, and the inference has been left in the minds of the public that these pools create false prices.

Some Pools Defended.

"All pools are not evil by any means. There are pools which are organized for perfectly proper purposes of merchandising sound securities. There are trading pools which buy and sell stock in an orderly manner and which do not exert any improper influence on prices.

"There have been nefarious pools where large purchases were made in anticipation of the publication of unduly optimistic or other unwarranted statements about the company's prospects. The exchange has consistently opposed operations of this kind. We feel that they are a form of fraud which should be prevented."

The speaker explained that the rules of the exchange closely governed the activities of floor "specialists" who were necessary and important factors in facilitating trading. Further regulations, he added, would be enacted to keep the "specialists" in bounds.

Other Pools Opposed.

"When it recently appeared that participation in pools or the receipt of options in connection with pool operations might unfairly influence a specialist in the conduct of his business," he declared, "the matter was promptly taken up and the committee on odd lots and specialists has recommended, and I am confident the governing committee shortly will enact, a new rule which will prohibit any such activities by specialists, their partners or even by their firms."

Specialists of the exchange, he asserted, "perform a vitally necessary function and the public in criticizing them overlooks the service which they are rendering to the market and the fact that only in rare instances have they proved unworthy of the position of confidence which they occupy."

Short Selling Charges.

Because of the depression, Whitney said, the exchange during the past two years had come in for much "unwarranted criticism."

"It has been accused," he said, "of permitting the demoralization of the market through short selling and 'bear raiding;' of tolerating practices which were fraudulent; of starting and spreading destructive and false rumors, and generally, of intensifying, if not actually causing, the great depression."

But, referring to the last senatorial investigation, the speaker insisted it had been conclusively proved "that 'bear raiding' and short selling had not been the cause of declining prices."

He declared the exchange did not cause the inflation of security prices, but that this inflation "resulted directly from a wave of speculation based on the hopes and prospects of American business."

"Protection of the public," said Whitney, in concluding, "is the ultimate aim and purpose of every rule of the exchange. I am proud of the service we have rendered to the public by maintaining an open market in spite of the conditions which have prevailed in recent years."

COTTON PRICES DROP ON LATE DELIVERIES

October Contracts Advance Three Points; December Closes at 7.43.

New York, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—While opening declines in cotton today were followed by rather sharp rallies on reports that the first October notices had been stopped by the trade, prices eased again later under realising and Southern selling.

December, after advancing from 7.40 to 7.61, closed at 7.43, with the general market closing barely steady at a net advance of 3 points on October, but 5 to 7 points net lower on the latter deliveries.

The opening was 2 to 6 points lower, and active months sold about 7 to 8 points net lower during the early trading. The circulation of October notices estimated at about 56,400 bales led to considerable nearmonth liquidation, but trade interests seemed ready to buy the October and after the first flurry of liquidation subsided prices turned steadier.

October sold from 7.26 to 7.50 and March 7.74, making net advances of 12 to 16 points, but prices eased again in the late trading under some increase in Southern selling and realizing or reselling by earlier buyers. At the close, October was only 6 points under December, compared with a difference of 14 points yesterday.

Liverpool cables said that hedging and Manchester liquidation had been absorbed by buying on the southern rain news and that cloth inquiry was more general with yarns improving. Exports today 31,621, making 1,026,226 so far this season. Port receipts, 63,147. United States port stocks, 3,566,289.

TWO CAPITAL BANKS AGREE TO COMBINE

Industrial Savings Is United With Prudential; Reserve Meeting Delayed.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Auchincloss, Parker & Redpath, local members of the New York Stock Exchange, announce that their Baltimore office has moved into new and larger quarters in the Mercantile Trust Building.

Because of the inability of many members to attend, the meeting of the banking and industrial committee of the Fifth Federal Reserve District scheduled for today at Riggs National Bank has been postponed until October 4.

Consolidation of two Washington banks was announced yesterday by officials of Industrial Savings Bank at Eleventh and U streets northwest, who stated that the Prudential Bank at 715 Florida avenue northwest, had merged with their institution, effective yesterday morning at 9 o'clock.

The statement said that all business of the consolidated institutions will be transacted at the Industrial Savings Bank and informed all patrons of the Prudential Bank that their accounts would be cared for at the former bank.

The Industrial Savings Bank was established in 1913. Its officers are listed as Walter S. Carter, chairman of the board; W. H. C. Brown, president; John H. Simms, vice president and treasurer; William A. Bowie, cashier; Walter L. Carter, assistant cashier. The Prudential Bank, another savings institution, was organized in 1923.

FOUR MINOR STARS DRAFTED

No 'Bushers' Are Claimed By Nats

Tigers Draw Nekola, Former Pitcher for Yanks.

Chisox, Only Other A. L. Team to Benefit, Get Joe Heving.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The smallest list of drafted players on record came out of the annual major league draft meeting on the eve of the world series tonight. Only four players, three of them pitchers, were selected by the major league clubs, none being claimed by the Washington Nationals.

A year ago fifteen players were selected and that list showed a falling off from the few years before when more than twenty were selected each season. In 1929, the largest number of players in the past five seasons, 26, were drafted.

All four of the players drafted were from class AA Leagues although one of them, Homer Peel, chosen by the New York Giants, played through the season with the Houston Club in the Texas League, which carries an "A" rating.

Giants Draw Pell From Houston.

Peel was taken from the Columbus American Association team, another of the St. Louis Cardinals' string of farms. He formerly played with the Cardinals and Detroit. Peel, the only outfielder on the list, hit .339 for Houston, making an even 200 hits.

The Chicago White Sox selected pitcher Joe Heving, who once played with the Gaints, from Indianapolis in the American Association. He won fifteen games and lost nine in the season which just ended.

The Detroit Tigers drafted Frank Nekola, once a star college pitcher at Holy Cross, from Newark's International League champions. Nekola, who had a couple of trials with the New York Yankees, played part of the season with Toronto and recorded six victories and eleven defeats.

The Chicago Cubs chose another hurler, Lynn Nelson, of Seattle, who won 21 games and lost fifteen in the Pacific Coast League. Nelson had his major league trial with Detroit.

Vince Dundee Due In Boxing Feature

Vince Dundee, of Baltimore, American middleweight boxing champion, and foremost contender for the crown now worn by Marcel Thill, titleholder from France, will appear at Fortner's Arena in Alexandria next Tuesday night against Cowboy Phelps, champion of Michigan, in the feature bout of the program

Phelps, managed by Jimmy Erwin, has rolled up an enviable record, and is regarded as a worthy opponent for Max Waxman's protege. Dundee recently was ranked first in the challenging list by the National Boxing Association.

Miss Israel Upsets Woodmont Golf Dope

Miss Bertha Israel provided the big upset in the first round of match play in the annual Woodmont Country Club golf tournament yesterday by defeating Mrs. Jerome Meyer, medalist, 1 up Going to the home hole, the two were all even. Here Mrs. Meyer's putter refused to behave, and she three-putted the green to lose the match.

Mrs. Jack Shulman, defending champion, advanced to the semifinals by turning back Miss Sylvia Straus, 3 and 2, and today will clash with Mrs. Theodore Peyser, who conquered Mrs. Martin Baum, 2 up. Mrs. Ralph Goldsmith, victor over Mrs. L. B. Schloss, 4 and 2, will oppose Miss Israel in the top bracket.

Results in second flight:

Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, bye; Miss Vera Reiskin defeated Mrs. Jess Miller, 2 and 1; Mrs. I. Goldenberg defeated Mrs. L. E. Harris, 6 and 5; Mrs. Slavia Winberg won by default from Mrs. S. W. Straus.

Hitting the Headpin

BREVIERS' quintet raked in the lion's share of the honors as The Washington Post League opened its season yesterday. The boys not only whitewashed Agates, but in doing so peppered the pins for a high team game of 569 and high set of 1,592.

Johnny Prediger turned in the highest individual set of the afternoon, 389. J. P. Hill was next in line with 338, followed by G. Scott with 333.

Miss Cunningham, of Stenographic, bagged the individual awards in the Ladies Internal Revenue loop at Columbia with her 114 game and 291 set. The A. R.'s (whoever they are) rolled a 1,360 set and 483 game.

King Pin, rolling 593, 567 and 559, took the odd one from Georgetown Recreation, which had 564, 586, 552, at Georgetown. Bill Miller's 387 total, and Hokie Smith's 141 game featured the King Pin work. Ed Schlegel's 138 game put his team over in the second game.

Eddie Espey led the champion Cool's Drinks to a clean-sweep victory over Vincent's Barbers in the Columbia Heights loop at Arcadia. Eddie rolled 150 in his best game and rang the bell with a 379 set. Arcadia surprised by taking the odd one from Swann's. Joe Pricci, holder of the world's set record, rolled 376, including a 140 game, and it was his first time out.

Heim's 143 game and Davis' 385 set took the honors in the Men's Lutheran League last night. Zanner also rolled a 385 set. St. Paul, with 606 and 1,666, led the teams.

Miss Ager, of Christ Church, rolled high game of 113, and Miss McDonald, of Zion, high set of 294 in the Ladies Lutheran League. Christ Church was far ahead of its opponents with a 476 game and 1,357 set.

Centennial No. 2 chalked up its ninth consecutive victory at Convention Hall last night in the East Washington Church League. Ingram was the victim. Tom Hall's 140 game and 360 set topped the scoring.

Broadway Delicatessen, with 1,638 for a total, and 585 for high game, took the honors in the King Pin Business Men's League last night. Staley's 384 set, and Al Jarson's 150 game led the individual lists.

G. U. Prep Grid Squad of 24 Drills for Hard Schedule

Team Handicapped by Loss of Capt. Keating for Season, Due to Injury; May Shift End to Fill Place.

ALTHOUGH hard hit by the loss of players through graduation, a note of optimism prevails in Georgetown Prep's preparations for one of the toughest schedules ever attempted by a Garrett Park school. A squad of 24 players is drilling daily under the watchful eye of Coach Joe Gardner. Approximately ten of these have had experience. The rest are simply willing and ready to get into the scramble for the sake of their alma mater.

Topping the list of those missing is Captain-elect Jim Keating, who will be out all season with an injured knee. Keating was a veteran of two campaigns and was being counted on heavily to provide dynamite for the attack this year. However, in Maury Nee, eagle-eyed pass receiver, Mike Scatourchio and Billy Williams, Gardner has a trio of capable wingmen who are going to fit in nicely with his plans. One of these may be shifted to the back field. Other backs intraining are Ziba Graham, quarter; Tom Keating and Don MacNamara, halfs, and Carl Varesio, a 170-pound full back.

Linemen expected to make the first team are Irwin Warder, Bob Koch and Mert Hedges, ends; Cy Cummings, Spaulding Schroeder and Dan O'Connor, tackles; Joe Sheehan and Nick Scatourchio, guards, and Henry Leslie, George Eddy and Joe Darry, centers.

The Prepmen have been handicapped by their late start, but are counting on a winning season, nevertheless.

RUFFING AND BUSH ARE READY

Yanks Are Choice as Series Opens; Seat Sale Lags.

scheduled here, and the commissioner declined to make any last-minute changes for the purpose of stimulating the customers. Such a change, he concluded, would be unfair to previous buyers.

The consequence is, however, that less than half the reserved seats have been sold and that the prospects of anything approximating a typical world series turn-out depends on the sale of 12,000 unreserved grand stand seats at $3.30 each, and 22,000 bleacher seats, $1.10 each, tomorrow morning, starting at 10 o'clock.

If most or all of these unreserved places are sold, the probabilities are the crowd will go beyond 40,000 and the gate receipts touch $150,000 These figures, however, are well short of the series records of 63,600 and $224,130, both established at the Yankee Stadium.

Meanwhile the Cubs rolled into town, good-natured, pepped up and confident under Charley Grimm's leadership, even though they ran at once into a solid phalanx of overwhelming Yankee sentiment. As the Chicago delegation viewed it, after listening for a few hours to the tales of that mighty Yankee power, of Babe Ruth's recuperative powers and the pitching they will bump into from the outset, the New Yorkers seem certain to suffer from overconfidence.

Second Game Mound Plans Uncertain.

Starting with Guy Bush, the Mississippi curve-ball star, who scored the Cubs' only victory over the Athletics in 1929, the National Leaguers believe they will have a decided edge in the vital department of pitching. Grimm has not committed himself as to his choice for the second game, but it will be either Lonnie Warneke, the freshman sensation of the year, or Charley Root, the veteran fast-ball artist.

Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Yankees, meanwhile disposed of doubts about his opening-day plans by confirming the popular choice of Ruffing, big starboard flinger, who has a batting punch of his own to back up his mound efforts. Ruffing's attitude is that if Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Dickey and the rest of the Yankee sluggers do not batter down the Cubs' defenses, he will attend to the situation personally.

For the second game, scheduled Thursday at the stadium, it may be Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, the eccentric southpaw, or it may be Johnny Allen, youthful right-handed star.

McCarthy not only discounted any idea that Ruth will fail to be as big a menace at the plate as ever, but denied he had any apprehensive feeling about the fitness of his pitching staff. Marse Joe suggested that it would be well to let the Babe offer a rebuttal, in person, by his performances. He added that Ruffing and Gomez had gotten erratic streaks out of their systems in the past few weeks, in addition to which he expressed confidence he could rely on Walter Brown, powerful right-hander, who has come along fast in the last two weeks, and the veteran Herb Pennock, always a great "money pitcher," who has never been defeated in a world series game.

MINNEAPOLIS ROUTED BY NEWARK

Little World Series Opener to Bears, by 11-0 Score.

(By B. GREGORY HEWLETT).

RUPPERT STADIUM, Newark, N. J., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—Don Brennan's four-hit pitching, backed up by hard hitting and remarkable speed on the bases, gave the Newark Bears, champions of the International League, an 11-to-0 triumph over Minneapolis in the opening game of the little world series today.

Brennan, ace right-hander of the Bears, who won 25 games during the regular campaign, was in complete control of the situation all the way and pitched far better than was necessary to win. His mates, led by Catcher Charlie Hargreaves, pounded four Miller veterans for 16 hits and stole three bases in their romp to the realm in the classic of the Double "A" League.

Hargreaves poled his first homer of the season into the right field bleachers in the second inning, to give Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Newark team as well as the New York Yankees, his first thrill. He added three singles to his collection before the end and drove in four runs.

reeled, were lost upon the strident German. Max knew that Mickey was at his mercy and with that realization, the killer instinct left the German as suddenly as it had enveloped him. It was with a look of reluctance at the referee that Schmeling went back to the attack, but the venom had gone from his blows.

Kearns stopped the fight before the bell rang for the ninth. The result had been a foregone conclusion during the eighth. Mickey was brave, but too small, and Schmeling hit too hard. Max's right hand was the convincer and Max demonstrated that he could take it. The night that Sharkey steps into the same ring with Schmeling, a new champion is destined to be crowned or justice will miscarry.

DIXIE SERIES IS WON BY LOOKOUTS

Chattanooga Lands Fourth in Row, 7-3, From Beaumont.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The Chattanooga Lookouts became the champions of the South today, defeating Beaumont, Texas League pennant winner, 7 to 3, and taking the Dixie series four games to one.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Southern Association champs, Beaumont having won the first game played in Texas last Tuesday, 1 to 0.

Third Series Victory For McColl.

Today's was the third victory in the series for Alexander "Red" McColl, Lookout ace right-hander, who won, 5 to 0, in the second game of the two in Texas and then pitched one inning to win the first game here, 3 to 2, last Friday. Hensel Hulvey, also a right-hander, defeated Beaumont, 6 to 4, here Sunday.

Today's victory was the second in Dixie series records for Manager Bert Neihoff, of the Lookouts. Neihoff managed the Mobile Southern Association champs, who defeated Fort Worth in 1922. He becomes the first Southern pilot to turn the trick twice.

The game was played on a field heavy from two days of intermittent rain, and a poor crowd, unofficially estimated at 2,500, attended.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

CONNIE MACK'S Philadelphia Athletics, who set an all-time record for poor world series hitting in 1905 when their batsmen averaged .162, staged a great comeback five years later in the series to turn in the highest team average ever made in series baseball, .317. The low record was made in Connie Mack's first year with the Athletics.

Col. Gordon Johnston is the United States Army's greatest hero, so far as he may be judged by the decorations this Nation has bestowed upon him. His most recent medal was that of the "Purple Heart" for heroism—an order limited to those men who are entitled to wear wound stripes. This honor made Col. Johnston the only living man to have the four highest military awards of the United States.

Others held by him are the Congressional Medal, the Distinguished Service Medal and the Distinguished Service Cross. The Purple Heart was awarded to Col. Johnston for his bravery in leading a charge against the Moros during the Philippine insurrection.

All snakes retain some of the characteristics of their ancient ancestors—the lizards. Scientists agree that the snake is descended from a four-legged creature, and all snakes still have vestigial hind limbs and, of course, vestigial hips. In pythons and boa constrictors these rudimentary legs are still used to a limited extent.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

Farmers of Nearby Counties Cooperate in Reducing Total 5 Per Cent.

Assurance that Washington will escape the milk price war that is embroiling the Eastern and Southern sections of the country was given last night by officials of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association.

John McGill, jr., secretary-manager of the association, announced that farmers in the counties of Maryland and Virginia who supply Washington with most of its milk are cooperating in the movement to stabilize prices through reducing the supply to the local market to the extent of 5 per cent.

A large overproduction of milk in recent weeks has made it necessary to curtail the supply so that the present prices may be maintained, Mr. McGill explained. If this were not done, prices would be cut, producers would begin shipping to other points and a milk shortage would result, the association executive pointed out.

Series of Meetings.

Members of the association in nearby Virginia and Maryland supply Washington with 94 per cent of its milk. They are being reached through a series of meetings at which the situation is being explained by Mr. McGill and Frank S. Walker, president of the association.

Following assurance from 68 producers in Montgomery County that they would cut their supply 5 per cent, Mr. McGill addressed 155 farmers in Frederick, Md., yesterday afternoon. Sentiment of the meeting was so clearly in accord with the movement to maintain prices, Mr. McGill said, that it was not necessary to put the matter to a vote.

Accord in Manassas.

A similarly satisfactory meeting was conducted by Mr. Walker in Manassas. He will speak at the Fairfax courthouse and at Floris today. Mr. McGill will speak at Warrenton. Before the end of the week the entire milk field in Fairfax, Prince William, Loudoun and Fauquier counties will be canvassed. These counties, together with Montgomery and Frederick in Maryland supply Washington with practically all of its milk.

Since April of 1931 farmers have taken a 6-cent reduction per gallon for milk, while distributors have made a cut of 8 cents. On April 1, 1931, the price per quart was reduced from 15 to 14 cents. On May 1 of this year it was reduced further, to 13 cents, and the price of a pint was reduced to 7 cents. These are the present prices and the ones that must be maintained, Mr. McGill said.

NEW ZOO DENIZENS MAKE THEMSELVES AT HOME

Post Staff Photos.

Newest additions to the Zoo were "at home" yesterday to a Post photographer, who visited them on the first day in their new surroundings. In the upper photo are several rhinoceros iguanas, so named because of the horn on their noses, who came all the way from Haiti. Emperor geese from Alaska, the largest flock in any American zoo, are shown in the middle picture. The Pribiloff Island fur seal, in the lower photo, seems much at home as he swims about his new pool.

EACH U. S. PROJECT IS CUT 10 PER CENT

McCarl Answers Treasury on Garner-Wagner Relief Bill.

The 10 per cent reduction authorized by the economy act must apply on individual and separate projects of the current public building program of the United States Treasury, it was ruled late yesterday by J. R. McCarl, Comptroller General.

McCarl's decision came in answer to a request by Treasury officials as to whether the 10 per cent reduction should apply to the whole $100,000,000 authorized under the Garner-Wagner relief act, or to each individual project.

It was explained that the original decision by McCarl, that a 10 per cent cut should be made, was accepted as meaning that not more than $90,000,000 of the authorized amount should be expended. The amounts allocated to each building on the Treasury's list of proposed constructions had been previously decided upon. Now, however, each total will be cut 10 per cent.

McCarl did not pass upon whether the money thus cut off from individual projects should be expended on additional construction.

He ruled, however, that a sum of $28,375, remaining from the construction of an addition to the Government Printing Office, could not be used for the erection of another building on an adjacent site. It was proposed that the left-over money could be used for a structure which would connect the Government buildings there.

Costly Liquor Car Captured in Chase

Concealed Cargo of Alleged Alcohol Confiscated by U. S. Agents.

A $2,200 liquor-laden car, said to belong to a large whisky distributor in a nearby Maryland town, was confiscated yesterday after a 50-mile-an-hour chase from Good Hope road and the District line through the city to Kentucky avenue and B street southeast.

The automobile, equipped to hold eighteen 5-gallon tins, was first sighted as it was leaving La Plata, Md., by R. A. Williams and R. F. Draney, Federal agents, who had been informed that the car would be on the road. The prohibition men followed the large car to the District line, where the driver started speeding through the city.

After a 5-mile chase the liquor car was overhauled and the cleverly concealed tins of alcohol discovered. Joseph Paglaiao, 17, of 47 H street northwest, driver of the car, was arrested and charged with possession of 360 quarts of alcohol, transportation of liquor and speeding.

$1,245 in Jewelry Stolen.

Jewelry valued at $1,245 was stolen from an apartment at 921 Butternut street northwest yesterday, according to a report to police by Myra N. Nellis. The thieves gained entrance by using a duplicate key.

SpeedingRum Auto Fails to Escape Police

A chase last night along upper Georgia avenue which, at times, reached a 75-mile-an-hour clip, ended when a suspected rum car was overhauled after blowing out a tire at Georgia avenue and Randolph street northwest.

Policeman R. N. Finch, attached to the Traffic Bureau, sighted a speeding machine near the District line. When he gave chase the car increased its speed and one of the occupants began throwing large jars at the pursuing policemen. Two colored men were arrested.

GRAND JURY PROBE OF B.E.F. RIOTS ENDS

Investigators Are Discharged Without Final Report Being Made.

The District grand jury's investigation of the bonus riots last July was closed with the indictment of three men on charges of assaulting policemen, it was indicated yesterday when the grand jury was discharged without making a final report.

The jury members were told of alleged storage of dynamite and small arms in the various B. E. F. camps, but because of the hazy identifications of the persons said to have been in control of these utensils no indictment was possible.

The grand jury was shown the results of investigations made by the agents of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. Exhibits produced by the agents included a burned-off Army rifle that had been found buried in the Anacostia camp after the bonus marchers had been evicted.

The grand jurors were told that various members of the B. E. F. possessed dynamite and small arms. Testimony to this effect was given by three members of the army after they had been sought out by special agents of the Department of Justice. Just what happened to the arms when troops forcibly evicted the marchers is not known as the grand jury's investigation is clouded in mystery.

The action of Justice James Proctor last year in condemning grand jury reports resulted in the members retiring without a recommendation. Justice Proctor held then that the jury was not lawfully constituted to make reports. He declared the sole function of the body was to return indictments or ignoramuses.

Man Who Interrupted Hoover Speech Bonded

Arrested by Lieut. Milton Smith, of the traffic department, Edward C. Wells, 33, war veteran, yesterday was found guilty of intoxication in Police Court and was released on his personal bond.

Wells was arrested when he interrupted the speech of President Hoover at the new Postoffic Department building dedication yesterday.

Several Rare Additions Are Made at Zoo

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the local Zoo, who has a penchant for securing unusual and rare animals for the collection, yesterday announced the acquisition of some new specimens.

A flock of 20 Emperor geese, the largest flock ever to be gathered by any zoo in the United States, is one of the gems of the collection. These geese, natives of Alaska, were presented by the Game Commissioner and the United States Biological Survey through Oddie Hallson. They have not yet been placed on exhibition, but will be as soon as they recover from their long trip.

From the far-off Pribiloff Islands came two most valuable additions. Through the courtesy of Henry O'Malley, director of the Bureau of Fisheries, two yearling, genuine fur seals arrived. The National Zoological Park is the only zoo in the country to possess any Pribiloff seals, having now three. Four years ago they came into possession of one of these seals which is now 5 years old. When the two youngsters were slipped into the tank at the lion house yesterday for the first time after their extensive journey they spent several hours cavorting about in every conceivable position and rubbing their fur with their flippers.

Also through the courtesy of the Bureau of Fisheries and Henry O'Malley, director, were presented sixteen rosy finches, also natives of the Pribiloff Islands, off the Alaskan coast. These birds received their name from the color of their plumage. At the present time, they are brownish in color, but, as the cold weather sets in, they will change to a rose color.

From the tropics came eleven rhinoceros iguanas, which, before their capture, roamed in Haiti. A tiny horn on the nose of these iguanas is responsible for their name. This present from Frank E. Wurkus provides the local zoo with one of the finest collections of iguanas now on exhibition.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR ANACOSTIA SPAN

Second Low Bidder Gets Job for $355,941; First Is Called Incapable.

In awarding a contract for construction of a new bridge over the Anacostia River at Benning road, the District Commissioners yesterday refused to give the job to the lowest bidder, as required by law, but instead accepted the proposal of the second lowest bidder although it was $40,876.42 higher.

The reason, as explained by Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways, and Maj. D. J. Donovan, auditor, was that the lowest bidder, the Mullan Contracting Co., of Baltimore, has "neither the equipment, experience nor organization properly to handle the job."

The Baltimore firm made an estimate of $315,065, whereas the successful bidder, the Kaufman Construction Co., of Philadelphia, submitted a proposal of $355,941.42. Both bids were considerably under the $600,000 available for the project.

The Mullan company is reported to have admitted that it was not sufficiently well equipped or experienced to handle the job, although it declined to withdraw its bid.

The bridge is to be a nine-span steel structure on concrete and timber piles. It will be built in three sections so as not to interfere with traffic. The roadway will be 60 feet wide.

Speidel Suspended From Postal Job

George Speidel, 30-year-old amateur artist and central figure in the tragic death of Miss Sylvia Rochkin, which was said to be suicide by a coroner's jury Monday, was suspended from his job in the mail handling division of the Postoffice Department yesterday, while officials of the department make an investigation of the case.

Police officials and the district attorney's office have made no further investigation of the love affair which ended in the death of Miss Rochkin, who was found hanging from a beam in a houseboat moored near Rosslyn, and although the brother and sister of the dead girl were not satisfied with the jury's decision, they have not communicated with police.

The First Assistant Postmaster General will consider Speidel's activities and he will not be allowed to return to work until an investigation is completed.

ENGINEERS WILL END ANNUAL CONVENTION AT BANQUET TONIGHT

Phoenix Man Is Elected New President; Washingtonian Is Vice President.

The eighteenth annual national convention of the American Association of Engineers will close tonight with a banquet at the Shoreham Hotel at which H. A. Wagner, of Chicago, will be presented with the Clausen Gold Medal in recognition of outstanding work for the social and economic betterment of the engineer.

Mr. Wagner, who has been engaged in mining engineering and operations on all five continents, has been national director of the American Association of Engineers since 1925. He is the inventor of electrolytic processes for the treatment of refractory ores, copper, zinc, lead, molybdenum and tungsten and has many patents and processes to his credit. He will receive the medal tonight from Capt. James H. Griffin, of New York, past president of the association.

Report on Capper Bill.

At the closing business session of the convention this morning a report will be received on the Capper bill to be introduced at the next session of Congress providing for the registration of engineers.

V. Bernard Siems, of New York, will speak on public improvements and the tax rate. A high point of tonight's banquet will be an address by John Lyle Harrington, a member of the engineering advisory board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Victor Householder, of Phoenix, Ariz., was elected president of the association yesterday. Donald L. Chamberlin, president of the Washington chapter of the association, was named vice president. Mrs. M. E. McIver, of Chicago, was reelected secretary.

Dr. Arnstein Speaks.

Dr. Henry Arnstein, of Philadelphia, noted chemical and mechanical engineer, told the association yesterday that 85 per cent of the $2,000,000,000 worth of commodities imported by the United States could be grown and produced in this country. He blamed engineers for being inactive in developing the country's national resources to create wealth and employment, pointing out that foreign engineers are doing everything possible to develop this field.

A smoker and entertainment was held last night at which the engineers saw moving pictures of the construction of the Boulder Dam Canyon project and an international study of American roads. Construction of Boulder Dam was described by George O. Sanford, chief engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation of the Department of the Interior. The road picture was presented by the highway department of the Department of Agriculture.

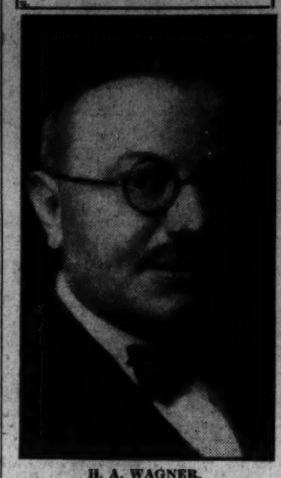
WINS MEDAL



H. A. WAGNER,
who will be awarded the Clausen Medal by the American Association of Engineers, at the close of the convention tonight.

DISTRICT TO ANSWER PHONE STAND TODAY

Hearing on Company's Move to Prevent Rate Slash Set for Tomorrow.

The Public Utilities Commission, through Corporatoin Counsel William W. Bride and William A. Roberts, special counsel, today will file its answer to the plea of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. for an injunction against the 10 per cent rate reduction order scheduled to go into effect October 1.

Summoned by Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat into District Supreme Court tomorrow to show cause as to why the restraining order should not be issued, the commission will ask that the rate reduction be permitted to remain in force pending a final decision on the appeal for two principal reasons: (1) it will enable the commission to determine how much the order will cut the telephone company's profits, and (2) whether the reduced rate will lessen the number of cancellations of services.

The commission will also contend that the litigation will be expedited by the continuation of the order during the appeal and that if any losses are to be incurred the company rather than the public should bear them.

Specific answers to the contentions of the utility regarding depreciation and reproduction costs will also be made by the commission.

Citizens Want Concerts At Logan Circle Ended

The abolition of band concerts in Logan Circle was advocated last night at a meeting of the Logan-Thomas Circle Citizens Association in the Northminster Presbyterian Church, Eleventh and Rhode Island avenue northwest.

The organization declared they would send a letter of protest to Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, director of public parks. A resolution was adopted indorsing the use of M street between Seventh and Fourtenth streets northwest for commercial purposes.

3,000 WEST VIRGINIA VOTERS REGISTERED IN DISTRICT ROUNDUP

Democrats Claim All Are Pledged to Support Roosevelt and Garner.

Registration of more than 3,000 absentee voters from West Virginia, who are pledged to vote the Democratic ticket in November was announced yesterday by John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman of the District.

Listing of the large number of West Virginians who are going to vote for Roosevelt and Garner was cited by Mr. Costello as indicative of the general political trend throughout the country.

Both the Democratic and Republican organizations of the District are working to have residents of Washington who have votes elsewhere cast their ballots in their respective States. It is estimated that the number of persons in Washington who vote elsewhere numbers between 60,000 and 70,000.

The drive which has been made by the Democrats to line-up the West Virginians who reside in Washington is indicative of the fervor with which the drive is being carried on. Under the laws of West Virginia voters may register and vote by mail, under oath.

Red tape formerly surrounding the getting of reduced railroad fares by persons desiring to go home to vote has been dispensed with this year, and the railroads themselves have cut the tape. The certificates which were required in past years are not to be required this year. The railroads have adopted a temporary fare schedule providing a fifteen-day excursion round trip at the rate of one and one-tenth of the normal two-way railroad fare.

Under the law of most States permitting absentee voting the voter must either register or vote in person, unlike West Virginia, where one may register and vote by mail.

West Virginians and the World War Veterans Club will hold a joint gathering at the headquarters of the Democratic central committee at 1320 G street northwest at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Eleanor C. Wagner, of the American War Mothers; D. Grove Moler, Democratic committeeman, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; H. G. Kump, candidate for governor, and Jennings Randolph, congresional candidate from the Second District, and Senator Neely and former Gov. John J. Cornwell are expected to attend the rally.

Man Seized in New York Faces Check Count Here

Frank Smith, 72-year-old salesman, was arrested in New York City early yesterday, and is being held for Washington police. He is wanted here for passing a forged check, authorities said.

Detective Sergeant Frank O. Brass left last night, and will bring Smith here to face the charge. The man was arrested in Grand Central Terminal. It is alleged he forged an express money order here some time ago.

John Smell, of Jersey City, N. J., yesterday reported the theft of clothing valued at $259 from his automobile parked near Twenty-fifth and I streets northwest. He told police a window of the car was smashed.
